HARD FIGHTING BY INSURGENTS

Forts at San Domingo Are Engaged by the Rebels.

HEAVY CANNONADING

United States Minister Powell Secures Settlement of Americans' Claim.

CRUISER BALTIMORE AT HAND

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

San Domingo, Nov. 15.—There was heavy fighting here this morning. The forts around the city were engaged with the insurgents and there was considerable cannonading on both sides. The town was not damaged and the situation is unchanged. The United States cruiser Baltimore arrived here this afternoon. Business is at a standstill.

United States Minister Powell has finally carried his point against the Dominican government that it should agree to the provisions of the protocol regarding the San Domingo Improvement Company. The government today informed the minister that it would accede to his request, carry out the provisions of the protocol and appoint arbitrators today. This is considered a great victory for the American interests.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Confirmatory infomation of the attack on San Domingo by the revolutionists reached the state department today in a dispatch from Minister Powell. He reported that the revolutionists were attacking the city on three sides. There were no other details in Minister Powell's cablegram. The cruiser Baltimore, which was ordered to San Domingo waters, is now there, so that American interests will be given full protection.

The case of the San Domingo Improvement Company against the Dominican government has been one of long standing. The improvement company had contracts for making various improvements and for certain harbor privileges and dues, which contract the Dominican government afterward took away from the company. The former sought the assistance of this government and asked it to secure its just rights.

MILLIONAIRE VOLUNTEERS TO FORM POLICE FORCE

Wealthy Men of Philadelphia Suburbs to Wage War on Burglars.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—A police force, the members of which reckon their wealth by millions, and the majority of them tried and proved above criticism as to strength and courage by tussels on many a college field, is preparing to make it warm for the burglars who plunder suburban residences.

There are 18 of them, young men of Bryn Mawr, Haverford and Rosemont. For some time past burglary has followed burglary in this suburban section, and apparently the local authorities have been unable to find a trace of the thieves or to protect the property of citizens by scaring away strangers with instincts of robbery.

It is intended to divide the force into regular squads and through all the hours of darkness the men will be on duty. Most of the amateur policemen will make their rounds on horseback, and a couple of extra fast automobiles will be kept in readiness for instant use. The general belief is that the thieves use wagons to bring them to the towns, and, once a robbery is completed, their escape is made easy. The automobiles will be of service when it comes to chasing suspicious vehicles.

TWO BROTHERS DEAD AS RESULT OF QUARREL

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Word has reached here of a terrible tragedy on Sixteen Mile creek as a result of which the two Fleming brothers, Henry and Bowman, two of the wealthiest and best-known stockmen in that section of Montana, are dead. The brothers quarreled over the proper time to make shipments of stock. During the fight Henry shot Bowman through the mouth. Realizing the enormity of his crime Henry sent a bullet through his heart, dying instantly. Bowman died late last night.

Reports of Expeditions Against Panama Given Out to Allay People's Anger.

GEN. REYES ON PEACE ERRAND

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Panama, Nov. 15.—United States Consul General Gudger arrived here this evening and was met at the railway station by a great number of persons, including the members of the provisional government, army officers and other prominent persons. Gen. Obaldia was also among those present.

As Consul General Gudger alighted from the train a military band played "The Star-Spangled Banner." Mr. Gudger was welcomed by a committee composed of Senor Arias and Espriolla, representing the junta, and by Senor Brid, representing the municipality of Panama. Senor Arias delivered a speech in which he expressed the gratitude of the republic of Panama for the recognition accorded it by President Roosevelt, and also the pleasure of the people of Panama at Mr. Gudger's return.

Consul General Gudger returned thanks for his reception and said that he and Rear Admiral Walker would call upon the members of the junta officially tomorrow.

The United States cruiser Boston has returned from her cruise to the south, which was without incident.

Ernest Lefevre has been appointed director of telegraphs.

President Marroquin's statement is conveyed in a cablegram to Gen. Plaza, president of Ecuador, that Gens. Reyes, Caballeros, Ospina and Holguin are now marching on the isthmus to "suppress the isthmian traitors," has set the entire population of the isthmus laughing.

Panama Feels Secure.

Protected by the impenetrability of the land and the many leagues of coast line separating the isthmus from Colombia, and confident that the United States intends to prevent the landing of Colombian soldiers from the sea, the isthmians feel that their security is absolute.

The loss of the isthmian territory is, of course, a tragedy for Colombia. The government at Bogota is probably ignorant of the attitude taken by the government of the United States during the last two weeks. In a frenzy "to save its face" to appease an angry and disappointed populace and to satisfy the public demand for some appearance of activity and an attempt to save the honor and the territorial integrity of Colombia, the government is no doubt promising and threatening to send forces to the coast and to take other aggressive steps. The realization by the Colombian government of the impossibility of sending troops to the isthmus would not necessarily deter it from taking these steps, which as already stated, are intended merely to satisfy the people.

Trying to Avert Revolt.

Well informed people on the isthmus believe that the Colombian government is going through all these forms of organizing expeditions not merely for the foregoing reasons, but owing to the necessity of forestalling or weakening the threatened revolutionary outbreak in Bogota.

The growing feeling against President Marroquin is believed to be due to the fact that he did not show sufficient determination to effect ratification of the canal treaty which would have saved the isthmus to Colombia and because he appointed Gen. Obaldia governor of the department of Panama after Obaldia had declared that he would remain a Colombian if the treaty were ratified, but that otherwise he would only be a Panamian. Gen. Obaldia was born in Chiriqui in the state of Panama.

Miners and others familiar with the coast on both sides of the isthmus declare that any attempt to march an expeditionary army from any part of Colombia to the isthmus would be futile. Both coasts consist of impassable jungles and swamps and rivers, without towns or roads or any means for the provisioning of an army. The members of the junta have not the slightest fear that any such expedition will be attempted, and they receive the reports of such expeditions with equanimity.

STABBED TO DEATH BY ENRAGED HUSBAND

John Beardsley Is Killed by William Beasley at Railroad Station in Bradford, Pa.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BRADFORD, PA., Nov. 15.—John Beardsley was stabbed by William F. Peasley this afternoon and died from the effects of the wound soon after. Beardsley was 21 years old, the son of Charles Beardsley of Tuna, Pa., and Peasley is 29 years old and has lived in Bradford for 20 years. The men have been enemies for a long time on account of an alleged intimacy between Mrs. Peasley and the young man who was killed. Peasley says he had knowledge of this intimacy and had pleaded with the woman and young man to end it. He had Beardsley arrested, but the case was settled out of court.

Recently Peasley received a threatening letter, it is claimed, from Beardsley, in which it was stated that Peasley would be killed if he should ever again interfere with the writer. This afternoon Peasley suspected that his wife was going out to meet Beardsley and he followed her. He had armed himself with a dirk knife, well sharpened. He went to the depot of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg railroad and there saw his wife, her sister and Beardsley. The latter was talking with the women when Peasley approached and thrust his knife into Beardsley's neck.

"I have you this time," he said, as he drove the weapon in. Beardsley, who had evidently been expecting trouble, pulled a 32-caliber revolver from his overcoat pocket and was about to fire when he sank fainting to the depot platform. Mrs. Peasley took the man's head in her lap and tried to comfort him. The wounded man was taken to the hospital.

Beardsley went to the city building and surrendered to the police. He is in the lockup and admits the killing.

POPE TALKS ON BIBLE

Condemns Separation of the Supernatural from the Historical Narratives.

ROME, Nov. 15.—Baron Brays, who has arrived here from the United States, was presented to the pope by Archbishop Bourne of West Minster today. The baron had a private audience with the pope, who thanked him for a scholarship of $500 for graduates of all Catholic universities, the prize winner to come to Rome to the international institute for Biblical studies which is to be established.

The pope spoke strongly of the necessity for Biblical research and condemned the efforts of modern writers to separate the supernatural from the historical narratives of the Scriptures. He insisted that to do so would be as futile as to deny the existence of the soul while accepting the material fact of the body. The pope declared his disapproval of a rationalistic interpretation of the Bible, not only by laymen, but by clergymen, and conveyed the impression that he intended to thoroughly repudiate the views contained in the latest works of Abbe Loisy.

THIRTY DEATHS CAUSED BY ILLINOIS CENTRAL WRECK

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—Sixteen negroes injured in the Illinois Central wreck at Kenwood were brought to the Charity hospital today, and three of them died soon after reaching here. This makes a total of 28 negroes dead, one negro woman killed and Andrew C. Riser, foreman of carpenters, the only white, fatally injured, a total of 30 deaths. The injured list foots up 18. Larry Hawthorne, the only negro who escaped from the coach, has become demented as the result of the shock.

TELEPHONING TO LONDON IS NOT AN IMPOSSIBILITY

Difficulties of Cable Transmission as Now Accomplished Described by Garrett P. Serviss—New English Invention, It Is Said, Will Overcome It.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The most striking part of the prediction cabled from London concerning great feats about to be accomplished in the transmission of intelligence to and fro across the Atlantic, is that which asserts that within a year we shall be telephonically talking with our friends in London as freely as we now talk with those across the East or the North river. Yet the first part of the prediction is hardly less interesting, viz., that cablegrams transmitted from London direct without intermediate repeating stations will within a few weeks cross the ocean with more than four times the speed heretofore possible with any cable.

This is a matter of high importance, because the great difficulty of trans-Atlantic cabling has always been the comparative slowness of transmission of messages, due to the retardation of the electric current in the cable. Owing to the fact that a submarine cable acts as a condenser of electricity, enough current must be sent into it to charge the cable to a considerable potential before any signal can be received at the other end, and this occupies a very perceptible time in the case of a cable 3,000 miles long.

Prof. Fleeming Jenkins found that after contact was made at an end of the Atlantic cable no effect was perceived at the other end for two-tenths of a second. After that the received current gradually increases, reaches its maximum in a few seconds and then gradually dies away. And this must be repeated for each signal sent through the cable. In order to multiply the sending speed four times this retardation in the cable must in some measure be overcome. The dispatches from London do not indicate what the method actually to be employed is. A few years ago Prof. Pupi of Columbia university invented a method of overcoming the difficulty, but it does not appear that his method has yet been put into practice.

The same difficulty stands in the way of the accomplishment of the second part of the prediction: namely, that within a year we shall have a trans-Atlantic telephone in operation between London and New York. Prof. Pupi claimed that his method of managing the capacity of cable by means of inductances inserted at certain intervals in the line would enable the Atlantic cable to serve as a telephone wire. But the dispatches say the invention actually to be used is of English origin. It seems probable, however, that it is based upon similar principles to that used by the American inventor. A telephone line already exists connecting England with the continent of Europe, across the English channel, but, of course, the difficulty to be overcome in transmitting messages through so short a cable as that between England and Belgium is slight compared with that encountered in the long Atlantic cable. If the promises are fulfilled the importance of the step cannot be exaggerated.

ITALIAN ROYAL PAIR JOURNEY TO ENGLAND

Have Given Up Visit to London Hospital Because of Fear of Anarchists.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Nov. 15.—King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena left for London today. There was no demonstration, as their departure was kept strictly private. Their majesties were accompanied by Signor Tittoni, minister of foreign affairs, and the members of the civil and military households.

On reaching French territory the king sent a telegram of greeting to President Loubet. The majority of the writers in the press and the general public look with satisfaction on the visit of their majesties to Great Britain and consider that it presages a new alliance and a greater bond of friendship between the two countries.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The train bearing King Emmanuel and Queen Helena passed through Nice at 2:23 this afternoon. The entire railway line is guarded by troops. A British squadron has arrived at Cherbourg in readiness to escort the royal visitors to England.

The notification that their majesties desired to preserve a strict incognito has necessitated changes in the program arranged for their reception at Cherbourg and no honors will be rendered them until after their embarkation. There has been a cordial interchange of civilities and hospitalities between the officers of the British squadron of escort and the French officials at Cherbourg.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Italian colony here is greatly disappointed at the abandonment by King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of their projected visit to the Italian hospital in London, on the advice of the police, because in the narrow and tortuous streets of the Italian quarter it would be impossible to provide adequate police and military protection to the royal party. Moreover, there has been an influx here recently of suspicious persons, who are being watched closely by both English and Italian detectives.

IRISH ASK O'BRIEN TO RETAIN HIS PLACE

John Redmond Deplores Intention to Resign His Party Leadership.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LIMERICK, IRELAND, Nov. 15.—Addressing a Nationalist demonstration here today, John Redmond, the leader of the Irish party in the house of commons, and president of the United Irish league, said that had he known the intention of William O'Brien to resign from participation in the work of the party he would have beseeched him not to put his intention into effect. Redmond said he hoped that the coming meeting of the Irish parliamentary party and of the directory of the United Irish league would be successful in inducing Mr. O'Brien to reconsider his decision.

The majority of the Irish party, the speaker said, supported Mr. O'Brien's policy of conciliation in the administration of the British government's Irish land act, but the irreconcilables were meanly trying to counteract that policy and were justifying their gratitude by referring to his (Mr. Redmond's) Wexford estate. That property, however, said Mr. Redmond, was sold on terms which gave the tenants reductions of 40 per cent and wiped out two years of arrears in the rentals, equivalent to 16⅔ years' purchase on rents 25 per cent below Griffith's valuation.

Resolutions in favor of home rule, a Catholic university and requesting Mr. O'Brien to reconsider his resignation were adopted.

Passenger Train Ditched.

KENT, O., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Running at the rate of 30 miles an hour in the Kent yards, Wheeling & Lake Erie passenger train No. 21, carrying 100 Wheeling, Zanesville and Canton passengers, struck an open switch at noon today. The engine went into the ditch. Engineer James Patterson and Fireman James Burris jumped. The former escaped with a bruised leg, while the fireman was caught by escaping steam and badly scalded. Though the passengers were tossed about, none was injured.

FOUR PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM OHIO PENITENTIARY

Climbed to the Roof Through a Ventilator and Slid Down a Rope to the Lawn in Front of the Prison.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 15.—Four prisoners escaped from the Ohio penitentiary tonight by climbing to the roof of a cell block through a ventilator, and sliding down a rope, made of strips of leather belting to the lawn in front of the prison.

The fugitives are:

A. L. WOODS, aged 30, received from Meigs county for burglary and larceny.

J. F. RYAN, alias John Gallagher, aged 28, received from Geauga county for burglary and larceny.

FRANK HAYDEN, aged 28, received from Cuyahoga county for burglary.

THOMAS GALLAGHER, aged 30, received from Lorain county for burglary and attempting to blow a safe. He was serving 50 years.

The escape of the prisoners was a daring one. The cell block upon which they made their exit is in the front of the big prison and the men dropped to the ground beneath a window in the warden's office, where the lights were burning brightly.

A trusted prisoner seated at a desk near the window saw the last man, who fell before he reached the end of the rope, limp away in the darkness. The alarm was given and a posse of prison guards armed with Winchesters immediately started in pursuit. It is thought the men ran to the railroad yards nearby and boarded an outgoing freight train.

Bloodhounds were brought here from Dayton, O., late tonight, to run down the escaped prisoners. The hounds quickly caught the trail, but no word has yet been received from the pursuing party.

MURPHY FOR PRESIDENCY

Shrewd Game of the Citizens to Make Him Lambie's Successor.

HOLD A CONFERENCE

Effort to Avoid Responsibility for the Control of Select Council.

DOUGLAS IS SECOND CHOICE

Citizens party leaders are already discussing plans to fill the vacancy in the presidency of select council caused by the death of John S. Lambie. A conference of the leaders was held yesterday at which two propositions were under consideration, one of which was to elect a member of their own faction to the position and the other to elect John A. Murphy of the Twentieth ward. The latter plan is the one most favored, but it is not probable that it will meet with Mr. Murphy's approval.

Mr. Murphy is a Republican and is not identified with the combine or the Citizens party. Because of this fact the Citizens party leaders consider it a shrewd move to elect Mr. Murphy, for if they elected a member of the combine or a Citizens party member it would demonstrated that they control select council, which they are not willing to admit at present unless forced to. While it has been known since the hold-up of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances that the combine was working in harmony with the Citizens party leaders, the latter, since the last election, have been trying to make the public believe the contrary.

Fear to Elect Citizen.

If they elected a member of the combine or a member ranked with the Citizens party they could no longer assert that they are not responsible for the hold-up of legislation.

They also state that if Mr. Murphy were elected he would be less of a worry to them as a presiding officer than he is at present on the floor. Then again he would be elected merely to fill the unexpired term of the former president until next April, and if the Citizens party leaders won enough members in the February election to retain the majority in the upper branch they would oust Mr. Murphy and elect one of their own number.

James J. Booth of the Fourteenth ward was the candidate of the Citizens party in the contest for the presidency of select council against Mr. Lambie a year ago last April. He is not considered as a candidate for the present vacancy. He would not be acceptable to the Citizens party leaders now, in view of their present plans. Mr. Booth also declares that he would not have the office, and is glad he was not elected before.

At the time that Mr. Booth was nominated for the presidency by the Citizens party leaders Robert H. Douglas of the Twenty-first ward was a candidate for the party nomination.

In case of the refusal of Mr. Murphy to accept an election at the hands of his opponents Mr. Douglas will probably be picked for the place.

Combine Favors Douglas.

Douglas and James H. Wightman of the Twenty-second ward were the only men discussed at yesterday's conference. Thomas S. Bigelow favors Mr. Wightman if the Citizens party leaders are forced to take the presidency, because Mr. Wightman has always been loyal to Mr. Bigelow through thick and thin.

Mr. Bigelow is averse to Mr. Douglas, Mr. Douglas, however, is favored by the combine. He is recognized as a member of the combine, being one of the seven Citizens who voted with it on the hold-up of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances.

Another evidence of the friendliness of the combine toward Mr. Douglas was his selection as chairman of the committee to bring the Republican national convention to Pittsburgh. He was appointed and elected chairman of the committee through the maneuvers of Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., and in return Douglas made Wainwright chairman of the subcommittee on transportation.

Not including Evan Jones of the Thirty-sixth ward, who went over to the Citizens in the city clerkship fight last spring, the Citizens party now has 18 of the 33 members of select council. There are 14 members of the combine, as made up originally. Mr. Murphy is the only member not identified with the Citizens or the combine in the joint hold-up of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances.

Citizens Have Good Majority.

Eighteen Citizens, 14 combiners and one independent form the total membership of 33 in select council. There are five vacancies, two of which are caused by the deaths of President Lambie and William J. Rothweiler. Two more vacancies are caused by the courts ousting James W. Platt of the Second ward, and P. J. Donahoe of the Fourth ward. The fifth vacancy is due to the removal of William E. Sankey to Baldwin township. Mr. Sankey voluntarily forfeited his seat. President Lambie, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Sankey were three Republican members of select council who were not identified with either the combine or the Citizens party. Mr. Rothweiler was absent from councils during the Baltimore & Ohio fight because of his illness.

BIG FOREIGN RAIL ORDER COMES TO PENNSYLVANIA

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The Frankfurter Zeitung's Constantinople correspondent says the Pennsylvania Steel Company has been awarded the contract for 20,000 tons of steel rails for the Mecca railway in competition with the Kruppe and several other German and Belgian establishments. The price is $22 66 per ton, delivered at Beirut.

TURKEY WILL DEFY POWERS

Control of Macedonia Will Not Be Yielded by Sultan.

WAR IS PREFERABLE

Boris Sarafoff, Leader of Insurgents, Wildly Acclaimed Upon Return to Sofia.

PLOT TO PROVOKE A BATTLE

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Constantinople, Nov. 15.—A large majority of the sultan's council, which is in almost continual session, advocates the retention and control of Macedonia, declaring that it would be the better policy to lose it fighting than to submit to the terms presented by Austria and Russia. The proposition made by these latter countries is that they be allowed to control absolutely the Macedonian territory, that peace and quiet had been established. While this proposition did not come as an ultimatum, it was in the nature of a command rather than a suggestion, and the present attitude of the sultan's council is regarded as serious.

Beginning next week, the ramazan will be instituted and it is thought that during the holidays Moslem fanaticism will run rampant and the blood of the younger element boil over and eclipse the sage and more conservative counsels of the elder Turkish diplomats. Serious trouble is hourly expected. The presence of the American fleet in the bay of Besika has greatly irritated and is a constant source of dissatisfaction to the Turks, and the Christians in Turkey are in imminent peril.

News of new atrocities in the Adrianople district were received today, and grave fears are entertained for Americans in that part of the country.

Sarafoff Becomes a Hero.

SOFIA, Nov. 15.—Boris Sarafoff, leader of the Macedonian revolutionists, arrived here last night and was received at the railway station by thousands of persons who brought laurel wreaths and flowers and acclaimed Sarafoff as a national hero.

The Macedonian leader presented a picturesque appearance. His beard was unkempt, his hair hung in locks and his features were weather-beaten. After delivering of patriotic speeches a procession was formed and Sarafoff was borne on the shoulders of his admirers to the house of his parents. On the way Sarafoff halted in front of the cathedral and thanked the crowd for the reception, declaring that the revolutionists were not only unconquered, but that their work was but now beginning.

Boris Sarafoff spent nine months in Macedonia. His life was one constant peril and he slept mostly in the open air. He went to Monastir with a band of 60, of whom only eight survive. He declined to discuss his future plans, but it is said he nor the other leaders appear to concern themselves with the proposed reform schemes, as the desperate condition of the refugees is adding new fuel to the insurgent movement, which is expected to be revived on a large scale in the coming spring.

Conspiracy is Discovered.

Previous reports of a conspiracy between Bulgarian and Servian officers to provoke war with Turkey have been officially confirmed. According to these reports Turkey was to be attacked by the combined armies of the two countries. In search of officers' quarters at Philippopolis, Tirnova and other places in Bulgaria it was said revealed compromising letters and revolutionary documents directed against Prince Ferdinand. This latter part of the rumors, however, proves to be untrue. It is expected that a number of young officers of Macedonian nationality planned to create a casus belli by forcing a conflict on the frontier. The ministry of war has ordered the removal of these officers.

Prince Ferdinand today opened the Sobranjee and receive a great ovation on his way to and within the chamber. In the speech from the throne after congratulating the country on the results of the recent elections, Prince Ferdinand said that even this had occurred during the summer which compelled the government to have recourse to an extraordinary but inevitable military expenditure for the purpose of securing the integrity and independence of the Fatherland. The prince said that he relied upon the patriotism of the deputies to study the conditions which necessitated this expenditure and to show the appreciation of the country of government. The government, the prince added, would do its utmost to maintain and develop the good relations existing with its great liberator, Russia, and with other great powers, and particularly with the neighboring states.

QUEEN OF THE CIRCUS DIES AT 100 YEARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[illegible] her 101st year, Mrs. Maria Pierrison, who was in her childhood petted by George III., king of England, and was one of the old queens of the circus, died in Brooklyn yesterday. Mrs. Harrison was the daughter of a circus maker to the king. Fifty years ago she was perhaps no better known in the circus business than Mrs. Harrison. Both Mrs. Harrison and her husband were long associated with P. T. Barnum.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—(Special Cable.)—The Berlin Tageblatt announces that the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which visited the United States at the time of the launching of the schooner-yacht Meteor at Shooters Island, New York, has received orders to prepare for an extended voyage early in February. According to the reports Emperor William is to be visited, but as to whether he is to visit the United States the reports [illegible]

DEMOCRATIC AMMUNITION
MANAGER OF DAMPNESS

Publication of Isthmian Correspondence Will Render It Useless.

WILL BE PUBLISHED

Durbin Dines at White House. Talk believed to Be Political—Likely to Be Manager of Republican Campaign in Western States.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.

The belief prevails that the president will on Monday or some time during the week send to congress the correspondence and documents bearing upon the Panama revolution, which have been asked for by both branches. He will do this unless something develops soon that would make such action "not compatible with the public interests," in the words of the resolution. If he does this the entire story of this government's connection with the revolution will be laid bare to the world and the people then can judge for themselves of the wisdom of the course pursued by the president and Secretary Hay.

President Roosevelt believes that the public is entitled to know the facts. This will prove a strong argument in favor of transmitting the information to congress, but the strongest one will be the charge that has been made in certain quarters that this government connived at the revolution and assisted the rebels by moral support and physical power. This charge the president feels deeply, and he will be pleased to produce the correspondence that in itself will be evidence of the falsity of this charge.

Those who have followed Panama affairs are aware that there is no foundation for such charge. This government knew, as did every one else who was watching the situation, that a revolution was imminent and no one better than the government of Colombia. Last summer a delegation from Colombia came to this country for the purpose of trying to raise the price that the United States had offered for the canal concession. As a lever, they told the officials of this government that if we did not give them the price they asked they would sell the plans to Germany. This bluff did not go. The delegation was informed that either the United States would build the canal or nobody would; that we would not tolerate the work being undertaken by any European government. They came at that time told that a revolution was being organized in the state of Panama and were warned that they had better look out or they would soon have no rights to sell. Diplomatic language was used, but it meant this. Throughout the whole affair this government has had nothing to do whatever with the revolutionary movement, though it has been informed what was going on. If the president sends the correspondence to congress it will open up the fight that has been projected and in which the Democrats hope to discredit the administration. But the administration stands firm and makes no apologies for the course it has pursued.

Durbin Dines at the White House.

Gov. W. T. Durbin of Indiana dined at the White House this evening. He has been prominently mentioned recently in connection with the Republican nomination for vice president and also as one of the managers of the presidential campaign next year. The subject of the discussion between himself and the president over the White House managany is a matter of speculation but it is believed to be of a political nature. It has been suggested to Senator Hanna that if he will consent to act as national chairman next year two vice chairmen will be appointed who will relieve him of many of the details and much of the worry of the fight, one of them to have charge in the east and the other in the west.

Gov. Durbin has been mentioned as the man to look after the west and ex-Gov. Murphy Crane for the east. During the last presidential campaign, Gov. Durbin had the supervision of Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky, and he made an excellent record. It is believed that he would consent to join such an organization such as has been outlined with Senator Hanna at the head. As to his chances for the nomination for vice president, he will not make an effort to get on the ticket, his friends say, but would accept it if the convention should offer it to him.

President Roosevelt has not yet made a choice of a man for his running mate and will not express a preference until next spring, letting events work out the result for him. But the opinion here is that Governor Herrick of Ohio is the most likely candidate. Mr. Herrick's meeting at the White House is excellent since the recent victory gives him a political prestige that is not to be ignored. He will dine with the president in a few days and will be honor guest at the banquet of the Ohio society in Washington.

Plenty of "Pintzs" and "Utzs."

Sir Chentung Liang-Cheng, the new Chinese minister, is blossoming out as an oriental Beau Brummel. In the short time that he has been here he already has the departed Wu Ting-Fang "faded to whisper." The principal garments in a native Chinese costume are the "pintzs" (similar to our cutaways) and the "utzs" (trousers). Besides these there are caps with buttons denoting rank, shoes and other things. But Sir Chentung has laid in a supply of "pintzs" and "utzs" that are simply stunning and are the envy of the diplomatic corps. If those he wears on the streets are his every-day clothes what he will spring on the diplomatic functions can only be imagined. He has gone at red, yellow, green and combinations that make a peacock's tail look like an overworked feather duster. Sometimes it is a yellow "pintzs" with a green lining, with a few other shades thrown in on the embroidery. But whatever it is and whatever colors are worn, it has to be admitted that good taste is shown in the "matching." One way the minister has the best of his Christian brothers is that he does not have to worry about having his "utzs" pressed. Creases don't go in oriental styles.

Convention Bees Are Buzzing.

Although the meeting of the Republican national committee is nearly a month off convention cities already have delegations on the scene working to get the convention. There are boomers here for Chicago working among the members of the committee that are in Washington and if Pittsburgh intends making a contest for the prize she needs to be hustling. The word has gone out that what is considered good authority that Chicago will get the convention, but Kansas City, Detroit, St. Louis and New Orleans are working for it. Pittsburgh has at least one supporter on the committee, Senator Scott of West Virginia, who is working for Pittsburgh, if she can show that there are proper facilities for handling the crowds. It will be time enough for that at the meeting of the committee in January. If he does go it is said Governor Charles Dick of Ohio will go with him.

Taft Coming Home Again.

Secretary of War Taft of Ohio will next week return to Washington to remain for the winter. His recent visit to the Philippines and China has been a most successful one and he will be welcomed back to the cabinet by the president and his colleagues. Mr. Taft has been in the orient since July 1, when he left San Francisco on the transport Sheridan. He has visited Japan, China, the Philippines and Hawaii and has had a most delightful trip. He has been accompanied by Mrs. Taft, Miss Alice Roosevelt and Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, who is to be married to Miss Roosevelt in February.

Dinner to the Duke of Arcos.

The Duke of Arcos, the Spanish ambassador, will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Secretary Hay at the state department on Wednesday evening. The duke has been in Washington for several days and has been entertained by the diplomatic corps and by the president and cabinet officers. He is a young man and is very popular in Washington.

Which nearly every Democrat of Prominence has been invited, except Tom Johnson and Charles Salen, the Democratic state chairman. These and their lieutenants are not wanted and will be counted out of the deal.

McLean's star is rising again since the overwhelming defeat of Johnson. He has always been a good friend of Gorman and this effort to line up Ohio for him also gives McLean a chance to capture the Democratic organization.

Program in the Senate.

It is the intention of the senate leaders to confine as closely as possible the legislation of the present extra session to the bill to carry into effect the Cuban treaty, and with that end in view the daily sessions of the senate during the week will be brief and another adjournment will be taken on Thursday or Friday until the following Monday. The work of introducing bills and of presenting petitions will go forward, but with the exception of the Cuban bill neither bills nor petitions will be taken up in committee nor discussed in the senate during the week.

WOULDN'T TAKE DARE.

Traveling Salesman Kills a Wealthy Business Man Who Dared Him to Shoot.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Nov. 15.—Irving McDonald, a young and wealthy business man, was shot and killed today by J. F. Furlong, a traveling man, whose home is given by him as St. Louis. Furlong says his act was in self-defense, as he was assaulted by four men and shot only when he believed his life to be in danger.

In company with Mrs. Lester Myrick and Grace Holt, of "The Governor's Son" company, and several other friends, Furlong and McDonald went to an Edmond street cafe after the performance of "The Governor's Son." They are said to have been drinking freely.

After the party left the cafe, according to the police, words passed between the two men, and Furlong drew a revolver. Placing the weapon against McDonald's body, Furlong hesitated a moment. McDonald dared him to fire and Furlong pulled the trigger. The women are held as witnesses. They are said to reside in New York city.

VERMIN EXTERMINATED.

Government Expert Discovers Sure Way to Slaughter Bedbugs and Roaches.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—For $12 any one can rid their house of rats and vermin, according to the last bulletin of the public health and marine hospital service. C. L. Marlatt, entomologist of the department of agriculture, conducted experiments in a five-story house in Washington, using a fumigant mixture of equal parts of sulphuric acid and cyanide of potassium. This house had for years been infested by bugs. The report thus speaks of the results obtained after the fumigant was burned over night:

"The roaches had come out of their hiding places by thousands in a vain effort to escape and rushed to the cracks under doors and had there perished. The bedbugs, against whom the fumigation was especially directed, were found dead in all directions."

UNCLE SAM SPRINGS SURPRISE AT PEKING

PEKING, Nov. 15.—The demand of the United States government for the opening of Wiju has been received here with surprise. The British and Japanese ministers at Seoul on October 17 asked for the opening of Yongampho. The foreign minister consented, subject to the approval of the emperor, which was withheld.

ANARCHISTS CELEBRATE CHICAGO EXECUTIONS

BARCELONA, Nov. 15.—The police today dispersed a meeting of anarchists which had been arranged to celebrate the anniversary of the execution of the Chicago anarchists in 1886. The action of the authorities was taken because violent speeches were made at the meeting advocating an active propaganda of anarchistic doctrines.

Corner Stone to Be Laid Today.

The corner stone of the new $40,000 edifice being erected by the congregation of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, on Franklin avenue and Pitt street, Wilkinsburg, will be laid this afternoon. The rector, the Rev. R. W. Patton, has arranged an interesting program. Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, will make the principal address. Prominent ministers of Pittsburgh will also speak and the pastors of the various churches of Wilkinsburg will take part. The membership of the church now is 260.

Methodist Church Dedicated.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The new Methodist Episcopal church at Mt. Savage was dedicated today with appropriate ceremonies, the dedicatory exercises being in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Wilson Thomas; the Rev. W. P. McKenney, D. D., of Washington, D. C., and the Rev. Edward J. Gray, D. D., president of Dickinson seminary, Williamsport, Pa. The Rev. Dr. Gray preached the dedicatory sermon at the morning service, and the Rev. McKenney delivered the sermon in the evening.

Air Line in Good Condition.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 15.—President John Skelton Williams of the Seaboard Air Line railway system, who returned to the city today from New York, said tonight that the Air Line railway is in a thoroughly sound and healthy condition. The last annual report shows the floating debt of the company at the time of the report was considerably less than $1,000,000.

Detectives in Guise of Milkmen and Crying "Milkoo" Gain Admission to Their Four Separate Homes and Find Them Asleep in Bed.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Quite like a chapter from the exploits of Sherlock Holmes is the arrest of four men yesterday for the robbery of $50,000 worth of jewelry from the auction rooms of Knight & Frank, a month ago. It was by a clever scheme on the part of the famous detective, Chief Inspector Drew, that four men were tracked and arrested in various parts of the north of London.

Traced by their finger prints, the men were discovered two weeks ago, and without their knowing it, they have been shadowed day and night. Before making the arrests Inspector Drew wanted, if possible, to trace the missing jewels, but failed. Then Drew decided on a daring coup.

About 6 o'clock in the morning there might have been seen walking toward the house of each suspected man, a milkman who wore the usual glazed hat, carried the usual money pouch and milk bucket, with cans round the side. His cry of "milkoo" rang out lustily as he came down the street. When at the door of the house he sought he knocked and his professional cry was heard again after a few seconds. The door was opened, and then quick as lightning the milkman stepped inside and the professional air at once left him as he raised his hand above his head.

At the signal four men came hurrying down the street from where they had been waiting and watching. All were detectives, the milkman disguise having been adopted for the purpose of securing admittance. Together the detectives mounted the stairs to the bedroom of the man they wanted, and in each case the man was found in bed. In one or two instances he was asleep and was awakened by a hand on his shoulder and the intimation that he was under arrest. Their rooms were afterward searched and jewelry, including gems taken out of their settings was discovered to the value of several hundred pounds.

MINERS RIOT ON PAY DAY.

Two Men Dangerously Wounded in General Fight at Bridgeville.

Disorder regularly occurs on pay-days at the Bridgeville mines, and Saturday night, immediately after the miners had received their wages, was more riotous than usual. As the result of a free-for-all fight two miners, John Mellick and Harry Coslett, are dangerously injured.

Upon receiving their money the miners, foreigners and negroes, started in on their customary spree. About 10 o'clock a fight started in a boarding house where a dozen men were drinking. Mellick and Coslett were of the number. They were badly beaten with fists, clubs and beer bottles. They finally managed to escape to their homes near Federal.

Coal Company Organized.

CHARLEROI, PA., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—A coal company has been organized here which will be known as the Adena Mining Company, capital stock $150,000. The company has purchased 800 acres of the Pittsburgh No. 8 seam of coal in Harrison county, O. Work will be commenced at once. A number of houses will be built. The new town will be known as South Adena. An application will be made for a charter at once. The officers are: President, Jesse K. Johnson; vice president, Dr. J. K. Smith; secretary, Frank K. Nelson; treasurer, T. R. Eagge.

Left Desk to Make Arrest.

Acting Sergt. A. J. Schultz, who is holding the position of Sergt. Robert Gray at No. 3 police station during the latter's absence, left his desk yesterday and arrested Tom Cooper at his home in Mulberry alley, near Twenty-sixth street, on a charge of abusing his wife.

Burned to Death in His Shops.

READING, PA., Nov. 15.—The bicycle vulcanizing shop of Edward Dehart was destroyed by fire today and Dehart, who was sleeping in the place, perished in the flames. He was 20 years of age. The origin of the fire is not known.

FEARED REPETITION OF ROBBERY, SO HE FIRED

A. M. L. Duff of Clairton Is Held to Await Jury's Verdict for Killing Michael Burke, an Alleged Burglar.

A. M. L. Duff of Clairton was committed to jail yesterday by Deputy Coroner J. P. Loughrey to await the inquest into the death of Michael Burke, whom Duff shot on Saturday night, believing him to be a burglar. Duff was at his son's house at the time and he feared a robbery of that place about three weeks previous was about to be repeated. He is 60 years old and is highly respected in the vicinity in which he lives.

Duff's son John, has an express delivery in Clairton and is in the habit of making his collections on Saturday night. A burglar entered his home on October 31 and stole $6. He was driven away by young Duff, who shot at the burglar three times. Since then the fatherhood been going to the son's house on Saturday night to await his return. Last night Duff was there Saturday night also. Duff was there Saturday night also. Duff was there Saturday night also.

WM. J. ROTHWEILER IS DEAD; COUNCILS ARE TO MEET TODAY

Thirty-Seventh Ward Selectman Passes Away Soon After President Lambie.

SELECTED HIS PALL-BEARERS

He Was First Member of Upper Branch from Brushton—Mayor Hays Issue Call for Special Session to Arrange for Two Funerals.

Select Councilmen W. J. Rothweiler.

William J. Rothweiler, member of Pittsburgh select council from the Thirty-seventh ward, died yesterday noon after an illness of three months. Mr. Rothweiler passed away at his home, No. 5656 Bennett street. His death occurred just 12 hours after that of President John S. Lambie. Like that of Mr. Lambie, it was peaceful. Until the last he was conscious and was able to recognize his wife, his aged mother and his six children, illustrious friends who saw him two hours before he died.

Mrs. Rothweiler knew for several weeks that his end was near, and he calmly made arrangements for his funeral. On Thursday he selected his pallbearers, naming six intimate friends, three of whom are members of his firm. The pallbearers are Capt. Evan Davis, Jacob Thomas, Thomas Tyson, U. G. Jones, Joseph T. Colvin and John H. Gartinger.

He had been bedfast since the middle of last August, but had been in ill-health since last spring. Death was due to cancer. Late in the spring Mr. Rothweiler went to Cambridge Springs. Failing there to obtain any benefit he went to Baltimore with his wife and took the sea voyage to Boston and back. He then went to Old Point Comfort, Va., and stayed there for six weeks.

Steadily Grew Worse.

Instead of improving, he showed signs of steady decline and returned home in August to take his bed immediately. He never arose from his bed, growing gradually worse until a couple of weeks ago, when the physicians gave up all hope. One night a couple of weeks ago he was not expected to live until morning, but he rallied and this once again gave his family hope.

Mr. Rothweiler was 47 years of age. He was born in Hartford, Conn., on September 9, 1858. When 20 years of age he went to Newport, Ky., where he founded the Rothweiler Manufacturing Company and built up a large business in iron specialties. In 1889 he came to Pittsburgh to act as manager for the Pittsburgh Printing Company, which position he held for four years. He was next proprietor of the Financial News, but disposed of that business and in 1896 purchased a controlling interest in the Duquesne Printing and Publishing Company, of which he became president. On April 1, this year, he consolidated with the printing firm of Joseph T. Colvin & Co., of Allegheny, the new firm being known as the Duquesne Printing Company, moving its offices from 12x Second avenue to 104 Federal street, Allegheny. He was chosen president of the new concern.

First from New Ward.

Mr. Rothweiler was the first member of select council from the Thirty-seventh ward. It was formerly the borough of Brushton and Mr. Rothweiler was a member of the borough council for several years. He was elected to the Pittsburgh select council in 1895 and served in that branch continuously since. He was regular in attendance up to the time he was taken ill. His second term expires next April.

He was married to Miss Mary Lydia Wentz of Cincinnati, O., about 20 years ago. He is survived by his mother, who has been making her home with him for the past few months, by his widow and six children. The children are: Louise, Elsie, Lester, Frederick, William and Marion. There is also a sister in Cincinnati.

Mr. Rothweiler was a member of the Hamilton Avenue Methodist Episcopal church; of Brushton lodge No. 1107, I. O. O. F., and of the Wilkinsburg Encampment of the same order. He was a director of the Brushton bank, which he helped organize.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence. The remains will be placed in the receiving vault at the Homewood cemetery.

Mayor Hays Issues Call.

Mayor William B. Hayes has called a special meeting of the Pittsburgh councils for this afternoon at 3 o'clock to make arrangements for the members and city officials to attend the funerals of President John S. Lambie and William J. Rothweiler.

President Lambie is to be buried tomorrow afternoon and a session of councils will have to be held this afternoon. President Lambie's funeral will take place from the Eighth United Presbyterian church, Van Braam and Locust streets, of which he was a member for many years. Two o'clock is the hour set for the services, which will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. J. M. Wallace.

Will Lie in State.

The remains, however, will be conveyed to the church at 1 o'clock and friends will be permitted to view them between 1 and 2 o'clock. The interment will take place at the Allegheny cemetery where the father and a daughter of Mr. Lambie are buried.

Mrs. Bessie Wiggins, the eldest daughter of Mr. Lambie, who resides in Philadelphia, and John S. Lambie, Jr., a son who has been attending a medical college in Philadelphia, arrived yesterday morning to attend the funeral.

Many friends of the deceased, among whom were a number of councilmen, called at the Lambie residence yesterday to tender their condolences to the stricken family.

Later in the week, about Friday, there will be another special meeting of councils for exercises to the memory of President Lambie and Mr. Rothweiler.

LOSES HIS LIFE AND TRIP HOME

Pole Shot by One of His Friends Whom He Was Bidding Farewell.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED

Victim a Young Man Who Had Planned to Sail Tomorrow for Russia for the Purpose of Seeing His Mother and His Sweetheart.

A friend's blunder will cost Stanislaus Gwinchofski his life and prevent him ever again seeing his mother and sweetheart in far-off Poland, for which he intended to start tomorrow.

Gwinchofski lived at No. 2031 Pulaski alley, Lawrenceville, and a number of his friends gathered there yesterday afternoon to bid him farewell before his voyage to Europe. Among them was John Balkowski, also a young Pole and close friend of Gwinchofski.

The latter had his trunk packed and in a valise he had put some of his choicest belongings, among which was a 32-caliber revolver. He took the weapon out of the valise to show it to Balkowski, who handled it for some time and then pulled the trigger, not knowing that it contained one cartridge.

There was a loud report and young Gwinchofski fell to the floor, shot through the stomach, the bullet passing from the right side of his stomach to the left. He was taken to the West Penn hospital, where he is dying. Officer Andrew Winstel went to the house and arrested Balkowski. He also locked up two other young Poles as witnesses. The three men under arrest live at No. 2047 Brereton avenue.

Inspector F. H. Schmidt decided to obtain an ante-mortem statement from the wounded man when he learned of his serious condition. He telephoned to Police Magistrate Thomas D. Stewart, who was at the Forty-third street police station. Mr. Stewart went to the hospital with an interpreter, but the wounded man was so low that no details could be obtained from him. He said, however, that the shooting had been accidental.

Gwinchofski is 22 years of age. His only relative in this country is a brother. He had saved some money and had written his mother and sweetheart that he would sail from New York on Tuesday.

Fined for Flourishing Revolver.

Andrew Schaker had a revolver Saturday night, and was not afraid to show it. He drifted to Water street and began to frighten persons in the vicinity of No. 609 by flourishing the weapon. A policeman took him in and Magistrate Stewart assessed him $35 at yesterday morning's hearing.

Said He Was Searching a Drunk.

Special Officer J. J. Dillon arrested Frank Quian of No. 1716 Penn avenue, yesterday, catching him searching the pockets of a drunken man in a hallway in Third avenue. The latter said his name was Charles Dermon of Oil City. He had $31 90.

STRONG PROTEST MADE ON LIQUOR LICENSE

Church People Do Not Want Saloon at Fifth and Frankstown Avenues.

A protest against the transfer of the liquor license of Cyrus Pool, from the East End hotel to Penn avenue, to a location at Frankstown and Fifth avenues, was made yesterday afternoon at a well attended meeting in the Lincoln avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Petitions were put in circulation before the meeting closed, and a strong delegation will be in court November 21 when the application is heard, to protest against the transfer.

The Rev. William B. Sluts of the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, presided. The Rev. John Royal Harris of the First Cumberland church and the Rev. [illegible] were among those present. [illegible] was framed protesting against the transfer of Pool's license on the ground that the place applied for is in a residence neighborhood, in close proximity to the new East End hospital, and is not a necessity.

NO CONFERENCE ARRANGED.

Plumbers Remain Firm and the Lockout Is Now Effective.

The executive committee of the plumbers deny that an arrangement has been made to hold a conference with the Builders Exchange league. This means that a settlement of the dispute which has resulted in the lockout has no signs of being terminated. The lockout will be in full force today and will affect nearly all the members of the Building [illegible]

Rapp Fined on Woman's Accusation.

William Rapp, who was accused by Miss Nellie O'Day of attempting to steal her pocketbook in front of city hall Saturday night, was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Magistrate T. D. Stewart. Rapp was captured in Virgin alley.

JOSEPH HORNE CO.

Monday, November 13, 1905.

OF the special sales that are to be the prominent features of this store today, it is quite probable the reader is already acquainted with those published Saturday; but there are so many departments taking part in this special occasion that we could not give them all at one time. Hence this morning entirely new news of the most engaging sort.

A Silk Loom in Active Operation.

Beginning this morning in Basement of East Store, we will have pleasure in showing visitors the process of weaving fine silks, something every person, especially women, should be familiar with.

On this loom will be shown pure dye yarns in act of being woven into the famous Moneybak Long-Wearing Silks, and from the loom visitors can go to one of our show windows and there see an elegant silk gown which was modeled in Paris from that handsome silk, Moneybak Long-wearing Taffeta, worth $500.00.

This loom will be in operation, until further notice, all hours of the day. It is something unusual to see silk woven right in the store from which it is retailed, but as this is a store given to unusual things it will be accepted as another of our pleasing innovations.

In passing we may say we are sole agents in Greater Pittsburg for the Moneybak Long-Wearing Silks, and that they are fine and good in every way or they would not be here. Of their thoroughness, their reliability, and especially of their lasting qualities, we shall have more to say later.

Thanksgiving Linens.

Speaking to you, madam, as the autocrat of the family board, it is our right to assume you are interested in fine table napery, never more so than on the day of our National Thanksgiving. Our table linens are the best that come from the loom; that is true of each of the large variety of grades that we carry. We go direct to the great linen marts of Europe, we buy in extraordinary large quantities, we import direct, and we save the customer the importers' profit, which is always considerable.

Herewith we present questions on finished Tablecloths, on Napkins and on Decorative Pieces for the table:

Tablecloths.

$2.00 each for bleached damask Tablecloths, 2x2 yards.
$3.75 each for bleached damask Tablecloths, 2½x3 yards.

China, Bric-a-Brac, Cut Glass.

If you are at sixes and sevens regarding the [illegible] for your Thanksgiving table—something missing in your set of china, a piece of cut glass badly needed, a vase or some other decorative piece absent—you can instantly put your mind at ease by visiting our great department of the third floor, where the least expensive to the finest china, cut glass and bric-a-brac is to be found.

Whether you are in need of anything or not, it is worth some moments of your time just for the pleasure of looking through the most admirably appointed department for these wares to be found in Western Pennsylvania; indeed, we make bold to say that there is not another finer department in the whole country.

Handsome fixtures and large area do not mean excessive prices. The housewife who needs only an ordinary cup and saucer for a trifling price can find them as well as the woman who has several hundred dollars to invest in a set of finest English or French China.

Self praise, to be sure; still, our low prices are leaning that way also.

CHINAMAN'S HATCHET BADLY CUT MAN'S FACE

Allegheny Mongol Feared Three Spring Hill Youths, Attacked Them and Nearly Severed the Nose of One.

Jim Lee, a Chinaman, used a hatchet on one of the men who went into his laundry at No. 1538 East street, Allegheny, early yesterday morning and a well-directed blow almost severed the nose of the victim.

Lee had been called out of bed to open the door of his establishment on the pretext of waiting on a customer. The wounded man was taken by his associates to Einstein's drug store, nearby, and later was sent to the Allegheny General hospital, where he gave the name of George Behr, aged 19, of No. 147 Luella street, Spring Hill. Otto Lange, aged 20, of No. 149 Luella street, and Charles Pfaus of No. 177 Luella street. Behr's companions, were arrested by Detectives Frank Lee and John King. Behr was later taken from the hospital under arrest. The cut on his face is deep.

Superintendent of Police M. H. Campbell closely questioned the three men last night. They at first said they were passing Lee's place when he came out and struck Behr. It began, they said, over a foolish suggestion. The boys had been drinking in a club near Lee's laundry and while walking along the street one of them said: "Let's go over and have some fun with the Chinaman." Lee himself, however, who was also arrested yesterday, tells another story.

The Chinaman said he had just gone to bed when he heard some one knocking at the door. He was told to open the door, as somebody wanted to get laundry. When he saw the men he said he asked for a check, but Behr answered that he had none. Lee moved backward and stated he was followed by Behr into the room. The two grappled just as the others, according to Lee, made a rush, and he supposed they were going to the cash drawer. It was then that he picked up a hatchet and struck Behr across the face. Lee's unexpected show of fight and the pitiable condition of Behr, who fell to the floor, brought the trouble to an end. The prisoners are being held for a hearing this afternoon.

CELEBRATIONS IN Y. M. C. A. CIRCLES

Anniversaries of East Liberty and Railroad Department Branches.

MEETINGS AT TWO PLACES

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the East Liberty branch of the Young Men's Christian association was celebrated last night, an innovation being inaugurated by holding the services in two churches instead of one, as has been the custom during the past years. In anticipation of the large attendance the anniversary was observed with similar programs in the East Liberty Presbyterian and the Fifth United Presbyterian churches. In the former church Samuel E. Gill presided and in the other, Peter Dick. The twentieth anniversary of the Pennsylvania railroad department of the Y. M. C. A. was also celebrated yesterday, it taking place at Pitcairn.

At the former celebration the annual report of the branch was read. Joseph E. Paull, reading it at the East Liberty church and Marcellus C. Adams at the Fifth church.

Those participating in the services in the East Liberty church were: The Revs. W. J. Russell, W. P. Shrom, D. D., Robert M. Russell, D. D., who delivered the address, and W. A. Stanton, D. D., and in the Fifth church the Revs. John Weidler, J. P. Calhoun, D. D., Frank W. Gunsaulus, D. D., who delivered the address, and J. G. Walter. The report as read, is in part as follows:

Increase in Membership.

[illegible] rooms reached almost $6,000. This year we have far surpassed that splendid record with a total attendance of almost $1,000. Our increased membership and attendance at the rooms are good examples of the gain and progress in the other parts of our work.

A deficit of $1,200 for the year exists and an unusual effort will be made to overcome the amount by keeping the subscription book open until November 20 to allow friends to assist in making up the amount.

Dr. Russell in his address devoted considerable time to statistics of the Y. M. C. A. The recapitulation shows that the world contains in all 6,625 branches of the association, with a gross membership of 644,753, and property aggregating in value $32,812,000.

Influence of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Sneed spoke of the great good of the organization and the powerful influence it wielded for Christianity. He said a Y. M. C. A. secretary was responsible for his real conversion and that his first purpose in life was to become a general secretary of the association.

A large crowd attended the celebration at Pitcairn. The services commenced at 8 o'clock. William B. McIntyre, secretary to Robert Pitcairn, presided at the meeting. The first speaker was Robert Orr of Pittsburgh, who reviewed the work of the past 20 years. S. E. Long, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, and Superintendent A. G. Mitchell of the Monongahela division, also made addresses. Robert Pitcairn in making the closing address said:

"The first effort along the present lines was made in 1867. We tried the establishment of a reading room and bath houses for the railroad men, but the project failed because it did not have Christian sentiment back of it. We tried the educational system, but it failed for the same reason. But since we started 20 years ago and adopted the Christian [illegible] in the [illegible] Christian [illegible] with the [illegible]

Monday, November 16, 1903.

In the death of John S. Lambie, Esq., president of select council, Pittsburgh loses a conspicuous figure from its public affairs. For many years Mr. Lambie was identified with the public business of the city. An attorney by profession, he found time to sit in councils and deliberate upon matters of public moment, having a record for faithful attendance at meetings of committees, as well as the open bodies in which he had membership. This is a service that too few men are willing to render their communities without compensation. Occasionally mistaken, Mr. Lambie was, however, usually always arrayed for the right, being careful to investigate subjects of legislation before taking a position.

Cotton exports for October were of record-breaking magnitude and those for November are running higher. This movement indicates the conclusion on the part of foreign manufacturers that they are not going to be caught as they were a year ago, waiting for lower prices. It also indicates the belief of the spinners that their supplies must come from the United States for the present, whatever success may attend the efforts to create other sources of supply in the future. For this country the significance is in the certainty of more gold imports and the restoration of the export movement and the balance of trade on the basis temporarily lost. Cotton is king and he rules for the benefit of his kingdom in the Southern United States.

One of the immediate results from the exceedingly small Democratic vote polled in this state at the late election will be to reduce the number of delegates to the next state convention. As those delegates are given the power to select the delegates to the national convention, both in the districts and at large, it will be a matter of some consequence to get on the state delegation. Thus in the Fayette-Greene-Somerset district five delegates will have the privilege of naming two national delegates from the district and will have a voice in electing four delegates-at-large. In other districts the power will be confined to almost as small a number, but, of course, where there is no Democratic party there is no honor in representing the skeleton.

For the first two weeks in November the payrolls of the three principal coal mining companies of the Pittsburgh district aggregated $800,000. That is an indication not merely of the activity of the Pittsburgh district, but of the brisk demand for coal elsewhere. A demand for coal means activity in manufactures and transportation. A two weeks' pay of $800,000 does not signify depression in those lines. It is but another of the many facts that prove the depression in Wall street has affected the solid business interests of the country in only a modified degree. Wall street liquidation has been taken as a cautionary signal and there has been a general trimming of sails, but there is no sign of such a slough of despond as the country passed through in the past decade.

The decision of the caucus of the Democratic members of the house of representatives to support the Cuban reciprocity bill gives the minority credit. It is said there were but 15 votes against this program. There would be no surprise over this result were it not for the fact that recent Democratic history is composed of a series of blunders. The Democratic members have thus a good opportunity to ascertain public sentiment as their Republican colleagues. There can be no manner of question where the public stands on this subject. The Democrats have merely fallen in line with that sentiment instead of taking the opposite course—as they have so often done—simply because the administration is on the popular side. This settles the matter for the house, but the bill has not yet passed the danger of being talked to death in the garrulous senate.

In view of the fact that the kaiser's father and mother both died of cancer and that appearances of the growth in the son's throat was pronounced an innocent tumor, just as in the case of the one removed from the kaiser's larynx, there is reason for the apprehensions felt in regard to the kaiser's condition. His people have already had more gallop in this country than his abilities, which are really great and which have been applied to the public service with a zeal and industry which are highly appreciated in Europe. Throughout Austria there is a general feeling among thoughtful people that it would be a grand thing for that country if it had a ruler of his force and capacity. The Hohenzollerns have been a great dynasty and the signs of physical decay in the stock will cause widespread uneasiness as to the future of the German empire and of all continental Europe.

Undivided Responsibility.

By the death of President John S. Lambie on Saturday and of William J. Rothwoiler of the Thirty-seventh ward yesterday, select council has lost two members, both of whom had been elected as Republicans. Mr. Lambie's death will necessitate the election of a new president at the first meeting, and as the Democratic-Citizens contingent is now positively in the majority, the new presiding officer will be of that party. There has been good reason for the belief that control of the upper branch of the city legislature has long been vested where it will now unmistakably be. But at this time it is pertinent to urge the responsibility of that element and to demand that with the election of a new president there shall be an abandonment of the senseless special committees.

When select council organized by the election of the late John S. Lambie as president, the rump committees were appointed for the avowed purpose of obstructing the power of the Democratic-Citizens majority in common council. The Gazette disapproved of this resort at the time as a movement calculated to prevent necessary and desirable legislation. The administration was then in the hands of the old machine. Since then the administration has passed to the party in control of common council and now the select branch has passed unequivocally to the same control. There is not now a shadow of excuse for retaining the rump committees, unless it is to be confessed that their hold-up powers are necessary to the carrying out of the designs of the proprietors of the new Democratic-Citizens machine.

There is assuredly no public interest that can be served by these unnecessary appendages. There cannot longer be any pretense of divided political responsibility for the shameless hold-up. Either the rump committees must be abolished and the hold-up ordinances returned to council for debate and final disposition, or the Democratic-Citizens bosses must assume the obloquy, unquestioned, of sustaining this last remnant of the old ring as a convenient adjunct to their new machine.

Free Trade Fallacies Exposed.

A protectionist argument which free traders in this country have been in the habit of deriding is that the foreign producer helps to pay the tax. This very question has come up in the English tariff controversy and has led to a discussion which has demonstrated the fact that it frequently happens that reductions of duty do not affect the price at all, but simply swell the profits of the foreign producer. While as a general principle the incidence of taxation tends to rest upon the consumer there may be counteracting influences which will neutralize that tendency. It is a well-known business fact that while there may be a market for an article at a certain price, an increase of price may lose the market, and in that case additional taxation of the article must be borne by the producer. It is also the case that if there is a market for an article at a certain price which people are accustomed to pay, the price will be maintained even if the cost of putting the article upon the market is reduced, so that it may well happen that reductions of duty may take place which simply transfer public revenue to foreign producers and do not benefit consumers a particle.

A number of cases of this kind have been brought forward by English political economists, and one of these has special bearing upon Mr. Chamberlain's proposals. A cardinal feature of the policy he is advocating is a tax upon grain and other food stuffs, to be remitted upon colonial products in consideration of preferential rates upon English goods. The heaviest assault made upon the scheme is concentrated upon this point. "The dear loaf" is the cry that is used to turn the working classes against the protectionist policy. There was, however, long in force a registration duty upon wheat of one shilling a quarter, which was removed by the last budget. Evidence which appears conclusive has been adduced that the removal of this duty has not had any discernible effect upon the price of grain in England. Exporters of grain to England paid the tax and the removal went to their benefit. This is the deliberate opinion of the president of the London Corn Trade association, who sets forth the evidence in detail in a communication to the London Times. It is contended that a duty of two shillings a quarter would have no perceptible effect upon the price of bread. Home-grown wheat supplies form about 21 per cent of the present demand; the British colonies would supply about 19 per cent more, and the duty would fall upon about 60 per cent of the supply. Under these circumstances it is contended that the amount of the duty could not possibly be added to the price of wheat, but it would act as a great stimulus to colonial production and would cause British emigration to prefer the colonies so as to secure the trade preferences which the policy of imperial reciprocity would confer. Instead of going to our west, emigrant farmers would go to Canada, as their product would go to England free of duty, while American grain would pay a duty.

The indications are that the British free traders are fighting a losing battle. They have been driven from one position to another and have had to modify their arguments. Public sentiment is running so strongly in favor of imperial reciprocity that the eventual victory of that policy seems assured. From one point of view it is a gratifying vindication of the protectionist principles so long upheld by the Republican party, but from another point of view it is a matter of serious concern, as it will be certain to affect seriously the economic position of the United States.

The Cass Doctrine.

The volcano-strewn Nicaragua route has never been a practical possibility for the construction of an isthmian canal, and the consideration given to it at one time was simply due to the fact that the Panama isthmus had been pre-empted. With the French Panama Company willing to sell upon reasonable terms, there is really no room for choice. The recent change in the political sovereignty of the isthmus presents the opportunity for obtaining the needful concessions, and Admiral Walker of the canal commission is now on his way thither to secure all information necessary for negotiating an agreement with the republic of Panama. The administration has acted with a vigor and capacity which sensible men approve and which history will applaud. There is no reasonable doubt but that congress will enact the necessary legislation, and the only open question is the attitude which the Democratic party will take toward this great movement in behalf of national interests. Will it act in a spirit of patriotism or will it seize the occasion to demonstrate anew its inexhaustible capacity for blundering?

We do not believe that there is any American party strong enough to control the administration and become subject to its responsibilities of trusteeship but what would seize the present opportunity. If the Democratic party opposes the Panama negotiations now it will be because it is misled by the spirit of opposition. If it drew its inspiration from its past, it would sustain the president's policy with enthusiasm. The fact has been pointed out that the course our government is now pursuing is the practical enforcement of a policy formally enunciated 45 years ago by a Democratic administration. Gen. Cass, secretary of state under President Buchanan, stated our national policy as follows:

> The progress of events has rendered the interoceanic route across the narrow portions of Central America vastly important to the commercial world, and especially to the United States, whose possessions extend along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and demand the speediest and easiest modes of communication. While the rights of sovereignty of the states occupying this region should always be respected, we shall expect that these rights be exercised in a spirit befitting the occasion and the wants and circumstances that have arisen. Sovereignty has its duties as well as its rights, and none of these local governments, even if administered with more regard to the just demands of other nations than they have been, would be permitted, in a spirit of eastern isolation, to close the gates of intercourse on the great highways of the world, and justify the act by the pretension that these avenues of trade and travel belong to them and that they choose to shut them up, or, what is almost equivalent, to encumber them with such unjust relations as would prevent their general use.

This doctrine would have justified coercion of Colombia, and if necessary an action of superior morality rather than submission to its abuse of its authority, but in the present case no such extreme assertion of international equity was required. The spontaneous action of the people of Panama has placed the opportunity in our reach and it would have been weakness and folly on the part of the administration not to have embraced it. If the Democratic party chooses to make an issue of the matter it will ensure for itself even a more crushing rebuke than it has yet experienced.

Ridiculous Pessimism.

Yesterday The Gazette reprinted a letter to the editor of the Boston Herald from James Howard Bridge, author of the "History of the Carnegie Steel Company," now running in The Sunday Gazette. The letter was in reply to a suggestion by the Herald that Andrew Carnegie, as the holder of first mortgage bonds, might come into possession of the United States Steel Corporation through foreclosure proceedings. Mr. Bridge set forth facts that show the utter improbability of the Herald suggestion. Mr. Bridge might have gone farther than he did and yet remained well within the bounds of conservatism.

The Herald suggestion is ridiculous, if not mischievous, and its assertion that the plants of the United States Steel Corporation might be duplicated for less than the face value of the first mortgage bonds may charitably be attributed to ignorance. Mr. Bridge mentions the ore lands, having 750,000,000 tons of ore in sight, modestly valued by Mr. Schwab at $1 a ton. He might with equal propriety have adverted to the millions of tons of Connelisville coal, as staple in value as refined gold, though subject to larger cost in production than the ores. Neither the one nor the other can be duplicated on this continent.

Manufacturing plants can be duplicated, so can lines of transportation and their equipment. Those of the United States Steel Corporation, however, represent the expenditure of fully as many millions as the first mortgage bonds call for. The Carnegie Steel Company was given the lion's share in the merger, not because its works had cost more, but because its facilities and location put it in a position to command an enormous income. Even in its leanest years, with less than one-third its present capacity and lacking some of its present facilities, the Carnegie Company alone earned the equivalent of 1 per cent on the steel corporation's first mortgage bonds. In its present state, under equally adverse trade conditions, it should earn all of that interest, leaving the other underlying companies, such as the Illinois Steel, American Steel and Wire, Lorain Steel, Sharon Steel, American Tin Plate and the Tube companies to care for stock dividends. Many of these companies were highly profitable when conducted as independent concerns and they have certainly lost none of their earning power by being brought into economical relation to the coal and ore deposits and the United States Steel transportation system.

If there was nothing to be seen in the future but lean years like those from 1893 to 1896, the corporation should still earn interest on its bonds and more than 6 per cent on the present market value of its stocks. But the future is not as discouraging as that. On the contrary, the prospect is for better years than those of 1900 to 1903, and many of them. Some people cannot see a bright prospect in a moment of depression, but the prospect is there.

However pessimistic the stock speculators may be there are signs in plenty that prosperity exists throughout the country. The west and south in particular have large crops that are selling at good prices and if they have no money to burn, they have more than usual to spend.

Now the king and queen of Italy are preparing to visit the royalties of England. In this merry-go-round of the rulers there is much more fun than former monarchs got out of visits to their neighbors accompanied by their armies.

Canada is so sore over its failure to acquire American territory on the gold coast of Alaska that it refused to rejoice over the prospect that the Panama canal will be completed.

Five thousand Republicans, headed by old soldiers, marched in Allegheny to ratify the sentiments expressed by a majority of the good citizens of Allegheny county.

Would it have been any better if President Roosevelt had waited a year to recognize Panama? Possibly it might for those opposed to the canal.

Gradually the offices of the United States Steel Corporation are coming to Pittsburgh to be near the most favorably located works.

Gen. Reyes will be given every facility to recognize the new republic of Panama and express the high regard of Colombia for it.

One more highwayman has been shot by his intended victim. There is at least one remedy for this style of lawlessness.

Democratic members of the house will support Cuban reciprocity. First gleam of good sense in a long time.

Rump committees and air-tight combine survive only at the pleasure of the Democratic-Citizens machine.

It is up to the proprietors of the Democratic-Citizens organization. What are they going to do about it?

Despite the protracted autumn mildness the advent of winter will catch some people unprepared.

Abolition of the rump committees will release the ordinances which have been the object of the hold-up.

With Bryan in Europe the Democrats may have a chance to think. There will be less talking.

Bureaus of the city government are hard pressed for funds. Poor government comes high.

The people are not fools. They know who is directing the hold-up and know what they want.

We will soon all know who is responsible for the air-tight combine and the hold-up.

Here is where the United States begins again to sell steel to the world.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

C. S. Sherrington of Liverpool, England, has been appointed to the Stillman lectureship at Yale college.

Delucena Lothrop Bingham, the oldest librarian in Massachusetts, has just observed his 80th birthday.

Phil May, the noted English newspaper artist, who died recently, left practically nothing, having lived a sort of Bohemian life, and spent his money as fast as it was made.

J. M. Barrie, the English author, derives an income of over $35,000 a year from royalties on his plays, all of which have been phenomenally successful both in Great Britain and America.

The progressive ruler of Basutoland, King Lewanica, has taken the hint from Japan, and is sending a number of his numerous sons to be educated in Europe and America. One has been placed in a school at Winfield, Kan., where he is allowed $500 a year for expenses.

Pittsburgh Willing.

There does not appear to be any great anxiety on the part of any city to accommodate the national convention of either party next year, though Pittsburgh has shown a willingness to meet the requirements of the Republican convention, and it could provide all the necessary accommodations. St. Louis would be an attractive city for the purpose if the convention were held early enough to avoid the fair crowds. Accommodations, however, are not plentiful in St. Louis. The Republican national committee will meet in Washington on December 11 and the claims of the various cities will then be heard.—Philadelphia Press.

Democrats as Blockaders.

It was to be expected that the Democratic leaders in congress would use every effort to blockade the Panama canal. The news that they intend to do so creates no surprise whatever. It is the most natural thing on the face of the earth for them to do. They have been opposed to every progressive policy for so many years that to stand with the administration for the prompt construction of the canal would be too great a shock for their nerves. Progress from the Democratic leaders? Who could have thought it possible? Preposterous!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Silent Ones.

Just now the Democrats are all talking Cleveland—that is, all except Bryan, Gorman, Hill and Watterson.—Springfield Union.

That Parting Kick.

Mr. Bryan's parting kick at Grover Cleveland leaves no doubt that he went abroad with a stubbed toe.—Boston Herald.

THE CRACKER BARREL DIPLOMAT.

Lawzee! the things that's on my mind
To ponder an' debate!
I wonder if I'll ever find
The time to get them straight.
I hadn't more'n halfway got
The Philippines arranged
Than in a minute—like a shot—
The Asyun maps was changed.
I sometimes think
A fust class plan
Is, let things run
The best they can.

The bold Bulgarryan an' Turk,
They quarreled an' they fit.
I'd only got my mind to work
When they—by jinks, they quit!
The English—I hain't figured out,
If they should drop free trade.
They need our goods beyond a doubt—
An' they are foreign made.
I sometimes say
It's just as well
To let things run—
An' time will tell.

Then there's the Cuby question. Why,
Some say it means a loss—
This reciprocity—but I,
I say, let's reciprocs.
An' now we're mixed with Pannyma,
Where that canal's to be.
Some says it's all again' the law—
In fact, it puzzles me.
It's just as long
As it is wide,
It seems to me,
To let things slide.

There's Cuby, Chiny, Pannyma,
An' Turkey an' the rest—
I've got to take 'em—done or raw—
An' let my mind digest
These questions, till it's all made up—
An' when I say my say
Somebody's sure to interrup'
With, "What's eggs worth today?"
I don't know but
The wisest plan
Is, let things run
The best they can.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

A fool there was, and she lowered her pride
(Even as you and I)
To a bunch of conceit in a masculine hide—
(We new the faults that could not be denied)
But the fool saw only his manly side
(Even as you and I).

Oh, the love we laid on our own hearts' grave
With the care of our head and hand,
Belongs to the man who did not know
(And now we know that he never could know)
And did not understand.

A fool there was, and her best she gave
(Even as you and I)
Of noble thoughts, of gay and grave
(And all were accepted as due to the knave)
But a fool would never her folly save
(Even as you and I).

Oh, the stabs he hid, which the Lord forbid
Had ever been really planned,
(We took from the man who didn't know why
(And now we know he never knew why)
And did not understand.

The fool was loved while the game was new
(Even as you and I),
And when it was played she took her cue
(Plodding along as most of us do)
Trying to keep his faults from view
(Even as you and I).
And it isn't the ache of the heart, or its break
That stings like a white-hot brand—
It is the learning to know that she raised a god
And bent her head to kiss the rod
For one who could not understand.
—Francis B. Ross.

That's woman-like.
And can you blame her?
The only wonder is that she didn't make it hotter—red-hot.
In fact one may reasonably regret that she did not make it as raw and gruesome as Kipling made the "Vampire."
Kipling surely is one of the most brutally realistic of modern poets, and stands well to the front among those of all ages. He not only strips his subjects to the hide, but in many instances takes the hide off, leaving the victim clothed only in raw, quivering flesh.
However, it must be said in his favor that he does the flaying act neatly and artistically, and you read it with the same feeling and interest that you do the account of burning some poor wretch at the stake, or riddling him with bullets as he dangles at the end of a rope.
The poet that can do this sort of thing well must be born that way, and that is what's the matter with our poet. She could see how the vampire shoe would fit the other foot, but she is not an adept with the skinning forceps and bistoury. She may have had the heart to it, and saw the picture as plainly as Kipling saw Burne-Jones' famous painting, "The Vampire."
No, let us not say our poet could see a picture half as terrible as "The Vampire." She is human, and a woman, and cannot confure up a form like unto herself who could, like the vampire, steal away the life of a man, and in truly knoulish fashion crouch beside his dead from and gloat over her work.
Sorry indeed must be the state of a woman who can conceive of a man in the role of vampire, even though it be true that some men do treat women meanly, vilely, and cruelly. And when they do it is usually those they either thought once they loved, or for whom they perjured themselves at the sacred altar of marriage.
Rather let us leave such gruesome work to Burne-Jones, and his cousin, Kipling.

* * * * *

She possessed a mind discerning,
That was stored and crammed with learning,
And her thoughts, forever burning,
She could suitably express.
All her sentences were rounded
And her words imposing sounded;
I was really quite astounded
As I listened, I confess.

It was rather an infliction,
All this verbal unrestriction,
But her elegance of diction,
Each precise and polished phrase,
And the beautiful selection
Of the words and their connection,
And her most correct inflection—
They were quite beyond all praise.

But I saw her very lately,
And she did not talk ornately;
All that language suave and stately
She no longer kept on tap.
She was saying, "Bessums diddums!
Where de bad old pin got biddums,
In his muzzer's pecious kiddums,"
To the baby in her lap. —Anon.

That's different.
It will not require the aid of a Burne-Jones or a Kipling to enable you to see the picture suggested in these lines.
Wonder who wrote them? They were discovered in a recent issue of the Machinist, tucked away among tandem engines, balanced fly wheels and eccentric cut-offs.
But you can't lose pictures like that, try ever so hard, for somebody is certain to find it, and when found it is sure to be held up to public view, the same as a baby.
Yes, indeed, she will drop her high-falutin airs, and change her fine language to baby-talk, and feel as proud as any queen. And why shouldn't she? Isn't she wearing the crown of motherhood, than which no earthly crown is grander, or richer, or holier? Who knows but she is nursing the ruler of a nation, or the mother of a great and noble man?
From whence come our great men?

* * * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer: We are glad that you have returned to the marriage question again after browsing around in other fields—battle fields, etc., in all of which you seem to be right at home.
Although you have the faculty of making the most uninteresting subject turn out to be one full of interest and instruction, yet it is in the questions which concern the young that you excel. And it is well that in their doubts and perplexities they can find in you a sympathetic listener and adviser (even if they do not always take your advice), as a substitute for what they should find at home.
Do you not think that the reason many marriages turn out failures is because our young people cannot go to parents, or to older friends, for guidance, from the fact is antiquated? Their affairs are treated with disdain, or want of sympathy, and they are left to make alone the most important decision they will have to make in this life. This is certainly not as it should be.
Unfortunate, indeed, is the young man of young woman who cannot go to father and mother for counsel at this point in their lives, and still more to be pitied are the father and mother who have so estranged themselves from their children, and stretched the bonds of confidence which should unite them in all important matters, so that they cannot approach them with assurances of sympathy and succor.
But this is getting away from the subject in hand. We may continue this dissertation another time. But just now we have a question to propound, and here it is:
Would you consider a woman's seniority of two or three years (at the age of 40) an impediment to marriage (or even only a drawback?) where there is affinity and where a similarity of tastes exists, and where the man has been accustomed to associate with and find his most congenial male and female companions among those who were older?
DAILY READER.

A woman of 40 who is healthy, vigorous, and good-tempered, is not likely to become much older for a long time. It is not by years alone that the age of woman is measured. If she be young in her feelings, of sweet disposition and has a heart to love, she is plenty young enough to marry, or at least she is not too old to marry. Indeed, she may be younger and remain young longer than a man five years her junior.
But if she is feeling old, or shows signs of growing old, she is likely to age more rapidly than a man of her years, or even one who is her senior.

* * * * *

The idea of her life shall creep
Into his study of imagination,
Shall come apparel'd in more precious habit
And every lovely organ of her life,
More moving—delicate and full of life
Into the eye and prospect of the soul.
—Much Ado About Nothing.

One-Cent Postage.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—One of the most significant utterances with regard to Tammany control of Greater New York came from the lips of William Travers Jerome at the Delta Upsilon fraternity dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria the other night. Speaking of Tammany bosses the district attorney said emphatically that Richard Croker was not "an accident." The reason that lowly-born, ill-bred man obtained control of 150,000 votes in New York city was that he rang true. He was a strong man. Had he been an educated man, with higher ideals, he would have done great work for the city in making it more decent than it is. Thus, in effect, spoke Jerome. The sentiment is echoed by every New Yorker who is free from prejudice, and is willing to give such credit as is due even to a man like Richard Croker. Just now, when the new Tammany leader, Charles F. Murphy, has presumably had a great deal to do with putting Tammany in power again, the question of the personal equation in leadership is more interesting than ever. It is true that Richard Croker is considered out of local politics in New York, but it will be many years before people will cease speculating on the real source of his wonderful influence. Most likely, Mr. Jerome hit it exactly.

An Old Shack for Broadway.

Most Pittsburghers who visit New York city were familiar with the rambling low building at the northeast corner of Forty-second street and Broadway. It used to be a drug store and haberdasher's on the street level, while up stairs there had been a billiard hall for many years. Frank C. Ives, who was regarded as a phenomenally good player a few years ago, but who died in the south while still a young man, was at one time the proprietor. Lately Slosson has been one of the proprietors and managers. When work began on the subway the edifice was taken down, with the express stipulation that it was to be replaced before January 1, 1904, exactly as it was originally. Every piece of the building was numbered and stored away. Now it is being rebuilt, offering the remarkable spectacle of a structure which sets all present building laws at defiance going up in the heart of the brilliant "great white way." The building department is chewing its nails, but, as technically the house is not new, it cannot do anything about it.

He Wanted to Play With Them.

Some burlesque performers of opulent charms were singing Anna Held's old song, "Won't you come and play with me?" in a Brooklyn theater last night. They did it so fetchingly that a young man in a private box who had wandered over from Manhattan accepted the invitation and stepped upon the stage. A comedian playing a policeman hammered the intruder with his club and both men were arrested.

Like Aunt Dinah.

Twice within a week have Broadway hotels been disturbed by an internal alarm of fire because the chef was careless with his grease pan. It was a common crime of the old-fashioned cook in skirts and bandanna to throw a lot of grease on the cook stove and scare the "white folks" out of their wits, but the dainty French chef is assumed to know better. In both cases in the Broadway hotels there was an incipient panic, but the chef and his assistants managed to calm things down before they became too obstreperous.

The Law on Ears.

It is believed there will be no legal objection to the cutting off of a man's ear and sticking it on another man's head on Tuesday. This is the case of car-grafting about which so much has been said in many cities in the last few weeks. The doctor who intends to do the job has got his man, who will part with his ear for $5,000, and the patient who will pay for it is ready to submit himself to the operation. It has been questioned whether a person has a legal right to submit to mutilation for gain, and whether a surgeon will not commit a crime in doing the work. The consensus of opinion is that the law cannot interfere and probably by this time next week the grafting process will be well under way, with about a million surgeons watching it through the medical papers to see how it comes out.

These Soothing City Sounds.

A woman is in the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital, insane from the incessant noise of the elevated trains. At least that is the diagnosis. She came from Russia only four months ago. In the country district in which she lived there were no clashing noises, the most discordant and insistent being the clanking of cowbells and the occasional oath of some busy Nihilist manufacturing a bomb for the benefit of the czar. The trains rushing by her tenement room on the Second avenue division of the "L" wore her nerves to a frazzle. In course of time she imagined she was a train herself, and when she began to slam imaginary gates and yell in broken English, "Step lively," it was decided to place her in the hospital. It is hoped she will recover now that she is out of earshot of the trains.

Will Air Houses for New Duchess.

Her grace, the dowager duchess of Roxburghe, sailed for England yesterday on the Cunard liner Campania. She was here for the wedding of her son, the duke, to May Goelet. Now she has gone back to have their home ready for them when they decide to go to it, after a few weeks of jollity on this side. They will stay for the horse show, of course.

A Defeated Warrior.

This was the time that a prisoner did not get away from Governors island. A soldier had been confined in Castle William for a long time for some military offense and would have been free in two months. He lacked patience and tried to escape in an officer's old uniform. He was caught at the ferry landing and sent back at the point of an ugly-looking bayonet. A prisoner escaped from Castle William and got clear away a few weeks ago. That has made the guard on the island doubly vigilant.

Tube Travel Soon.

It is rather exasperating to know that the rapid transit subway will be ready for business about the middle of next month and yet that there will be no public travel on it until March or April. One trouble is that the power house is not ready. That must be charged up to Sam Parks and his followers, who amused themselves by striking throughout most of the summer. Another reason for delay in opening the road is that it will be necessary to test the cars and "break in" the motormen and guards who will be employed. This sounds feasible. With the recollection of the Paris horror pretty fresh, New Yorkers would rather wait a few weeks longer for their subway road than incur more chances than are necessary. It must be allowed that every precaution for safety seems to be taken by the managers, and for this the community is duly grateful.

A Defeated Candidate.

Mr. Bryan says he is going to deliver $10,000 worth of lectures, even if he doesn't get the Bennett money. Maybe it would be best for everybody concerned to give him the money and he will call off the lectures.—Denver Republican.

The Real Need.

About all that Senator Gorman needs to win a strong candidate is the ability to get votes.—Chicago News.

IT IS TO SMILE.

Wife—How much have you got?—Boston Free Press.

Nipper—What would you say if I asked you for a loan of $10?
Dipper—I'm quite sure my sorrow would be too deep for words. It's no hand for literature, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Strongmind—Don't you think woman's hand has played an important part in the history of civilization?

"You look like a regular hero sometimes," remarked the fond mother.
"Yes," replied the young man, "I've been a regular hero to a number of girls."—Chicago Tribune.

The Obstruction Party.

The Cuban reciprocity bill is not the only measure Gorman is proposing to obstruct. Under his guidance an effort will be made to defeat the Isthmian canal by opposing a new treaty with the republic of Panama. This aim will not be done directly, but indirectly. It will be claimed that opposition is not to the construction of a canal, but to constructing one by way of Panama. In other words, the rejected Nicaraguan project is to be espoused by the Democrats for the purpose of preventing the Republican policy from being carried into effect. Gorman's proposal is to compel the country that he and his party associates can better what the Spooner act to secure the Isthmian canal, more than its friends and party associates do. It is a good deal of a proposition, and we venture the prediction that it will break down early in the game. It is too late to attempt to revive the Nicaraguan project, and it will be obviously futile to hope of acquiring moral force for the anti-Panama assault upon the president and his advisers by enlisting the Nicaraguan boomers in its behalf. The alliance "gives away" the whole movement hopelessly.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Reed Smoot, the junior senator from Utah who is an apostle in the Mormon church, will not be able to retain his seat without a contest of a struggle, but the outlook for his retention is not good, unless the charges made against him can be proved. If nothing beyond the fact that he is a Mormon apostle is established, and that is admitted, his exclusion will hardly appeal to a majority unless it can be shown that his allegiance to the church is superior to that of his allegiance to the national government. Then there is a strong sentiment against polygamists as legislators, though they have repeatedly been in congress.—Philadelphia Press.

The struggle which may possibly end in the expulsion of Senator Smoot is to be made along new lines. The religious question, that of polygamy, is to give place to the smarter political one—American citizenship vs. Mormon citizenship which recognizes no civil authority higher than itself, thereby rendering the senator's oath of allegiance to the United States null and void. Mr. Smoot, as an apostle in the Mormon church, has beyond question taken this "Endowment House" oath, and, while not an open polygamist, cannot, without forswearing the creed of a lifetime, vow to uphold the welfare of the nation before that of his religion. He is, therefore, so much disqualified to hold an office under the United States as though an anarchist, who recognizes no form of government.—Harrisburg Patriot.

DISCIPLINING OF A COMBINER

West End Republican Club Drops Councilman Jones from Membership Roll.

WARD COMMITTEE IS TO ACT

Small Vote Polled in the State Places the Election of Democratic National Delegates and Presidential Electors in the Hands of a Few Men.

Thirty-sixth ward Republicans have taken the initiative in disciplining members of the select council combine. The West End Republican club has expelled Select Councilman Evan Jones. The ward committee, in which he holds membership, is preparing to take similar action.

Jones was formerly a Republican and has represented his ward in councils for a number of years. During the summer he went over to the Bigelow machine and made it possible to elect its candidates for city clerks. Then the West End Republican club, composed of the stalwart Republican workers in that part of the city, was disposed to drop him from its membership roll. In the county election Jones worked for the Citizens-Democratic ticket. Thursday night, at a largely attended meeting of the club, Jones was dropped from the membership and so notified by the officials of the organization.

Jones is a member of the ward Republican association. It has not held a meeting since the election, but will do so either this week or next. The committeemen generally are in favor of declaring his seat vacant. His action in councils and in the recent election has demonstrated that he is not loyal to the Republican organization.

Spoils Jones' Plans.

The action of the West End Republican club has spoiled the plans of Jones. He had hoped to secure the regular Republican nomination for select councilmen and also go on the Bigelow ticket. During the last week two meetings with Citizens managers have been held in his saloon. If he is a candidate for re-election, he will now have to be content with the Bigelow indorsement. Even this may be beyond his reach, as there are two factions in the Citizens party in the ward and one of them is not friendly to Jones.

The Republicans expect to nominate Charles Cavett for select councilman. He now has a seat in the lower branch and has proved himself a strong man in the ward. The successor of Cavett is still in doubt.

The Soffel family is having trouble making up a councilmanic slate in the Thirty-second ward. Jacob Soffel, the present councilman, who broke the "Orphans'" pledge and turned in for the Bigelow machine ticket in the county election, wants to be the candidate for select councilman. The seat is now held by Henry Poke and he insists that the Soffels support him for re-election.

The Republican candidate for select councilman in the Thirty-second will be James Reed. He came within 58 votes of defeating Poke the last time, when the Bigelow machine is credited with spending $11,000 in the ward. The Republicans are satisfied that Reed can win in February.

The Republican association of the First district of the Twenty-sixth ward on Saturday night indorsed the candidacy of William F. Fisher for common councilman. Fisher is a clerk at Republican headquarters and lives in the First district. John F. Semmelrock, the present common councilman, will also be a candidate for re-election.

A Few Men Given Much Power.

Under the rules of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania, national delegates and presidential electors are chosen by the delegates to the state convention from each congressional district. Representation in the state convention is based on the vote cast at the last preceding state election. This year the Democratic poll was extremely small, so that the selection of national delegates and electors will be placed in the hands of very few men.

One state delegate is allowed for each 1,000 votes or a majority fraction of 1,000 votes. This will give Allegheny 16 delegates. Representation in national conventions is based on the number of congressmen, two delegates and two alternates being apportioned for each representative. Each congressional district is also allowed one presidential elector. As there are four congressional districts in this county, eight national delegates, eight alternates and four electors are to be chosen. The 16 representatives in the state convention from the county will make these selections. The man or faction who secures control of the state delegates will also control the delegation to the national convention.

Same Condition Throughout the State.

The decrease in the Democratic vote throughout the state puts the control of the national delegates and electors in almost all of the congressional districts into the hands of a few people. In Philadelphia, where there are 12 national delegates, a similar number of alternates and six electors, 40 state delegates make the selections.

In the western end of Pennsylvania the number of state delegates in each congressional district is as follows:

Nineteenth—Bedford, 2; Blair, 4; Cambria, 8. Twenty-first—McKean, 1; Cameron, 1; Clearfield, 6; Centre, 2. Twenty-second—Westmoreland, 5; Butler, 1. Twenty-third—Somerset, 1; Fayette, 2; Greene, 2. Twenty-fourth—Washington, 3; Beaver, 1; Lawrence, 1. Twenty-fifth—Erie, 3; Crawford, 2. Twenty-seventh—Armstrong, 2; Indiana, 1; Jefferson, 2; Clarion, 2. Twenty-eighth—Mercer, 2; Venango, 1; Warren, 1; Forest, 1; Elk, 2. Westmoreland, Cambria, Washington, Clearfield and Erie are in a position to capture all of the national delegates and electors apportioned to their districts.

Four national delegates-at-large and two electors are chosen by the state convention. The national committeeman from Pennsylvania is elected by a majority vote of the national delegates from the state.

The Sixth ward Democratic executive committee will meet tomorrow night at Democratic headquarters, 1041 Forbes street, to arrange plans for the coming campaign.

ALCOHOLIC STIMULANTS CURE BRAIN FAG VICTIMS

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(Special Cable.)—Brain fag to be regarded as the distinguishing feature of life in the new century. This is a question seriously propounded this morning by the Daily Mail, which says it has received hundreds of letters indicating the prevalence of the disease among all classes, the chief symptoms of which are a pain around the sockets of the eyes and a physical condition so languid and lifeless that only the use of alcoholic stimulants restore the body to its normal condition. This is brain fag, and according to the Mail's correspondence, is chiefly found in the higher strata of society.

TYPHOID LURKS IN WATER SUPPLY

Impure Beverage Responsible for Loss of Many Lives Annually.

QUESTION A PRESSING ONE

Government Takes Cognizance of Recent Epidemics and Sets Machinery to Work to Aid Municipalities in Solution of Problem—To Study Surface Waters.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.

With the growth of population in this country the pollution of our water supplies is a subject of increasing interest. The typhoid germ is at home now in almost every stream. Death may lurk in any fountain. No festal wine cup is more full of possible horrors than charity's cold cup of water. Year after year zymotic scourges have claimed their quota of victims from metropolitan areas where the living are so many that the dead are scarcely missed. It seems to require epidemics like those of last year at Ithaca, N. Y., and Palo Alto, Cal., to rouse the public to definite realization of the connections between death and infection from contaminated water resources. The spectacle of a special class of people like the students of Cornell and Stanford universities—picked men, whose lives are of high value—stricken by such an unseen foe, moves the world to pity and to a sense of its responsibilities. It is as if the old myth of the Minotaur had been revived—the creature that would be satisfied with no lesser tribute than the yearly sacrifice of a state's strongest youths and fairest maidens. Especially timely, then, will it seem to many to learn that the United States geological survey has recently established as a part of its organization a hydro-economic section for the purpose of conducting systematic investigation of the quality of surface and ground waters in the United States. While it is not purposed that this section shall enter the field of hygienic investigation, the economic phase of the work is correlated with sanitation, and hygienic data, collected in the progress of the work will be available on demand of those interested. Mr. Marshall O. Leighton, hydrographer, has been employed to devote his time and energies to this subject.

Collection of Data.

Mr. Leighton's plans are well matured and have already been extensively tried. The fundamental feature of the work is the collection of all analytical data and its arrangement and classification for ready reference and use. One class of analyses includes principally the inorganic determinations made for the purpose of showing the proportion of various harmful salts in any given water supply. These determinations are, for example, of especial importance to all interests involving the use of steam boilers. Normal water has a certain action upon metals, iron being one of those most easily affected. The use of water which contains ingredients that intensify this action upon iron or that are deposited in the form of sediments within the boiler of course unduly shortens the period of usefulness of the boiler. Water which held in solution a large quantity of sulphate of lime and magnesia was once used on the Nebraska division of the Union Pacific railroad, and the consequent deposits of sulphates on the inside of the boilers brought the expense of cleaning and repairing them up to $3,800 in two years, a sum equal to 3 cents per mile of the distance run. In addition to this the total mileage of each engine was reduced one-half.

This same class of determinations is of benefit to manufacturers who are obliged to select waters which will not be detrimental to manufactured products that are by result of finely balanced chemical processes, for foreign substances in the water may prevent the necessary dissolution of ingredients or may hasten it undesirably.

The ordinary sanitary analyses constitute an important part of the analytical work. These determine not only such features as color, turbidity and hardness, but the amount of organic matter in the water and its state of oxidation.

Of Value to Cities.

These analyses may be made of enormous practical benefit to municipalities and to institutions seeking domestic water supplies. Not only may they assist in establishing standards for drinking water that are more precise than those prescribed in any other branch of water utilization, but they may aid in the solution of other problems. Health is menaced not merely by impurities in the water we drink, but by those included in the ice dissolved in the water. Even water used for irrigating the gardens where our vegetables are grown may be a source of disease and the air we breathe may be vitiated by polluted waters. Too often the establishment of parks that might be breathing places for dust-stifled city folk is made impossible by the foulness of the water flowing past available sites or standing stagnant nearby in natural reservoirs.

The second feature of hydro-economic work concerns the extension of the data collected by means of co-operative relations with numerous universities and state laboratories. By way of illustration mention might be made of a few of the numerous studies made for the geological survey by chemists and specialists on water values. Prof. F. C. Robinson of Bowdoin college, Brunswick, Me., carried on analytical work on Androscoggin and Penobscot rivers for the purpose of determining their value and industrial water supply. He aided in fixing the amount of damage to water, ice, fish and realty along these streams. Prof. William T. Sedgwick of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass., helped to determine the effect of strawboard refuse thrown into the rivers. Mr. W. H. Dean of Wilkesbarre, Pa., and Prof. W. B. Lindsay of Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., made chemical examinations of the waters of the Susquehanna, Lackawanna and Juniata rivers for the purpose of showing the effects of enormous quantities of acid waters and culm from the anthracite mines.

Other Collaborators.

Valuable hydro-economic work was done by numerous other collaborators, including Prof. William P. Mason of Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y.; Mr. George C. Whipple and Mr. Daniel D. Jackson of Mount Prospect laboratory, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Prof. E. M. Chamot of Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y.; Prof. Charles Wright Dodge of Rochester university, Rochester, N. Y.; Prof. Robert L. Sackett of Earlham college, Richmond, Ind.; Prof. C. J. Borgmeyer of St. Louis university, St. Louis, Mo.; Prof. Victor H. Gottschalk of the University of Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, Mo.; Prof. E. H. Bailey and Prof. Edward Bartow of the University of Kansas; Prof. George B. Frankforter, of the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., and Prof. Chase Palmer of Central university of Kentucky, Danville, Ky.

Various inquiries have shown that the damage done to riparian rights and allied water values by certain kinds of trade refuse amounts to many millions of dollars. This fact is all the more lamentable because the destruction is usually needless and because there is frequently much valuable material in the industrial waste that might be economically recovered.

The most important work of the hydro-economic section is the investigation of rapid field analysis. It is far more important to make a large number of comparatively rough determinations, and to average these, than to depend upon a few analyses made with great refinement. There is no doubt, too, that such an average represents more truly the exact condition of the water.

COUNTESS LONYAY MUST UNDERGO AN OPERATION

VIENNA, Nov. 15.—(Special Cable.)—Emperor Francis Joseph, who has always been exceedingly fond of his former daughter-in-law, ex-Princess Stephanie, the present Countess Lonyay, is very much worried about her condition, which is rapidly growing worse. The countess will within a few days have to submit to an operation of a very serious nature and it is hardly expected by those who know the condition of the patient that she will be able to survive the effects.

EMPEROR WILLIAM IS ALLOWED TO WHISPER

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—A bulletin issued today from the new palace at Potsdam regarding the condition of Emperor William, says the wound is nearly healed and that the emperor has been permitted to whisper freely since yesterday. The next bulletin will be issued Tuesday.

Twenty Shoe Factories Closed.

QUEBEC, Nov. 15.—Twenty boot and shoe factories in this city have closed down. The shutdown is due to trouble with the machinists, who have refused to abide by an agreement, made in 1901, creating a conciliation board. Five thousand operatives are affected by the shutdown.

TONS OF WILD HONEY FOUND IN CLEARFIELD WILDERNESS

Famous Forester Extracted 200 Pounds of Sweet from a Single Tree.

DELIGHTS OF BEE HUNTING

For Diversion the Honey Gatherers Occasionally Take Their Rifles and Shoot Deer—The Phenomenal Luck of Jim Brewer.

[From a Staff Correspondent.]
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEARFIELD, PA., Nov. 15.—When the Indian summer mists roll down from the heights of the Clearfield mountains and the white hand of winter touches the landscape of the upland wilderness, the echo of a greedy ax rings through the jack pine forests. From a blaze of "pitch" and dry leaves floats a hazy column of blue smoke. Standing in the warm glow of the fire a group of woodmen gaze anxiously toward the wavering top of a tree which suffers the smite of the glittering ax. Thus is heralded the opening of the wild honey season and thus the bee hunters go about their preliminary ravages.

Across the ridge in clarion notes rings the hunter's horn. The fleeing deer dashes on to his crossing, through the thickets and far away. The crack of a rifle causes no pause in the rhythmic regularity of the woodcutter's strokes. Bruin creeps out of his lair and through the endless reaches of laurel and bracken approvingly sniffs the intruders. The wild cat bows its back as it clambers over a rock and listens to the strange sound; but, unmindful of the deerslayers, the bears and the wildcats, the bee hunters continue their work, waiting with lighted torches for the tree to fall, when the signal will be given to stifle the insect workers and rob their stores of sweets in the hollow of the prostrate log.

Chopping Down the Bee Tree.

Great Stores of Honey.

A correspondent of The Gazette saw hundreds of pounds of honey which had been taken from the mountain bees during the last six weeks. No sport offers greater returns for the vacation seeker who ventures into the lonely glades of the Alleghanies. In the Punxsutawney camp on Cold Stream run, Jim Brewer, a noted forester, has stored half a ton of the rich brown honey of the wild bee. In one tree alone, 200 pounds was found.

Result of the Bee Hunters' Diversion.

A more phenomenal output of honey is probably not recorded. The combs were eight feet in length and the sweet stuff had turned to sugar, so thick and so hard that a hatchet was necessary in extracting it from the dark trunk of the tree.

The sun was sinking in crimson splendor behind the minarets of shaggy pines as Jim Brewer, with his ax on his shoulder, piloted his party to the famous tree. Through the unbroken forest and along the path of the windfall he steered the way with his pocket compass, walking as unerringly to the tree as a mariner directs his bark to a friendly port. With his ax he blazed the way in order that the return to camp might be made over the same trail. The hunters walk in single file, carrying guns, masks of mosquito netting and a big wash boiler with which to carry home the honey.

Trail to the Honey Tree.

A drive of three miles along a rough mountain road had not served to disorientate the hunters. Another mile on foot over logs and stumps, through laurel thickets and mossy bogs, served to give zest to the sport. It was strenuous life for the novice, but to Jim Brewer it was mere play. Jim had followed those bees over the same course and knew just where to find his tree.

At length he stopped and peered into the treetops ahead. In a dead tree that rose in the midst of a grove of hemlock and beech scores of bees were buzzing around a tiny knot hole about 40 feet from the ground.

"Here we are," said Jim, sinking his ax into the tree. A hollow echo from the bear swamp answered him.

The cutting of a bee tree when properly done requires experience and skill. In the thick forest care must be taken against lodging it in the branches of a neighboring tree. If the log falls across a stump there is danger of splitting the comb. All of these drawbacks, however, were overcome when Jim Brewer directed the work.

Two sturdy axmen took turns at chopping. Joe Baumgartner had learned the trick of tree-felling in the Jefferson county woods and was equally at home in the Clearfield wilderness. "Algy" McBride in the Cincinnati National League baseball team had acquired deft knack of bat swinging and every stroke sent a bit in this new play. Dave Brewer, famous for his ability as a woodchopper hunter in Punxsutawney, gathered pitch pine splinters from a lightning-shattered tree, and with his trusty jack-knife fashioned torches and honey paddles.

Two hours were spent in the chopping. When the tree began to waver the course was stamped for the fall. Brewer blinded a few of twigs, donned his mask and woolen gloves. In this outfit a dozen swarms of bees could do him no injury. Dave also protected himself with mask and gloves.

With a crash the tree at length came down. Jim and Dave each seized a torch of pine splinters and rushed toward the hole in the log where the angry bees were fighting for their liberty. Before the insects could escape, the torches were applied. In a few minutes the bees gave up the fight and turned to gorge themselves with honey. Heedless of the bees, Joe and Algy, with bare hands, take the ax and chop out a three-foot section of the log directly above the knot where the little workers had their entrance to the honey factory.

Smoking Out the Bees.

When the chip was taken out thousands of bees were exposed. These soon succumbed to the smoke and another three-foot section was chopped from the log. From this a washboiler was filled with honey and at least 75 pounds was left behind, a feast for a watchful bear that lived in the vicinity of the tree.

No sport equals that of bee hunting and no article on the camp's bill of fare will be more popular than the brown combs of wild honey. For diversion the bee hunters shoulder their Winchesters and shoot a deer. Up here in the wilds of Lawrence township game is still plentiful, and no surprise was expressed when 'Squire Shaw went out and shot a deer before breakfast and pitched the carcass on a tree beside the door of Lover's Lane. A few years ago the 'squire won fame as a nimrod by killing a bear that weighed 484 pounds.

The finding of bee trees is not the work of mere chance. In this Jim Brewer shows particular skill. On a plate in the camp on sunny days he exposes a pan containing honey comb and sweetened water. All the working bees within a radius of two miles will visit the pan and help themselves to the copious supply of honey and wax. Jim watches the direction the bees take in returning to their hives and follows with his compass. Half a mile away he again exposes his "bait." The bees soon gather around and again he gets the direction. In this way every bee tree in the neighborhood can be located.

NOW IS THE TIME.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil now. Not next week or next month, but now. You need it to put fat on your bones and strength in your body to stand the cold and trying weather of the next few months.

Nine-tenths of the population would be benefited by taking Scott's Emulsion regularly three times a day for a month or more every fall to fortify and strengthen the system against the cold and constant changes that occur through the winter. The benefit is particularly marked with young, delicate children. No food that they can take begins to compare with Scott's Emulsion.

Pure cod liver oil is scarce but if you get Scott's Emulsion you'll be sure to get only the purest and best oil.

MURDERED MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN A CELLAR

Mystery Surrounds Violent Death at Greensburg and Two Arrests Are Made.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 15.—Hidden among rubbish in the cellar of the home of Lewis Gordon, in Laird street, Scott Hamilton, employed at the Hempfield mines of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company, was found in an unconscious condition early this morning. Hamilton was suffering from the effects of a blow on the head and died at the Westmoreland hospital this afternoon without regaining consciousness. Two suspects were arrested this evening, Joseph Colligan, 50 years old, and his nephew, Daniel Colligan, 25 years old.

Hamilton is alleged to have spent a portion of last night at the home of the elder Colligan. Neighbors say that a drunken brawl took place and that Daniel Colligan and Hamilton fought, although Michael Colligan, a son of Joseph Colligan, says that Hamilton was not at their home during the night.

Blood stains have been found on the sidewalk leading to the Gordon home and to the entrance way of the cellar in the rear. An effort was made to cover up the condition of Hamilton, and the finding of the body was not reported until this morning by Lewis Gordon, who said that his son had gone to the cellar to chop wood and had discovered the body among the rubbish. Gordon said that none of the members of his family knew how Hamilton had been placed in the cellar.

Daniel Colligan was arrested at his home in East Greensburg. When taken into custody he was told it was on a charge of assault and battery and is said to have asked, "Did Hamilton sue me for hitting him."

MOSELEY WILL COPY CIVIC FEDERATION

Englishman Fancies Hanna Idea and Will Recommend It to His Countrymen.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Having brought over successively an industrial and an educational commission to this country, Alfred Moseley's mind is now turned toward the possibilities of copying the Civic Federation and adapting it to the needs of Great Britain.

He said tonight that he intends to see Senator Hanna, whose interest in the Civic Federation has become well known in Europe, and to whom he paid a high tribute as an American, a man, and an employer. Already Mr. Moseley has laid before several English workingmen's unions the idea of a Civic Federation for Great Britain and when he returns to England he hopes to see the matter better understood.

Ten members of the educational committee whom he brought to this country have returned and the others will sail in a few days. Mr. Moseley will remain here two weeks when he will leave for a trip to Florida, Cuba, Jamaica, Mexico and California.

By Easter Mr. Moseley expects to have collated and printed the views of the committee of educators who as his guests have been investigating American schools. He said tonight:

"In England we have just had a new school act passed. To every person identified with educational matters in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales will be sent a copy of the report of this educational commission. The thirst for education in this country is tremendous."

CURED A HORSE OF LOCKJAW IN ATTEMPT TO KILL ANIMAL

(Special Telegram to The Gazette.)

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 15.—What is believed to be a very important discovery was made in an accidental way by Dr. J. A. Lee, a veterinary surgeon of this city, yesterday, while trying to kill a horse afflicted with lockjaw. William Wells took a valuable horse to Dr. Lee's stables for treatment for lockjaw. Mr. Wells and Dr. Lee finally agreed that the horse could not recover and decided to kill the animal.

Dr. Lee accordingly injected a dram of prussic acid into the horse's jugular vein. No change was noticed, notwithstanding the deadly character of the poison and after waiting awhile a dram and a half of the acid was injected into the horse's traches. This was enough to kill twenty horses.

But instead of dying, the horse is recovering and tonight is standing in the stall eating hay. The muscles of the jaw have relaxed and Dr. Lee believes that a permanent cure has been effected.

SIGNED NOTE INSTEAD OF MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE

An Ohio Farmer Buncoed Out of $1,000 by a Supposed Clergyman.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 15.—A bunco game is reported from Bacon Ridge, this county. A clerical-looking man arrived at the residence of Max Stevens, a well-known farmer, and inquired how far it was to the Rev. H. Y. Leiper's residence. The stranger was informed of the distance, and hesitated about going on, saying that he was also a clergyman, a friend of the Rev. Mr. Leiper and wanted to reach his home but did not care to go so far after dark. The stranger appeared to be all he claimed and when Stevens was asked by him, if he could remain at his home all night, the permission was readily granted by the farmer, who was a close friend of the Rev. Mr. Leiper and a member of his church.

The stranger gave his name as Mr. Jones and said he had known Mr. Leiper at school. Next morning after prayers and breakfast, Jones prepared to journey, but just before he was ready to depart a couple, a well-dressed young man and woman, arrived at the house and inquired the way to Mr. Leiper's. The man said they wanted to be married. When told the distance was about eight miles, they, too, hesitated, saying they feared they could not get back in time to make a train.

The couple talked for some time about the long distance to the minister's and finally the farmer mentioned that a clergyman was stopping at his house, and he might be able to perform the ceremony. This was satisfactory to the prospective bride and groom. The benediction was pronounced, the fee paid over and the bride and groom were about to depart when Jones suddenly remembered that he had not filled out the marriage certificate. It was handed over to him and he filled it out, then turning to the farmer asked him to sign it as a witness. He consented and signed his name and his wife, who had also witnessed the ceremony, did likewise.

Nothing more was thought about the affair until some time later when Stevens received a notification from a local bank that his note for $1,000 was due and he hurried in to see what was meant. In signing the marriage certificate he and his wife had unconsciously signed a note.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Councils from Western Pennsylvania and Ohio Meet at Sharon.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SHARON, PA., Nov. 15.—The first anniversary of the Sharon council, Knights of Columbus, was celebrated here today. Fully 600 visiting Knights were in the city and were guests of the local council. Councils from Pittsburgh, the Beaver valley, New Castle, Youngstown, Cleveland, Warren, Meadville, Titusville, Erie and Oil City, took part in the celebration. The services began with high mass at Sacred Heart church at 11:30 o'clock, the Rev. Father McAdam being the celebrant, assisted by the Rev. Father P. J. Cranney.

The exemplifications of the second and third degrees on a large class took place in Leslie hall. The degree work was done by Patrick H. Lynch, worthy state deputy, of Philadelphia. Immediately following the degree work the Knights proceeded to Buhl Independent Rifles hall, where a banquet was given. The hall was elaborately decorated and festooned with yellow and white, the local Knights' colors.

Over 1,200 persons sat down to the banquet. The Rev. Father J. H. McAdam was toastmaster and he made the opening remarks on "Welcome to Sharon." Responses were made as follows: "What Is Our Mission?" Patrick H. Lynch; "Knights I Have Met Abroad," Hugh J. Ward, Pittsburgh; "When Knighthood Was in Flower," Patrick J. Brady, supreme treasurer; "What We Hope to Attain," Andrew J. Carr, Duquesne council; "The Initiate," the Rev. Father S. Assenmacher, Sharon; "Our Glorious Country," Thomas McNamara, Youngstown, O.

LUTHERAN CHURCH DEDICATED AT IRWIN

Ceremonies Were Imposing and Addresses Were Made in Several Languages.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

IRWIN, PA., Nov. 15.—The new Lutheran church was dedicated today with imposing ceremonies. There was no services in churches of other denominations in the morning and the church-going population of this town and surrounding country joined in the dedicatory exercises. After the consecration services prescribed by the Lutheran ritual, the Rev. D. H. Geissinger, D. D., president of the Pittsburgh synod, preached the sermon.

In the afternoon the local pastors and a number from out of town took part in a general service. Addresses in English were made by the Rev. E. C. Peston of the United Presbyterian church; the Rev. J. W. G. Fast of the Methodist Episcopal church; in German by the Rev. P. Doerr of Adamsburg; in Swedish by the Rev. O. Chilleen of Irwin, and in Slavonic by the Rev. D. Kvacala of Braddock.

At the evening services the Rev. Mr. Miller of Greensburg delivered the sermon. The new church was filled to its utmost capacity at each service. No attempt was made to raise a stipulated amount, and the Rev. S. K. Herbster, pastor, said that no appeal would be made, but notwithstanding, the voluntary contributions were over $2,000.

The new church is the handsomest in town. It is of pressed brick with a handsome tower on one side. The auditorium is semi-circular, with all windows of stained glass of special design. The three main windows are memorials. The Junior Lutheran league donated a center window. The dome in the center of the ceiling is of stained glass.

GYMNASIUM IS PLANNED FOR THE PITTSBURGH HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES

George W. Gosser Trying to Have It Built at Friendship Park.

IS SOLICITING HELP

Young Millionaire Interested and May Furnish Money for Its Erection.

THE PARK MAY BE RETAINED

An effort is being made to give the athletes of the Pittsburgh High schools an up-to-date gymnasium. George W. Gosser, who for years has been one of the best friends the schoolboys have had in athletics, is trying to have it built at Friendship park, which if his plans materialize, will make the park one of the best in this part of the state for athletic purposes.

Gosser is a member of the central board of education and is a former chairman of the athletic committee. He has taken the plan of furnishing the boys with a gymnasium to a prominent young millionaire of this city. His name at present is held back until the announcement is made that the building is a reality.

Gosser also will endeavor to induce the board of education to retain Friendship park when the site is purchased for a new high school building and make it much better for athletics than it is now. If the board of education votes to retain the park it is then proposed to build the gymnasium on that part of the park which faces Friendship avenue, which is back of the home plate on the baseball diamond. The board holds 215 feet back, which at present is not fenced in, and on this ground the building would be erected.

The playing field would also be put in better shape. The present board fence would be razed and in its place a beautiful brick wall, eight feet high, would be erected. On the wall there would be wire netting an additional eight feet all the way. Other minor improvements would be made and the care of the park would likely be in the charge of the High School Athletic association.

As a gymnasium is added to the High school's list of athletic features an instructor would also be engaged. The person hired would be one who has a general knowledge of athletics in which the schools are engaged. He would be an assistant in coaching the football and baseball teams and his chief duty, in the spring would be to turn out a good field and track team for which there is excellent material in High schools.

Mr. Gosser is confident he will be successful in getting the gymnasium for the boys. Said he yesterday: "The boys at High school deserve a gymnasium. They have a good start and the quarters at Friendship park are inadequate to their needs. They have shown an inclination to turn out for the different teams and this should be fostered."

GEORGE N. GOSSER.
He is trying to get a big gymnasium for Pittsburgh High School Athletes.

MILLER WINS FIGHT.

Beats Peter Buser of Cambria in Four Rounds Through Ring Generalship.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Early this morning Glen Miller of Bridgeport, Pa., put Peter Buser of Cambria to sleep in a four round fight. It was a hammer and tongs affair for the first two rounds, but in the part of the four rounds Buser seemed a sure winner. Miller clinching to avoid punishment. Ring generalship won Miller the fight. Buser was taking the wind out of him and affording Miller a chance to hit him several heavy blows in the last round.

The Railroad Junior team would like to arrange games with Standards, Allegheny Reserves, Alert Lotheads, Tarentum, Manchesters, Lafayettes, Watsons and all good 15-pound teams. Edward C. Mueller will manage the team this season, and James Gross has been selected as captain. The team expects to make a fine showing the coming season. Cahoon and Stewart of last year's team will again be seen at their old positions as forwards. Gross will play center and McIntyre and Jones will play guards. For games address E. C. Mueller, care of Pennsylvania Company Emp. Association, Sedgwick street, Allegheny.

PRINCETON ELEVEN ELECTS NEW CAPTAIN THIS WEEK

Foulke and Short Lead in Race for the Honor—Choice to Be Made at a Banquet.

LATEST FROM OTHER COLLEGES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 15.—Most of the Tiger football players returned to Princeton today, and, with the exception of Kafer, who has a wrenched shoulder, are in good condition. The endurance the Princeton players showed in the game yesterday and the excellent condition, maintained, in fact, throughout the entire season, reflect great honor on Jim Robinson, the trainer.

The next captain will be elected at the banquet for the team, which will probably be held this week. The choice seems to rest between Foulke and Short, with somewhat of a preference for the former. Both have played on the team for three years, and, although Foulke was prevented by injuries from participating in the game yesterday, his good work in former games will place his chances for the position on a high basis.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Making excuses for Yale's defeat by Princeton forms no part of Yale football coaches' sentiments. While they were in no frame of mind to enjoy the glorious exhibition given by Capt. John Dewitt of Princeton, no Yale man could help admiring it, and there is no disposition among the losers of yesterday's gridiron contest to withhold praise from the victors or to diminish their glory.

At Yale the intercollegiate football championship for 1903 is universally conceded to the Tigers, who, by winning the baseball championship in June and the gridiron premier honors in November, robbed Yale of both championships, which seemed all but won by the blue, and were captured by the Orange and Black in the ninth inning of the deciding baseball game in New York city and the last minute of the football battle here yesterday.

Kinney was soundly scored by the coaches after the game for poor playing and cried like a child. Rumors of a shakeup in the team were frequent tonight, but it can be stated on good authority that there will be no change if Bloomer is able to resume his place at right guard. Yale will play Harvard exactly as the team played the Tigers, Bowman and Owsley being given a place late in the game.

CRESCENT HOCKEY TEAM ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Interscholastics Begin This Week to Try Out Candidates—"Big League" Holds Meeting.

The Crescent hockey team was reorganized yesterday by the election of Henry Carr, manager and Carl Lackiln captain. The Crescents belong to the Duquesne Garden Amateur league. There are many candidates for places on the seven this year and the prospect for winning the championship is bright.

The interscholastic league will this week begin to try out its candidates. Shadyside and East Liberty will get a start over High school, as the candidates for that team will still be practicing football until after the game with Kiski. Capt. "Pewee" Runton of East Liberty academy, will take his candidates to the gymnasium for the first tryout.

The Western Pennsylvania league officials held a meeting yesterday at Duquesne garden. The schedule and playing rules were adopted, which was the only business done.

News from the Colleges.

The Hill School club, at Harvard, has elected officers as follows: President, F. W. Bird '04; vice president, Sayre Gray '04; secretary and treasurer, R. T. Potts '05.

F. W. Poate, ex-'04, Cornell, who is now in China, recently won the one-mile championship of Far Eastern China at an open track meet. Other universities of this country were represented.

The Athletic association at Cornell has decided to build racing shells as a commercial enterprise and will undertake to meet all demands for boats. The demand for Cornell boats is large. Harvard will purchase a new eight-oared shell for use in her varsity race against Yale next spring, and the university of Washington has contracted for a four-oared shell. The Ariel Boat club of Baltimore and the Grand Rapids Boat club have ordered several boats and half a dozen more orders are being negotiated.

At a meeting the Cornell Sophomore class voted that the following names should be recommended to the athletic council for the award of numerals: Track—L. Arnold, J. C. Hemingway, R. E. Marsh, D. C. Munson, G. G. Underhill, C. D. Wessen; also the following men who received their numerals last year: L. Ashburner, E. Cairns, J. B. Philips, H. S. Rowland, R. C. Turner, F. G. Wallis, J. J. # M'KINLEY HAD A BRILLIANT SEASON

Won Five Fine Races on Grand Circuits, and May Contest for Championship.

GREEN HORSES DOING WELL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—McKinley may ultimately be a contender for trotting gelding championship honors. On the grand circuit this year, including the Lexington meeting, he won five brilliant races and closed the season reducing his mark of 2:16½, made last year, to 2:07¼. His winning performances at the big meetings were: Readville, Mass., August 26, won 2:10 class, 2 in 3, in 2:12¾, 2:13; Readville, Mass., September 15, won 2:11 class 2 in 3, in 2:07¼, 2:08¼; Columbus, O., September 23, won 2:11 class, 3 in 5, in 2:07¼, 2:07½, 2:07¾; Lexington, Ky., October 10, won 2:11 class, 2 in 3, in 2:09¼, 2:08¼; Lexington, Ky., October 16, won 2:10 class, 3 in 5, in 2:07¾, 2:08¼, 2:09¾. He lost the first heat of the 2:10 class at Readville to Thankful in 2:13½; the first heat of 2:11 class, at Readville, to Belle Kuser, in 2:08; the first heat at Columbus, to Dr. Strong, in 2:10½; the first heat in 2:09 class at Lexington, to Masette, in 2:09¾, and the second to Belle Kuser, in 2:09. He was beaten in the 2:10 class at Providence, won by Hawthorne, and at both Hartford and Oakley was defeated by Dr. Strong; but at Lexington later he beat the gray horse most decisively.

John Mc., the champion 4-year-old of the season, timed in the Walnut Hall cup at the late Breeders' association meeting, a mile in 2:08¾, has gone into winter quarters here. Trainer Milan says he retires without a pimple on him and he looks for him to rank among the biggest winners on the turf in 1904. He has trotted in races a half-dozen heats in as good at 2:10 this season, but retires with his old mark of 2:17¼, made in 1902, as a 3-year-old.

Of his old guard next season Scott Hudson will campaign Jay McGregor, 2:08; Belle Kuser, 2:08; Hawthorne, 2:09¾; Lady Gail Hamilton, 2:11¾, as a 3-year-old in 1902, while Dr. Strong, Nervolo, 2:04¼, and also Tertimin, Tregantle and Ilive, none of which he raced this year. Hudson has several promising green pacers in his stable for next season, but his trotting timber of the 2:10 variety is at present very scant, and, unless he can during the winter secure a strong candidate for the big show class purses, he will hardly in 1904 lead the winning drivers of America in money won by his stable, as he has now for three consecutive seasons.

Of sensational green horses in this vicinity all those named below have scored trials in the last 10 days, which mark them for 2:10 class honors next season.

Dr. Time, trotter, owned by C. C. Harris and trained by W. W. Evans, 2:12¼; Nancy H., pacer, trained by Clem Beachy, Jr., 2:06; Florence Wilton, pacer, trained by Charles Hissey, 2:07; Marion Lee, trotter, owned by C. C. Harris, trained by W. W. Evans, 2:12¾; Emma Hoyte, trotter, trained by Clem Beachy, Jr., 2:09; Blue Blood, trotter, trained by Irwin Ralley, 2:11; Angle, trotter, trained by W. F. Freeman, 2:06¾; bay gelding, by Nighthawk, trained by Clem Beachy, Jr., 2:12.

No season can be recalled here when green trotters and pacers of extreme speed were so numerous as this year, and such horses make the 2:10 performer of other days look very cheap. Of 2-year-olds, prospective candidates for 3-year-old Futurity honors in 1904, the colt Bardensas, by Expedition, 2:15¾, dam Bardstown, by Red Wilkes, in Charles Hussey's stable, has shown the best, going two trials recently in 2:23¾ and 2:23. If good weather continues this youngster is expected by his trainer to go a mile under 2:20 before he is laid over until next year.

Hawthorne, 2:06¾, the largest money winning mare of the year, is booked at present by her owner, B. L. Nash, to be bred in the spring next year, and only raced during the months of July and August in 1904. She will be mated with Rhythmic, 2:06¾.

The dam of Onward Silver, 2:05¼, the fastest stallion now in Kentucky, is safe in foal again this year to Oratorio, 2:12. Cresceus and John A. McKerron are the only stallions, living or dead, that have trotted a faster mile than Onward Silver, as his recent mark ties that of Directum, also 2:05¼.

THE DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Mary Gormley.

Mrs. Mary Gormley died yesterday at her home, No. 7 Steuben street, Elliott borough, after having been an invalid for several years. She was 73 years old. Mrs. Gormley and her husband, the late James Gormley, settled in what is now Elliott borough about 35 years ago. Mr. Gormley was a member of the river coal operating firm of Wettengel & Gormley. Mrs. Gormley was a member of the Carnegie Presbyterian church, and until she became feeble was always prominent in church work. She is survived by her son, W. Gormley of Chartiers township, and Mrs. Wettengel, whose husband, Harry C. Wettengel, is treasurer of the Central Trust company. Funeral services will be held at the house tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Mrs Margaret Thompson.

Mrs. Margaret Thompson, aged 72 years, of Oakdale, died Saturday night at 7 o'clock at the residence of her granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret McMasters Wilson, No. 1429 Sheffield street, Aleigheny, of Bright's disease. Mrs. Thompson had been ill for some time and a month ago she left the home of her son in Oakdale to go to Allegheny, where she expected to improve. She is survived by her granddaughter, her son Florence of Oakdale, two nephews, William Price and Charles Price, both of this city, and a sister in the west. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 p. m. at No. 1429 Sheffield street, the Rev. Dr. Lindsay of the North Presbyterian church officiating.

Mrs. Ann Martin.

Mrs. Ann Martin, a well-known and prominent resident of Allegheny, died last night at her home, No. 21 Observatory avenue, in her 83rd year. Until 10 o'clock Saturday night Mrs. Martin was in full possession of all her faculties, physical and mental, but after being stricken she failed rapidly. She was born in Scotland and came to America with her parents when young. In 1841 she was married to Samuel Martin, who died in 1892, at the age of 88. She lived in the Fourth ward, Allegheny, for many years and at her late residence since 1892. Mrs. Martin was a charter member of the First United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. She is survived by seven children, Capt. William Martin, government engineer at the Davis island dam; John, Samuel, James, Mrs. Mary Irwin and Misses Margaret and Ann Martin.

Charlotte E. Uffington.

The body of Miss Charlotte E. Uffington arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday from Aurora, Ill., and will be buried from the chapel of H. Samson on Sixth avenue, at 10 o'clock today. Miss Uffington was a former resident of Allegheny, but five years ago she moved to Aurora, where she made her home with a niece. She was 84 years old, was born in Belleville, Va., and went to Allegheny when young. She was a member of the old Passavant church. The services today will be conducted by the Rev. D. M. Pattock. Miss Uffington is survived by one sister, Mrs. W. U. Smith, Sr., of Carnegie.

Mrs. Marie H. Verner.

Mrs. Marie H. Verner died yesterday in Hartford, Conn. She was the widow of James D. Verner of Pittsburgh, since whose death several years ago she had lived in South Windsor, Conn. She was born 75 years ago in that town. In 1849 she was married in New Haven and immediately removed to her husband's home in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Elizabeth Y. Swartz, Mrs. Maria M. Linsley, Miss Nannie S. Verner and Henry W. Verner, her children, all of Pittsburgh, survive her. The funeral will be held at No. 118 Main street, Hartford at a time to be decided upon later. The burial will be in South Windsor.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Julia Peake died yesterday at her home in Crafton, aged 69. She is survived by her husband, Elias Peake, a retired glassblower. The Peakes have lived many years in Crafton.

William Jamison, aged 66, died yesterday at Sharon, Pa., after an extended illness. He had been a resident of Sharon for 34 years. He is survived by one brother and four sisters in Scotland, and one daughter and two sons in Sharon.

LITTLE ROCK WANTS THREE LOCAL BASEBALL PLAYERS

Demoss, Ortleib and Kommer Recommended to Fink by Thayer Torreyson.

DES MOINES AFTER EDMUNDSON

The Little Rock club of the Southern league will in all probability have three local players on its roster in Charlie De Moss, shortstop; "Digs" Ortleib, catcher and Bill Kommer, pitcher. These players have been recommended to Manager Finn by Thayer Torreyson of Homestead, who was asked to help get some players for Little Rock.

Manager Finn, who is a personal friend of Torreyson, wrote him to sign a shortstop, catcher and pitcher from either the Homestead or Altoona teams for Little Rock, but none of the players who occupy the positions on either team, desire to go south, and Torreyson then recommended the trio who were at Niles last summer. Mahaley of Wheeling played second at Little Rock last year. Nashville wants DeMoss, but the terms offered are not to his liking and it is likely that De Moss, Ortleib and Kommer will sign with Little Rock.

Mays Edmundson, the Homestead third baseman and captain, is wanted by the Des Moines Western league team, but he will not go there. Des Moines offers him a contract to sign that calls for more money than the average infielder gets in the minors. Last spring he was signed by the Toledo club, but was released when he refused to play Sunday ball, and Des Moines, knowing this, will not ask him to play on the seventh day. Edmundson is a law student in Pittsburgh and is now coaching the Westminster college team.

Pete Gilzen of the South Side, who was with Burgess Ed Hickey's outfit at Millvale the fag end of last season playing third base, has signed with the Albany, New York State league, for the coming season.

Arthur Goodwin of Connellsville, who pitched for Albany last year, has signed with the Memphis Southern league team.

PLAYS AT MANCHESTER

Meets Fast East Liberty Five on Home Floor — Strong Preliminary.

The Manchester basketball team will play its second game of the season tonight at the Raleigh, corner of Locust and Manchester streets, and will have for its opponents one of the strongest aggregations in this vicinity. The Wilmerding W. Y. C. A. five was to have played at Manchester tonight, but at the last moment it cancelled the game. East Liberty is captained by Ernest Seibel, who will line up at guard tonight. The Manchester Juniors will meet the fast Nonparella in the preliminary. Following is the lineup for both games:

| Manchester. | | East Liberty. |
|---|---|---|
| Koch, Hay | R. F. | Kramer |
| L. Seibel | L. F. | Gross, Orr |
| Metzkes, Walliser | C. | Hydes |
| Graham | R. G. | E. Seibel |
| Burry | L. G. | McFath |

| Manchester Juniors. | | Nonpareils. |
|---|---|---|
| Turnehill | R. F. | Nieman, Shields |
| O'Neil | L. F. | Schmidt, Schneider |
| King | C. | Hasser, Albright |
| Hassler, Graham | R. G. | Kosser |
| Alton | L. G. | Steuernagle |

Shrewsbury Track Opens.

YORK, PA., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The Shrewsbury Gun and Athletic club has completed its quarter mile track at the club's grounds, near Shrewsbury, this county. The track will be formally opened on Saturday, November 21, when the club will hold a series of racing and other sporting events.

PERSONALS

J. M. Algeo of Winamac, Ind., was at the Colonial yesterday. He said: "There is considerable talk in my state of Gov. Durbin becoming a candidate for vice president next year, and there is no doubt but what he would like to run, but whether he will be permitted or not is entirely another matter, which alone can be settled by the next national Republican convention." Mr. Algeo was questioned in reference to the bill introduced in congress a few days ago by Congressman James of Kentucky, which, if passed, makes it possible for former Gov. Taylor of that state to be returned from Indiana for trial. He refused to discuss the bill, but said if Taylor is guaranteed a fair trial he should be returned to stand it.

A number of the Pennsylvania railroad passenger officials came to the city last night on the Limited, among them being Gen. Wood, passenger traffic manager; George W. Boyd, general passenger agent, and six others. All the passenger officials of the Pennsylvania system will meet in Pittsburgh this morning and leave on a special train for Washington. They will hold a "family gathering" in Washington somewhat similar to that of a few months ago at the Hotel Schenley. This meeting is to complete arrangements for the new time card effective November 29 over the whole system.

Rev. W. J. Russell, pastor of the East End Christian church, in his recent address before the national convention of Disciples at Detroit, Mich., won high encomiums as an able pulpit orator. He has now been invited to give one of the leading addresses at the coming annual congress of Disciples, which convenes in Chicago next March. The subject assigned him is "The Distinctive Mission of the Disciples of Christ."

Gen. John A. Wiley of Franklin passed through the city last evening from his southern trip. He was among the Pennsylvania party that went to Chattanooga to dedicate the monuments erected in honor of the Seventy-third and Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers. He said the event passed off very impressively and that the monuments were a credit to the state.

John P. Elkin, former attorney general, spent a few hours in Pittsburgh yesterday. While in the city he was a guest of Col. James E. Barnett. He left on the Pennsylvania railroad fast line for Philadelphia.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

The nearby residents registered at the local hotels last night were as follows:

Seventh Avenue—Willis Barber, Marietta; C. E. Thorn, Wooster; A. W. Oberman, New Castle; S. C. Beucher, Ford City; W. G. Taidley, Carmichaels, and C. P. Brooks, Johnstown.

Colonial—T. F. Bowman, Cadiz; H. E. Franklin, West Newton; T. U. Jones, Latrobe, and F. W. Allison, Washington.

Anderson—T. H. Hartung, Youngstown, and H. T. Reed of Reedsville.

Duquesne—W. L. Reed, Franklin; I. S. Thompson, Monessen, and D. C. Hawkins, Bradford.

Monongahela House—W. S. Ravenscroft, Ridgway; T. H. Haupt, Findlay; T. H. Gillmer, Warren, and A. J. Coleman, Somerset.

Henry—E. L. Hobbs, Franklin, and James Mahaffey, Clearfield.

Griswold—E. C. Hawe, Meadville; T. F. Hauer, Honesville, and B. G. Klingersmith, Monessen.

Newell's—C. D. Davis, New Castle.

Lincoln—H. I. Morgan, Akron.

RAIDS IN ALLEGHENY.

Over Fifty Arrested in Alleged Disorderly Houses and All Fined.

Raids on alleged disorderly houses were instituted in Allegheny yesterday morning by Director Scandrett, when that official, with Superintendent of Police Melville H. Campbell, supervised, under cover caused 45 arrests in four houses. At noon the Fourth Ward club, which goes under the name of Republican club, in Chestnut street, near River avenue, was raided and 13 men arrested. Director Scandrett was up the greater part of the night and spent most of his time at Central station yesterday.

The arrests made were: No. 210 West Robinson street, Mamie Casey, alleged proprietor, six girls and six men; No. 211 West Canal street, Margaret Morgan, four women and eight men; No. 214 Craig street, Goldie Carroll, six girls and four men; No. 22 Bell alley, Mary Camp, three girls and four men. These 45 prisoners appeared before Alderman Samuel Abernathy yesterday. The four proprietors were fined $50 and costs, the girls $10 and costs, and the men $5 and costs each.

The Fourth Ward club, in Chestnut street, was raided by Detective King and two officers, who arrested Charles Watson, the bartender, and 12 visitors. Watson was released on a deposit of $100 and the visitors upon the payment of $10 for a hearing today.

LITTLE ROCK WANTS THREE LOCAL BASEBALL PLAYERS

Joe Kelley Says Tom Corcoran Will Sign Red Contract in Due Season.

WILL MAKE SOME TRADES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—Manager Joseph J. Kelley of the Cincinnati team was asked tonight how he regarded the neglect of Tommy Corcoran to sign, so far, a Red contract for next season. He said: "There is not the slightest cause for uneasiness. Corcoran understands that the war is over and I will be willing to bet a good round sum that he will be in line when the 1904 horn blows. It is true that Tommy is the only player yet unsigned and that all the others have attached their names to the important document. But what difference does that make, especially as Corcoran doesn't think it makes a particle of difference whether he signed before leaving Cincinnati or just before the team leaves for practice next spring?"

Manager Kelley said that he had noticed some talk about trading Jack Taylor for Seymour, but nothing has been said of such a trade to him. The manager got no word about anything from President Herrmann during the past week and has been giving baseball the "go-by" in the delights of attending the races at Pimlico. Next week he intends to put in most of his time at the Benning meeting, and baseball news promises to be scarce until the National league's annual meeting in New York.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Twenty-six covers the present numerical strength of the Red team. Six infielders, six outfielders, nine pitchers and five catchers are on the list, and this is the sort of November frame-up Kelley is able to make:

Infielders—Beckley, Steinfeldt, Huggins, DeArmond, Daly, Corcoran. Outfield—Kelley, Donlin, Seymour, Kerwin, Odwell, Dolan. Pitchers—Hahn, Ewing, Harper, Suthoff, Poole, Kellum, Elliott, Ragan, Walker. Catchers—Peitz, Bergen, Schiel, Fohl, O'Neil.

There will be additions as well as subtractions before the team starts for Texas in March. Just now there is nearly enough talent in line and under reserve to put three full teams in the field. No one will have a better lot of trading material to offer at the December conclave in New York than the Cincinnati club. Just now it looks as if Eddie Poole, Si. Seymour, Tom Daly, Billy Bergen and Lee Fohl could be secured if desirable timber were to be had in exchange, while the fans of Redland still resenting the manner in which that Tom Corcoran put on the Red chief, would not feel badly if a switch of shortstops were made. They would welcome a swap of Corcoran for Hulswitt if Hugh Duffy and the Philadelphia club were willing.

DISGUSTED WITH CHARLEROI.

Monessen Eleven Disappointed Because Neighbors Canceled.

MONESSEN, PA., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Monessen football enthusiasts as well as Manager Frank Irwin of the local team, are utterly disgusted with the recent actions of the management of the Charleroi eleven. Three weeks ago Charleroi was scheduled to play here, but failed to show up, disappointing the largest crowd of the season. Another game was arranged to be played at Charleroi yesterday. Thinking all well, Manager Irwin and his 17 men accompanied by 400 rooters went to Charleroi. No one in that town seemed to know anything about a game and seemed surprised to find Monessen there.

Tips on Today's Races.

The American and Journal selections at Bennings:

Best bets—Red Damsel, show; Castalian, place; Green Crest, straight and place.

Second race—Fort Hunter, Coppella.

Third race—Lavator, Manilius.

Fourth race—Drake entry, Castalian.

Fifth race—Green Crest, Orthwella.

Sixth race—All Gold, April Shower.

Warren Athletics Fail to Appear.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The Warren, O., Athletics were to have appeared here yesterday against the New Castle Indians, but they failed to show up and a crowd of several thousand football enthusiasts were disappointed. The Indians recently defeated Warren at that place.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

All North Side players are to report this evening for practice at 7:30 o'clock with uniforms.

The Blairsville club is without a game for November 21, and would like to hear from Salsburg.

The Smoky City team will play the Wineb1ddle Tigers Saturday, and the Labelle Saturday, November 28. Thanksgiving day is open for all 80 to 90-pound teams. Address W. Hower, 32 Fourteenth street, city.

Olympia A. C. would like to hear from all 80-pound teams for November 21 and Thanksgiving. All players are requested to report Tuesday evening without fail. Gus Pleasant, report. John Meisel, 1501 Juniata street, Allegheny.

Hazelwood A. C. would like to arrange games with all 80 to 85-pound teams in Western Pennsylvania. Would like to arrange games with Lowell, Bryante and Seberey A. C. for Thanksgiving afternoon on Hazelwood grounds. Address William Bolitto, Chastworth avenue, Hazelwood.

The McGunnigle Indians challenge the Superior A. A. and South Side Reserves for the 75-pound championship. They defeated the following teams: McGunnigle 5, Lowell 2; McGunnigle 5, Idlewood 5; McGunnigle 20, Brilliant 0; McGunnigle 6, Valley A. C. 0; McGunnigle 6, Knoxville 0; McGunnigle 6, Plymouth 0; McGunnigle 10, Mt. Washington 0. Address P. Duffy, Sheridanville, Pa.

The Wittmer A. C. challenges the Sycamore A. C. for the 90-pound championship. These teams met last year on Sycamore grounds and the game ended in a tie. Following are the teams defeated by Wittmer this year: Wittmer 40, Wineb1ddle 0; Wittmer 23, Brighton 0; Wittmer 27; Homestead A. C. 0; Wittmer 12, Mifflin 0; Wittmer 5, Florodora 0; Wittmer 29, McDonald H. S. 0. Totals—Wittmer 136; opponents 0.

HIGH SCHOOL WANTS JAMES TO REMAIN

Players Pleased With His Work This Season and Desire Him Again Next Year.

GREER ORR BADLY INJURED

Roscoe "Shorty" James will be engaged to coach the Pittsburgh High school eleven for next season if he chooses to again take charge of the team. The players and all interested in the High school team are pleased with his work this year, and the hope is expressed in High school circles that he will consent to remain with the team.

If he returns James will have nearly all of this year's players. Frank "Midget" Spahler, who played such a plucky game at right end against Shadyside Saturday, is the only player who will leave next spring, and he may be back.

The next game on the High school schedule is that with Kiski for the coming Saturday at Friendship park, when the teams will battle for the runner-up championship. This game High school is determined to win. A banquet and theater party are promised the players if they beat Kiski, but there is a strong suspicion that they will be given whether they win or lose.

The players will have today off, but all will be out for work Tuesday afternoon to get in shape for the game Saturday.

The Shadyside contest was a hard one. Greer Orr, who was compelled to retire in the second half, is in bad shape. At first it was thought he had two ribs broken, but the two physicians who are attending him say that his kidneys are injured. Cleat prints show on his hip bone and near the kidneys. He is confined to bed, but last evening was resting comfortably. His absence from the line greatly weakens the team.

Saturday's game completed Shadyside's schedule and the team has been disbanded. Every Shadyside man came out of the game in fair condition. They were better seasoned than High school and more able to stand the long halves than their rivals. The length of the halves, which were 35 minutes, caused much discussion after the game as to whether prep school teams should play that time.

An election will soon be held to elect a captain. Arch Williams is a good man for the position, and he is not likely to have any opposition. Alan Donnely had the honor last year, and the other old men on the team are Kerr Price and Charlie Ahl. Price is captain of the baseball team for next spring, and Ahl will doubtless be chosen captain of the hockey team to succeed Clarence Overend, who resigned when he went to the Carnegie school.

Kane of last year's Iron City A. C. eleven, who is now a student at Notre Dame university, had his collarbone broken in a game last week while playing for Corby hall, his school team, against Soun hall for the hall championship. Harry Patterson of the East End is captain and quarterback on Corby hall. Neither team scored in the game, which was a rough one all the way through.

MORGAN WILL FIGHT WILLIE FITZGERALD

Frank Morgan of Pittsburgh will soon meet Willie Fitzgerald in Philadelphia at 135 pounds. Morgan last night said he would meet any man in the state at that weight. He prefers John Parry or Lawrence Lutz.

CHOSE QUICKEST WAY.

Prussian Officer Kills Himself When Charged With Theft of Diamonds.

VIENNA, Nov. 15.—(Special Cable.)—A letter from Bucharest states that society of that city is greatly shocked by the suicide of Lieut. Miklesku, an officer of the First Hussars, an exclusive and aristocratic crack regiment.

Some weeks ago Madame Grecianu, a lady of a well-known family, came on business to Bucharest, and at the invitation of Lieut. Miklesku, who was her kinsman, and his wife, stayed at their house. On returning home she discovered that her diamonds, which were worth several thousand pounds, had been replaced by imitations. She accused Lieut. Miklesku of the theft, but there appeared to be no real proof of his guilt. An inquiry was on the point of being abandoned when it became known that Miklesku had pawned one of the missing stones. He was summoned to appear before the magistrate, and on arriving was declared under arrest. Asking to be excused for a few minutes, he went into an adjoining room and shot himself dead.

LUTHERAN CHURCH'S TENTH ANNIVERSARY

The 10th anniversary of the organization of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, Allegheny, was celebrated yesterday. The services were in charge of the pastor, the Rev. William H. Nicholas. In the morning the sermon was preached by the Rev. E. J. Wolf, LL. D., professor in the theological seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., and president of the general synod, and in the evening the Rev. S. T. Nicholas, missionary president of the Pittsburgh synod, who organized the church and was its pastor for nine years, preached the sermon. In the afternoon a Sunday school rally was held at which Charles F. Stifel, J. Walter Hay and Fred W. Kiefer made short addresses.

Headless Body Found in Chair.

CANAL DOVER, O., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—The dead body of Matthew Cooney, a miner, was found in a chair at the home of Evan Lewis at Wainwright, this county, early this morning. The head had been blown off by a shotgun. Evan Lewis, charged with the crime, was captured while hiding in a mine. It is said the men quarreled during a christening last night.

WHITE RAT CLUB ON THE SOUTH SIDE WAS RAIDED

Visitor Said He Had Been Robbed—Quarantine Guard Captured During Working Hours.

The "White Rat" clubhouse, South Nineteenth street and Merrimans alley, was raided by Capt. John N. Fredericks and a squad of officers. Ralph Michaels of Pius street, Twenty-seventh ward, said that yesterday afternoon he had been in the company of Phillip, alias "Bricky" Skelly, George, alias "Doc" Strong, Miles Burns, alias the "Big Motorman," and Earl Lewis, and that he had spent considerable money with them. Michaels said that the four men took him to the "White Rat" club and that while there he was relieved of $26.

The raid followed, and Walter Young, said to be the proprietor of the club, and the following visitors were arrested: William Sorg, Joseph Hor

METHODISTS WILL CHOOSE BISHOPS

The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Smith of Pittsburgh Is Prominent Candidate.

SEVERAL VETERANS TO RETIRE

Mallalieu, Merrill, Walden and Andrews, Who Have Served Long and Faithfully, Are Spoken of as Those Who Will Be Superseded After Next Conference.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Although the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will not convene in Los Angeles, Cal., until May, 1904, there is already much gossip concerning the doings of this great quadrennial gathering of the denomination. Ministerial and lay delegates will be chosen at the session of the New York east conference in April, 1904. Bishop Cyrus D. Foss of Philadelphia has just been named to preside over this conference.

The necessity will arise of retiring several bishops who have grown old in the service, which is always a delicate thing for the general conference to handle. Among the bishops spoken of for retirement are Mallalieu, Merrill, Walden and Andrews, the latter having been elected in 1872 while pastor of St. John's church, Bedford avenue and Wilson street, Brooklyn. He is regarded as one of the ablest men in the episcopacy and is still quite vigorous. It cannot, however, in advance of the meeting of the general conference, be known who will be retired.

REV. DR. CHARLES W. SMITH

The Rev. Dr. David G. Downey, pastor of St. John's church, is mentioned as one of the candidates for bishop, or at least for a missionary secretaryship, as it is believed that among the young men he is excellent timber. Among those named for the office of bishop are the Rev. Dr. J. R. Day, chancellor of the Syracuse university, who can be elected if he will accept, although great pressure is being brought to bear upon him by the trustees of the institution to have him remain where he is; the Rev. George E. Reed, formerly a Brooklyn pastor, now president of the Syracuse university; the Rev. Dr. James W. Bashford of the Ohio Wesleyan university; the Rev. Dr. Henry Spellmeyer of the Newark conference; the Rev. Joseph Berry, editor of the Epworth Herald, who is making an active canvass for the office; the Rev. Dr. William V. Kelley, editor of the Methodist Review, a resident of Brooklyn and long a pastor there, who just escaped election four years ago by his own withdrawal; the Rev. Dr. William Ingraham Haven, secretary of the American Bible society; the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Smith of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate; the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Locke, pastor of the Delaware Avenue church, Buffalo; Edward S. Ninde, son of the late Bishop Ninde of Ann Arbor, Mich.; the Rev. Dr. George P. # CHURCH OF ASCENSION CORNER STONE IS LAID

Unique and Impressive Services of Reformed Congregation in Allegheny.

The corner stone of the Reformed Church of the Ascension, in Termon avenue, Allegheny, was laid at 3:30 oclock yesterday afternoon, with appropriate ceremonies. The exercises were in charge of the Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. J. Grant Walter and Dr. J. H. Prugh of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. Dr. S. J. Glass, the Rev. C. H. Wishart and the Rev. J. W. Hoffman of Allegheny.

The ceremonies were witnessed by almost 500 persons. The Rev. Mr. Dieffenbach delivered the invocation and read the 90th psalm. The Rev. Mr. Walter delivered an address on "The Strength of the Church." This was followed by the laying of the corner stone by the pastor.

In the box in the stone he placed the following articles: The Bible, the Heidelberg catechism, the Reformed church almanac, list of officers and members of the congregation, United States coins dated the years of 1901, 1902 and 1903, copies of the Pittsburgh daily papers, the Reformed Church Messenger, the Reformed Visitor and a copy of the call for the organization of the congregation. The Rev. Dr. Prugh delivered the benediction.

The new church will be of white pressed brick and stone, with a seating capacity of 600 and a Sunday school room. The building when completed will cost $20,000. The church is the outcome of a Reformed church mission started in Bellevue about six years ago. The walls of the church are up and the rafters for the roof over the Sunday school room are in place. The congregation has been holding its meetings in the Eleventh ward school house for several months, and will continue to worship there until the church is completed.

COCOA SYRUP
NOW ON TAP.
Get Your Bottles Filled
at Campbell's.

Something new under the sun—cough syrup drawn from a cask and sold on about the same margin of profit as grocers get for maple syrup.

And why not?

From now on, until April, the cough syrup bottle has a place in every household. A cold in the head, sore throat, an incipient cough and some one takes a spoonful. Once a week in some families—once a month in most families the supply is renewed.

No mystery about a cough syrup—no carefully guarded pharmaceutical secret. A substance chemical company puts up the ingredients, carefully compounded in accord with a famous prescription, and some druggists simply percolate the mixture, add enough sugar to form the syrup and put up four or five cents' worth in a two-ounce bottle to sell for a quarter. Campbell will refill your bottle for eight cents; or furnish bottle and all for 10 cents.

COTTON EXPORTS BRING US WEALTH

Over $60,000,000 Worth of That Staple Exported During the Month of October.

RATE OF TWO MILLIONS A DAY

This Figure Not Equaled in History of Cotton Exports Except in October, 1900, When It Was Slightly Exceeded. Average for a Year $1,000,000 a Day.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.

Two millions of dollars a day is a snug sum for the total receipts from the sale of a single agricultural product in a single country, even such a country as the United States. That is the figure shown by the report of the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, as the value of the cotton exported from the United States in the month of October, 1903.

The preliminary statement of the bureau for the October exports show the value of cotton exported in the month of October to be $60,283,412, as against $42,000,000 in October, 1902, $46,000,000 in October, 1901, and $60,474,437 in October, 1900. The total quantity exported in October, 1903, as shown by this preliminary statement, was 594,540,872 pounds, being an average price of 10.1 cents per pound.

This figure of $60,000,000 receipts for cotton in a single month is not equaled in the history of the cotton exports except in the month of October, 1900, when the total value of cotton exported was $60,474,437. Even the figures of $60,283,412 for the month of October, 1903, are subject to a slight prospective increase, as this preliminary statement of the bureau of statistics does not include the figures of certain distant ports through which small quantities of cotton are exported.

Daily Average $1,000,000.

It should not be understood from the above statement that the value of cotton exports of the United States averages $2,000,000 per day the year around, although they have averaged $2,000,000 per day during the month of October. Taking the entire year, it may be said, however, that the value of cotton exports now averages $1,000,000 per day for each business day of the year. In the 12 months ending with October, 1903, the total value of cotton exported was $820,406,314, and in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, was $316,180,429.

These figures, either those of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, or those of the 12 months ending October 31, 1903, show a larger total (that of value received for cotton) than in any preceding year in the history of the country. In only two fiscal years in the history of the country has the value of cotton exports exceeded $300,000,000, namely, 1901, $318,673,443, and 1903, $316,180,429. Prior to 1860 the exports of cotton had never reached as much as $200,000,000 in value.

Total for 1903 Very Large.

From 1866 to 1900 they ranged between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 and in 1901, for the first time, passed the $300,000,000 line, being as above indicated, $313,673,442; in 1902 they dropped to $290,651,819 and in 1903 were $316,180,429, while in the 12 months ending with October, 1903, the total is $320,406,314. In quantity the figures of 1903 do not reach high-water mark, being for the fiscal year 3,543,042,922 pounds against 3,850,264,295 in 1898, the year of the largest export in quantity. The increased price, however, has resulted in the facts above stated, a greater total value of cotton exportations in 1903 than in any preceding year.

The total value of cotton and its products exported from the United States in the fiscal year 1903 was $376,767,645, or an average of more than $1,000,000 per day.

WHAT CHRISTIANITY HAS DONE FOR WOMAN

The Rev. Hynson Compares the Present Conditions With Those at the Time of the Advent.

"The Sphere of Woman" was the topic of a sermon delivered by the Rev. Nathan Dushane Hynson, in the First Presbyterian church of Homestead yesterday morning. His text was from Acts, 1:14, "With the women." During the course of his sermon Mr. Hynson said:

The mention in the New Testament of woman is very striking in an age which ignored and debased them. Women are a new race recreated by Christianity. Christ gives them high praises, and they were among His earliest and most devoted followers. At the advent the condition of woman in the Roman empire was terrible and pitiful. She was a thing, a chattel rather than a person. She had no power over herself or her children and possessed no legal rights.

If we would see what woman would be today without Christianity we have only to look at the non-Christian countries. The emancipation of woman is a fruit and one of the finest fruits of Christianity. It has given to woman her rightful place. Marriage has become monogamous and a sacred and holy union, and never before has the ideal of Eden, that woman should be a helpmeet (that is fitting, worthy) for man been so fully realized.

Woman's day dawned with the rising of the sun of righteousness. The progress of Christianity can be traced in the beautiful line of her elevation. Woman has come to her own, led by the hand of the Crucified. "A woman is at the beginning of all great things." There is scarcely a field upon which woman has not entered and upon which she has not conquered. She is rich in triumph, hardly and nobly won. She is foremost in all reforms.

Women wield a tremendous influence in society and there is more strength in their looks than in men's laws." Not every woman, but some are peculiarly fitted for public work, and to it they are especially called. One of the greatest spheres of work for woman is the church, and well has she responded to its call. A bad woman is the greatest anomaly in a Christian land. She is like the rose which sheds fuelr in the mire.

JONES M. E. CHURCH AT CREIGHTON DEDICATED

The Jones M. E. Church at Creighton and Its Pastor, the Rev. C. P. Bollinger.

The Jones Methodist Episcopal church at Creighton, below Tarentum on the West Penn railroad, the gift of the late Captain J. B. Ford to the congregation, was dedicated yesterday. The services were in charge of the Rev. C. P. Bollinger, the pastor. The formal dedicatory service was held last evening when the sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. G. W. Terbush, presiding elder of the Allegheny district. He was assisted by the Rev. C. M. Miller of Tarentum in consecrating the new house of worship. The life work of Captain Ford and his many benefactions were touched upon in an impressive manner.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Crawford, president of Allegheny college at Meadville, Pa., preached the sermon in the morning. In the afternoon Dr. Terbush presided at the service, which was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. J. Davis of Springdale. There was a special song service by the quartet composed of J. C. Whitfield, R. E. Weber, Robert Schnicke and A. F. Cowperthwaite, all of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Emory Ford and daughter of Detroit and Mrs. J. M. Ballantyne of Wilkinsburg, widow of the Rev. Dr. Ballantyne and daughter of Captain Ford, were present at the services. Edward Ford of Toledo, a son of Captain Ford, was unable to attend. Captain Ford was instrumental in building up the congregation at Creighton and when the membership had outgrown the old building on Railroad street, he decided to erect a new one. He did not live to see the work completed.

DR. M'PHIE PREACHED IN THE STORM CENTER

Pastor of Avalon Church Said Trouble Was Caused by Members of Congregation Not Being Good United Presbyterians.

With his resignation pending the Rev. Dr. D. A. McPhie of the Avalon United Presbyterian church greeted his congregation yesterday morning after an absence of several months. Although the little church has passed through several stormy encounters in which the minister figured rather conspicuously, no references were made to them in the sermon of the morning or night.

The question of the resignation of Dr. McPhie is still in the hands of a commission appointed by the Allegheny presbytery. The commission will probably meet this week and make its report to the presbytery, which meets in Allegheny, December 15. Dr. McPhie, owing to dissensions in his church, handed in his resignation last spring. It was not accepted, but instead Drs. John McNaugher of the seminary, D. M. Ure, W. I. Wishart and Elders Alexander Hamilton and J. W. McKenney were appointed to act in the matter. This commission called a meeting of the Avalon United Presbyterian congregation, when a vote was taken which showed that two-thirds of a majority was in favor of retaining Dr. McPhie. It was about time that an election was held to create three new elders. The statement was made that the winning candidates had actually canvassed contrary to the rules of the church, and this in its turn created more dissension.

Dr. McPhie was absent from the city, having gone to visit his parents in Hopewell, Nova Scotia. During his absence it is said that reports were circulated that he would accept another charge, thus relieving the strain, but instead he appeared in his pulpit yesterday morning and preached on "The Coronation of Jesus."

"The whole affair resulted from the fact that there are members of my church who are not good United Presbyterians," said Dr. McPhie yesterday. "They do not hold to some of the main doctrines of the United church. What these doctrines are I do not care to say. I would prefer not discussing the matter anyway until my resignation has been acted on.

"I do not know what the commission will do. I have not seen any of the gentlemen since my return."

"What if the commission recommends that your resignation be not accepted?" he was asked.

"Then I shall—well, I had better wait and see," he said checking himself.

Rare and Costly Palm May Be Brought Here

The rarest and most expensive palm in the world may find its way to Pittsburgh and be placed in the Phipps conservatory. In Central park, New York, Director E. M. Bigelow of the department of public works last week found the thrinax crinita and suggestions have been made for its purchase for the local collection. The thrinax crinita is a specimen of the palm covered with peculiar cocoa matting. It comes from the mountains of the interior of Cuba and the plant in New York is valued at $1,000. It was carried to the coast on the backs of mules and the cost of transportation from its native field to the Central park conservatory was over $250.

Union Revival Services End.

The second week of the union revival services being held at Braddock, as a practical demonstration of the feasibility of practical "church union" by the congregations of the First and Second United Brethren churches, First Methodist Protestant and First Congregational churches, was closed Saturday. Yesterday morning all the ministers occupied their own pulpits.

Indiana Congressman to Lecture.

The Hon. Charles B. Landis, member of congress from Indiana, will open the Sharpsburg and Etna Star lecture course tonight in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The topic of his lecture will be "An Optimist's Message." The course will be conducted under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

LAST SUNDAY OF THE 'MUM SHOW

Two Hundred Thousand People Visited Phipps Conservatory in Last Four Weeks.

NEW PLANTS FOR NEXT YEAR

Excursions from the Country Keep Up the Attendance at the Carnegie Museum and the Art Galleries—Baby Lions Make Their Debut.

Two hundred thousand people during the last four weeks have visited the chrysanthemum exhibition in the Phipps conservatory. In its attendance and success the flower show has been the most notable ever held in Pittsburgh, and yesterday the great crowds that went to say farewell to the gorgeous blossoms were quite as enthusiastic as those that witnessed the inauguration of the exhibit. On Wednesday the flowers will be removed and those that are still in good condition will be sent to the hospitals of the city to continue their mission of cheerfulness. The exhibition shelves will be filled with economic plants until the Easter show next spring.

Preparations to make next season's exhibition exceed the present one in the number and variety of the specimens have already been undertaken. Supt. George W. Burke in New York last week visited the chrysanthemum exhibit held by the American institute of the city of New York and the Chrysanthemum Society of America and secured eight new specimens. The most remarkable of these is the "William Duckham," which won the first prize and the silver cup presented by William Pierson. The flower is a light maroon and massive in size.

The other varieties which will be seen next fall are the "Gen. Hulton," deep yellow; "Ban Wells," large white; "Mary Ingis," terra cotta; "Lena Filkins," lavender; "F. Cobbold," lavender; "Maynell," deep red, and the "Lady Roberts," yellow. The plants will be secured from Charles Henry Totty of Madison, N. J.

The new varieties for the cactus collection were purchased by Mr. Burke in New York. These are the spiderweb and the Turk's Head. Both are appropriately named. The spiderweb is covered with a substance that can scarcely be distinguished from a spider's trap. The Turk's Head is a red cactus and resembles the fez of Abdul Hamid.

The museum and the art galleries yesterday caught the throng of park visitors. The attendance was confined almost entirely to people from surrounding towns, who had come to the city on local excursions. The number of the crowd was not greater than that of the previous Sunday. The museum was by far the most popular with the average visitors. The art lovers of the city, as a rule, visit the galleries on the evenings of weekdays. Hundreds were turned away from the music hall during the organ recital.

At the Highland zoo the three baby lions, Edythe, Tessie and Crucible were on exhibition to delight the little folks. Considering the late season, the crowd was exceptionally large.

...SE RECRUITS ...GE ON MUTINY

...any Finds It Necessary to ... Them to Serve in Home Regiments.

...EY LOVE NOT PRUSSIANS

...ed Discipline Enforced Not to the Liking of Men in South and West of the Empire—Dangerous to Mix Them With Bavarians.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—In an evidently inspired editorial in the official organ for the army and the navy great satisfaction is expressed that the experiments of having recruits born in Alsace and Lorraine undergo military term in regiments stationed in these provinces have proved a success, and also triumphantly stated that it is found that many sons of patriotic veterans who fought against Prussia in 1870 have become so Germanized that they do not even understand the French language.

The article, however, is not finding many people ready to believe in it, as it is a well-known fact that these recruits from the annexed provinces are now made to serve in home regiments, because it was found dangerous to have them serve together with Germans from Bavaria and Swabia, whose love for Prussia is by no means overstrong. The whole secret of the affair, which the military authorities are trying to conceal in that quarter, is that south and west of the empire there is a growing dissatisfaction with the supremacy of Prussia and the exceedingly strict discipline introduced in the army by the kaiser.

While the recruits of 10 years ago took the military discipline as a matter of course, a trial which must be borne in patience without grumbling, the troops of today grumble considerably and often carry out orders with evident reluctance, while the officers begin to fear may even become actual mutiny. For this reason, it has been considered wiser to have Alsatians serve in their own country rather than make them still more bitter by keeping them away from their homes and relations for two or three years.

DRIVEN AWAY IN HIS WICKEDNESS

Dr. Rees Preaches a Strong Sermon in the Smithfield Street M. E. Church.

THE DOOM OF THE WICKED

Minister Illustrates His Argument by the Use of the Arabian Proverb Which Says No Man Should Trifle With God, Death and the Devil.

The Rev. W. H. Rees, D. D.

"The Doom of the Wicked" was the topic of a sermon preached last night by the Rev. W. H. W. Rees, D. D., in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church, Seventh avenue and Smithfield street. The text was taken from Proverbs xiv:32, "The wicked is driven away in his wickedness." Dr. Rees sermon in full follows:

It would be difficult to find a man who did not believe in heaven, but it is not hard to find many who have tried to put out the hope of hell for the finally impenitent, and wicked men to accept the solemn statement that God is love, but are full of misgivings when it comes to His justice. They believe in the Fatherhood, but not the sonship of God. They believe in the cross as the exhibition of His love, but not the cross or sword that speak of His justice. They are eager to accept the gospel, but reject the law. They do not believe in restraint and will not submit to the authority of God.

God, Death and the Devil.

The sacrificial idea is sweet to them, but the governmental idea is obnoxious. The Arabians had a saying as follows: "There are three things with which no man should trifle, God, death and the devil." A man trifles with God when he spurns His book, disobeys His day, and will not obey His mandates. He trifles with death when he does not prepare for it, and disregards its warnings. He trifles with the devil when he does not acknowledge his personality and power, and will not shun him, but plays into his hands.

The text has reference to the doom of the wicked after death. He shall be driven away. A solemn view of the text will reveal some things not pleasant to the moral. Who are the wicked driven away from? First, from the things of time. Time is some other political outlaw he would have become a criminal and his body have furnished food for the vultures. But he brought him to Jesus, and that was the greatest thing he ever did.

It is the awful alternative of personal influence that makes a serious subject. The play of one life upon another may mean either glory or shame, welfare or ruin. Of many it is even now written "He brought him" into a saloon, and a life that might have been sublime ended in a drunkard's grave. "He brought him" to a gambling den or to a brothel, and he was ruined in body and soul from that day forward and the judge will require it at that leader's hand. "He brought him" to a socialist leader and filled his head and heart with wild ideas and false theories. Or perhaps he brought him to a captain of industry, a Carnegie or a Rockefeller or Gould, and he made him a great man, a Schwab, a Frick or a Morgan.

That is all very well as far as it goes, but yet we can show you a more excellent way, that is: "He brought him to Jesus and he became a Peter, a Luther, a Wesley or a Moody."

"A life whose pang
Outlasts the fleeting breath.
O what eternal horrors hang Around the second death."

The wicked are driven away from all the pleasant things of the earthly, and shall no more come back to their enjoyment. They are driven from the pleasure and glory of the "man who has forgotten God." And secondly, he is driven away from all opportunities for reform.

In that same land of dark despair
No Sabbath's heavenly light shall rise;
No God regard your bitter prayer,
No Saviour call you to the skies."

Hell is not a reform school. There are no graduates from the school of the infernals. The devil is not a schoolmaster to lead lost souls to God. There are no stars of hope in the midnight of lost souls. No rays of mercy darts its pleasant light athwart the chaos of eternal night. No cross stands in the abyss of the lost to guide their tempest-tossed souls to the celestial sanctuary. All privileges of reform will have been put aside by the lost and impenitent sinner, and prayer there would be useless and without an answer.

Invitations to a Better Life.

Here we have the Bible, the church, the ministry, the people of God, and ten thousand invitations to a better life. Songs are sung, prayers are offered for us, sermons are preached to us. And Godly mothers twine their arms about us, and plead with tears in voice to be reconciled to God, and we spurn all the offers of sovereign mercy, and make our own choice, and carve our own destiny. In the "driven away" Wesley's voice pleads not, and lamentations avails not.

The phantom of hope may lure us on to wayward gardens fair, and when we would pluck the fruit it is not there in our hands. We would drink from fountains clean and sweet, but when we try to slake our thirst, the water turns to liquid flame, and burns where we hoped it would cool and refresh us. All opportunity to reform, and build character ends with this life. This is a world of probation and trial, of development and growth. The next world demonstrates the goodness of destiny made in this life. If we are ever saved, it must be here in this life.

Jonah shall go through the street of Nineveh for forty days, and in forty days Nineveh shall be destroyed; "no prophet like Isaiah shall cry, 'Ho, every one that thirsteth come yet to the waters;' no revelator like John on Isle of Patmos shall cry out, 'The spirit and the bride say come.' The day of mercy will be past, the day of the Lamb of God will be passed. Sinner, your hope is now. Your remedy is here. Your Savior is Jesus, your cross is on Calvary. Seek ye the Lord while He may be found. Call ye upon Him while He is near."

Where is the wicked driven away to? Why, he is driven into eternity. He did not want it here. He did not make a just settlement of it. He scorned it, and goes into it, without preparation for it. He planned for the future but for the temporal. Life got mixed money, houses, lands and the world says, he made a great success of life. He died worth $20,000,000. No, he died poor. He left all his millions behind him. He did not have enough to pay the ferryman across the river Styx. He went into the presence of God a pauper.

"Weighed in the grain of spiritual character, weighed in the balance and found wanting." His life was not a success, it was an awful failure. From time into eternity, from a beautiful world, into an abyss of horror; from hope to despair; from pleasure to pain; from a song to a lamentation; from marriage to a funeral; from life to the "death that dieth not."

Secondly, he is driven into the presence of God whose love he spurned. He blasphemed at His book, he desecrated His Sabbaths; he broke all His laws; he did despite to the spirit of His grace; he trampled the blood of his son under his feet, and now he comes God. How the remembrance of His mercy must chill him; how His word, His sacraments, His church, His cross, His day, must appall him. "Depart, go down, go down," ten thousand voices, voices once full of protest and invitation, cry "Go down, go down."

Cannot Change Destiny.

A kind Father is now a just judge. He cannot change thy destiny without pulling down all the pillars on which His government rests, and introducing anarchy and ruin into heaven. O, the remorse of a soul in the presence of a God who has been disregarded. Who can estimate its sorrow and misery.

Thirdly, if the Bible can be understood, the wicked will go to the place prepared for the devil and his angels. Intruders do the floor of infernals. The teeth of the worm that gnaws the soul and dies not will grow out of the memory of laws violated, and mercies rejected. The smoke of the torment which shall continually ascend will be from the burnings of conscience. Souls made to be redeemed and shine in the diadem of the Lord, cast out and making their abodes with lost spirits—intruders.

My friend, if you would avoid such a destiny, turn to God now, today. The arms of mercy are wide outstretched to take you to the heart of the Infinite. His love beckons you to Him; His word invites you. Come to the city of refuge, and be saved from the sword of the avenger. Christ is thy refuge. Come to Him.

DR. ROBERT FORBES IN LOCAL PULPITS

The Rev. Dr. Robert Forbes of Philadelphia, assistant secretary of the Methodist Episcopal board of church extension, occupied the pulpit in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning. Last night he preached in the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny. Dr. Forbes will address the Methodist ministers at their meeting this morning and this evening he will lecture in the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg.

Tell Your Friends

That The Gazette's new way of putting good-looking gentlemen roomers "next" to desirable places by its Room-Renting system is the only sure way to fill their rooms. It's never failed, sure. It's cheap, too, as it doesn't cost them a cent to use the system and they get in touch with a large number of room hunters. Tell them to use The Gazette.

THE PLAY OF ONE LIFE ON ANOTHER

It Often Means Glory or Shame, Welfare or Ruin, Says Mr. Clayton.

The Rev. Thomas Clayton, pastor of the First Congregational church, Manhattan and Franklin streets, Allegheny, preached yesterday morning on "The Influence of One Life Upon Another." His text was taken from John, 1:42: "He brought him unto Jesus." Mr. Clayton said in part:

Andrew, the fisherman, brought Simon, his brother, unto Jesus. It was a momentous event in the lives of both. It seemed a little thing at the time, but it has had a great effect upon Christianity. Back of Peter in his great services and success stood his silent brother Andrew without whose influence he might never have been heard from. On the other hand, had that influence been used to lead Simon to Barabbas or some other political outlaw, he would have become a criminal and his body have furnished food for the vultures. But he brought him to Jesus, and that was the greatest thing he ever did.

It is the awful alternative of personal influence that makes a serious subject. The play of one life upon another may mean either glory or shame, welfare or ruin. Of many it is even now written "He brought him" into a saloon, and a life that might have been sublime ended in a drunkard's grave. "He brought him" to a gambling den or to a brothel, and he was ruined in body and soul from that day forward and the judge will require it at that leader's hand. "He brought him" to a socialist leader and filled his head and heart with wild ideas and false theories. Or perhaps he brought him to a captain of industry, a Carnegie or a Rockefeller or Gould, and he made him a great man, a Schwab, a Frick or a Morgan.

That is all very well as far as it goes, but yet we can show you a more excellent way, that is: "He brought him to Jesus and he became a Peter, a Luther, a Wesley or a Moody."

THE HUMAN RACE IS ON PLEASURE BENT

Rabbi J. Leonard Levy in a Lecture Points Out "What All the World's a Seeking."

The Rev. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom, delivered the fourth lecture of the present series of Sunday services in the temple, Eighth street, yesterday morning. His topic was "What All the World Is Seeking." Dr. Levy said in part:

There can be no doubt of the correctness of the old Greeks when they taught that all men are so created that they seek to find pleasure and avoid pain. Everything absolutely necessary for the continuance of the human race has been so ordained that we associate with it pleasurable sensations. As a consequence the human race is ever pleasure bent, and since the earliest times has been pursuing an ideal which it has attempted to realize on earth.

I think that this ideal, sought with such avidity by humanity, may be called happiness, but happiness seeking, like rainbow chasing or bubble blowing, results only too often in disappointment, defeat and disaster. Still, the old world will go on reproducing itself and the old ideas and ideals will recur to the human mind. All men still seek happiness. However, we can permit this term to include the highest good. The folly of attempting to realize perfect happiness on earth occurs to very few of us, for at the best we can only hope to leave things a little better than we found them, even if life be most prosperous. In the pursuit of happiness it is, therefore, essential that we be equipped with the fit and proper instruments and implements whereby we may make our journey through life a success.

There can be no happiness without faith, except the happiness of the brute kind, but for a moral, rational, thinking man there can be no happiness without the help of the spiritual sense. Where knowledge begins faith ends, but man's knowledge is and must always be restricted. To know absolutely is the prerogative of God alone. We can know but relatively, and rational religion is as much a necessity for the highest development of man as rational theories are essential for the development of science.

FAMILY INHERITANCE.

Sermon of the Rev. John A. Jayne of the Observatory Hill Christian Church.

At the Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny, yesterday morning, the pastor, the Rev. John A. Jayne, preached a sermon on "Our Family Inheritance." His text was taken from Ephesians i:11, "Jesus Christ, through whom we have obtained an inheritance." Mr. Jayne said in part:

There are four great similies in the New Testament illustrative of the relationship that exists between Christ and His church. The church is called a temple. The office of the temple is to honor and glorify God. It is called an army. The office of the army is to uphold justice, maintain peace and defend honor. It is called a bride. The work of the bride is to be a helpmeet to her husband.

Paul says that the church is a family. The work of the family is three-fold—to perpetuate life, conserve the interests of society and develop character. The family supports temples, upbuilds armies and from its hearthstone gives the bride. The family is thus the great social unit of the world regenerating society. The church is God's social unit for the salvation of the world.

PASTOR STILL UNDECIDED.

The Rev. W. A. Jones Urged to Remain in His Knoxville Pulpit.

The Rev. W. A. Jones, pastor of the Knoxville Presbyterian church, is still undecided as to whether he will accept the call to the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church of East Liverpool, O. At a meeting of the session of the Knoxville congregation yesterday afternoon an urgent request was made, asking Mr. Jones to remain in his present charge.

In reply to this Mr. Jones last night addressed his congregation, saying that he would go to East Liverpool early this week and look over the field before coming to a decision. On his return he will call a meeting of the session and state what course he intends to pursue.

SERVICES AT THE BIJOU.

The religious exercises in the Bijou theater yesterday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, were attended by an audience which was noted for its attention and interest shown. A number of stereopticon pictures, illustrating the book of Esther, were shown. The large chorus under the direction of Prof. Tall Esen Morgan led the singing with special anthems.

The chorus will be largely augmented and will be a permanent thing. A special feature was the solo entitled "Why Not?" sung by Mrs. Samuel Brown. The Rev. S. Edward Young preached from Esther v:3, "What is Thy Request?"

HOW SHALL WE SEEK GOD'S KINGDOM?

Pastor C. T. Russell Speaks on Absorbing Topic at Bible House, Allegehny.

CHRIST'S PROMISE TO ISRAEL

The Kingdom of Heaven Was Taken from the Jewish Race by the Lord to Be Given "To a People Bringing Forth the Fruits Thereof."

At the Bible house, Arch street, near Ohio, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, Pastor C. T. Russell preached a sermon before a large audience on "How Shall We Seek God's Kingdom?" His text was taken from Matt., vi:33: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and its righteousness." Pastor Russell spoke in full as follows:

Some would have us think, dear friends, that this matter of seeking the kingdom of God consists in seeking membership in some sectarian church, but it seems to me that so far as my experience goes any reasonably respectable person would have very little seeking to do in that direction. He would be very quickly accommodated. He would not need to seek long to seek many churches, for there are many invited without too close inspection of character. But we are to remember that at the time that our Lord Jesus used these words there were no sectarian churches to seek, and consequently the Lord could not have meant either, Seek ye membership in the Methodist church, or in the Presbyterian church, or the Congregational church or the Lutheran church, or the Roman Catholic church or the Episcopal church, or any other of these systems, for there were none of them in existence. Now evident, therefore, that He meant nothing of this kind whatever He did mean!

We are to remember that the gospel ministry began with the announcement that the kingdom of God was at hand. And since it was not explained what the phrase means (kingdom of God, kingdom of heaven—Matthew renders it one way, Mark and Luke render it another way, with the same thought, and the very same discourse, and the same kingdom represented), it seemed a little thing at the time, but it has had a great effect upon Christianity. Back of Peter in his great services and success stood his silent brother Andrew, without whose influence he might never have been heard from. On the other hand, had that influence been used to lead Simon to Barabbas or some other political outlaw, he would have become a criminal and his body have furnished food for the vultures. But he brought him to Jesus, and that was the greatest thing he ever did.

It is the awful alternative of personal influence that makes a serious subject. The play of one life upon another may mean either glory or shame, welfare or ruin. Of many it is even now written "He brought him" into a saloon, and a life that might have been sublime ended in a drunkard's grave. "He brought him" to a gambling den or to a brothel, and he was ruined in body and soul from that day forward and the judge will require it at that leader's hand. "He brought him" to a socialist leader and filled his head and heart with wild ideas and false theories. Or perhaps he brought him to a captain of industry, a Carnegie or a Rockefeller or Gould, and he made him a great man, a Schwab, a Frick or a Morgan.

That is all very well as far as it goes, but yet we can show you a more excellent way, that is: "He brought him to Jesus and he became a Peter, a Luther, a Wesley or a Moody."

What the Lord Said.

So the Lord began to say to them, "The kingdom of heaven shall be taken from you, and given to a people bringing forth the fruits thereof." How taken from them? Because they had been the natural heirs of the kingdom as the natural seed of Abraham, in the natural order of things they were the ones to whom first of all it must be offered. Paul referred to this situation afterward, saying, "Seeing that ye count yourselves unworthy of the gift of life, lo, we turn unto the Gentiles." "It shall be taken from you, and given to a people bringing forth the fruits thereof." What are the fruits? The fruits of righteousness. Being a Jew according to the flesh could not make them heiritors of the kingdom which God had in mind. And as the disciples began to understand something about the Lord's Word, began to see that the chief priests and scribes and Pharisees and the nation in general were to be rejected, they said to the Lord, "Lo, we have left all and followed Thee. What, therefore, shall we have?" And He said unto them, "Ye that have followed Me, in the regeneration shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel." Not quite all of them surely. The kingdom was to come to those who were faithful; the kingdom was to be given from those who were not in a fair attitude of heart to properly appreciate God's favor.

Then the Lord began to intimate something about the future, when He said to them in the presence of the others, "I give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven." But some one says, it is the Roman Catholic church who got the keys. In answer to this we refer to the Scriptures who claim that Peter got the keys, and the Scriptures apply these statements in a manner very different from what the friends of the Roman Catholic church apply them. The Scriptures show how Peter used the keys and what the result was when he did so. They show that one of these keys was used on the day of Pentecost, and the other was used three and a half years later, at the house of Cornelius. A key is that which accomplishes an opening, and that is the significance of it in figurative language. It is not an iron key, but a figurative key, symbol of power, authority.

When the Holy Spirit came upon the apostles on the day of Pentecost, and they were all together in one place, and spoke with tongues, Peter stood up with the eleven and explained the matter, thus accomplishing the opening work in presenting the Gospel to the Jews. He used the opening key to the Jewish nation until the last of Cornelius' household, the favor and particular explanation of what was meant by "The kingdom of heaven is at hand." So we must go beyond the time of Jesus and realize that there was some teaching respecting the kingdom of God previous to this. The kingdom of God had never been proclaimed in the same manner as it was after Jesus' death had been declared. "The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you;" it had never been declared, "The kingdom of heaven is at hand."

The Promise of God.

But there has been a looking-for in the past, an expectancy regarding a kingdom class, an anticipation, and we find that this expectancy dated from the time that Israel began to be a nation. It was the promise of God to that people, it was the particular promise which caused the gathering together of that nation for such. Consequently we find that God's promise to Abraham was the center from which proceeded all these hopes. God had said to Abraham, "In thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed," and as yet he had no son, and the promise was clear and explicit, and burned in the heart of Abraham constantly. And as the years rolled that Isaac had respect to that promise, and Jacob had respect to it and God confirmed it to these, and thus gave them to understand that the seed of all the nations was to come, and for some great power that should arise in the future. And so when we come to Jacob's deathbed we find him blessing his sons and his 12 sons and blessed them and declared to them that they were the heirs of this Abrahamic covenant. All these became the 12 tribes of Israel, and there was the hope of that nation, and the hope which was the basis of their nationality was that some time God should greatly exalt His people, and would make them the leading nation, the great power in the world, that should bless all the families of the earth.

Centuries rolled by, and they found no fulfilment. Solomon came, the greatness of the kingdom, the splendor of the kingdom, was there, and yet Solomon's great went down, and they saw not the blessing things that God had promised to their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. They still waited, waited for a greater than Solomon, and for a wider dominion. Solomon waited for a richer than Solomon, waited for a more mighty kingdom than that which Solomon had established. And so we read that at the time of our Lord's birth and ministry expectancy of the scriptures was at its height. Anna, the prophetess, and Simeon, and others, were waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Scriptures show a sympathetic love for enemies. But love for the Lord is to transcend all these, so that the Lord's voice and the Lord's plan should be paramount in the heart and the life.

Christ Told Many Parables.

In harmony with this thought we find that the Lord gave a great many parables. Not that the parables were understood in His day. Only a very few of them did He explain. The disciples came to Him, and said: "Lord, why speakest Thou unto the people in parables?" He answered, "To you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom, but to them that are without all these things are done in parables, that seeing they might not see, and hearing they might hear and not understand." It is God's will that they should not understand. The Pharisees had understood the meaning of the parables they would only have attempted to frustrate the plan which the Lord was carrying out. The parables were only spoken, therefore, to those who in the right condition of heart might understand, and those who were not might remain blind.

There was the parable of the pounds and the talents, which refers to the young nobleman who went into a far country to receive a kingdom, and to return. This represented our Lord Himself, who had gone into heaven, and who is to return, as He promised, to set up His kingdom. The pounds and talents are our opportunities during the absence of the Lord, and the responsibilities rest upon us to make use of the opportunities granted to us. The use we make of these will show the seat of our hearts for His cause, and in proportion as we shall demonstrate loyalty to the Lord and the truth in that proportion will the Lord be pleased to approve us and to grant us place in His kingdom, to joint-ship in the administration of its affairs, as he said, "Have dominion over five cities," and "Have dominion over ten cities." The giving of this authority is in the future, at the second coming of the Lord. The world is not to be destroyed, but the great kingdom is to be established under the whole heavens, that the knowledge of the Lord may be caused to fill the whole earth.

Then the Lord gave the parable of the ten silver pieces, declaring it to be a parable of the kingdom, as showing how we should be interested in every member of the Lord's family. When the silver piece was lost the housewife searched diligently until it was found, thus illustrating how we should have a care over all who give evidence of being of the Lord and accepted by him, and if anything should happen to them to lead them out of the way in any sense, that we should seek to find them, and to restore them to fellowship and opportunity for remaining in the kingdom.

Parable of the Mustard Seed.

Another parable represents the church in its nominal condition during the present age—the parable of the mustard seed, the small seed at the beginning, and how it grew and became a great tree, so that the fowls came and lodged in the branches. This represents the outward prosperity of nominal Christendom, that it becomes great amongst the religious of the world—preeminent. And what is the result? Just what the Lord showed in the parable. The birds have come and lodged in the branches. And the birds, the Lord represents, in another parable to be the "wicked one." These fowls which lodge in the branches of Zion are unclean, as clean and unclean they represent the whole institution, and so we find that every unclean and hateful bird has attempted to get into the cage or nominal Christendom.

You can hardly find any great defaulter or any really bad man who has not some relationship, or who does not try to have it with the nominal church. This does not refer to the real church, but the true church is frequently hidden in the nominal system so that its members are not recognized. How it is hidden is represented in the parables, for instance, the parable of the wheat and the tares. The wheat are the children of the kingdom. They have not got the kingdom, but they are being tried and prepared and tested, to be ready for it when it is established. The Son of Man has been sowing the good seed of the kingdom all the way down the age, and you and I and others, or still more, we trust, these true grains of wheat. But there are others who are tares. They are described as children of the wicked one. Not the outwardly wicked, not the blasphemously wicked, but the wicked in the church.

This parable does not refer to the world, it refers to the church nominal, and this tare class is found largely in it. It affects to be the church system, and the tares, the imitation wheat, those who have hypocritically allied themselves with the church have grown up together so that they are choking the wheat, as in the parable, and so that there is comparatively little wheat as compared with the great mass of tares. The tares are quite nice, respectable people, but never really made Christians. They are sometimes just as moral as the true Church of God, as far as outward things would enable one to judge, but at heart they are not renewed, not new creatures in Christ Jesus, not children of the kingdom. Only the wheat are the children of the kingdom, the others are children of the wicked one. There are many in the nominal church not having the consecration of heart to the Lord, not true members of the body of Christ, and not, therefore, members of the kingdom class.

Admired Their Honesty.

The great mass are of this kind, according to their own statements and see how few there are amongst those who are in this great Babylon-confused system who will profess to be fully consecrated to the Lord, how few have counted the cost of discipleship, and have laid down their lives in sacrifice to the Lord. My own personal experience surprised me. I thought, when I found that many would at least claim relationship to the Lord, and consecration to Him; but they would not. I admired their honesty, but was obliged to see then that if they could not even claim to be consecrated to the Lord I could not claim it for them.

Another parable is that of the leaven hidden in the meal. The woman who hid the leaven is that one frequently brought to our attention in Revelation, the harlot woman, the foe of the true church, the great system that has poisoned the food—because heaven is corruption, and always was, and therefore the woman hid the leaven in the meal—here is the food, God's Word, and the whole mass of food for God's people has been more or less corrupted. Not that the Word itself has been corrupted, but the thoughts respecting it have been turned upside down, made of no effect through tradition. The decisions of God respecting what shall be the wages of sin are changed about, so that when the Scriptures declare that "The wages of sin is death," it is made to say that the wages of sin is eternal life in torment. So the work of the woman, the nominal church has accomplished incalculable injury to the Lord's people.

These parables represent the kingdom during this gospel age from various standpoints, and show us what the Lord foresaw, what would be the condition during this age. Then He pointed out in the parable of the wheat and the tares and some others what would be the conditions at the close of the age. The declaration is made: The harvest is the end of the age. In the time of the harvest will I send forth the messengers, and they shall gather out of the kingdom all things that offend and them which do iniquity, and shall cast them into a furnace of fire. This is the great time of trouble approaching, the great day of the wrath of God, in which all present institutions will go down, and there not shall be any earthly nurture for the tare class, but a time of extreme trouble, in which all the false professions of nominal Christianity will be utterly plucked out. The true class will be taken to heaven, and will go back to its place in the world, where it ought to have remained, for these are merely nominal Christians and not really of God.

Wheat Shall Be Gathered.

But as that great time of trouble and wrath and overthrow of present institutions will overthrow the false, destroy the tares, and gather the wheat, so another work will be going on simultaneously. The wheat shall be gathered to the garner. Then says the parable, "The righteous shall shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father." How are they shining now? As little candle lights, in comparison to the sunlight. So the Lord says, do not put your candle under a bushel, but set it on a candlestick, that it may give light to all in the house. That is all you can do now. "Let your light shine." But it will not shine very much, and not very many can be blessed by it. Some, indeed, will be angered by it, for the darkness hateth the light, and will not come to the light, lest its deeds be made manifest.

Nevertheless, the faithful delight to let the light shine, knowing that if they put it under a bushel they will lose it to themselves, and if they do not faithfully let the Lord the light will depart from them. But by and by, after the testing time, when the opposition of darkness shall have passed away, the saints shall be gathered to the garner, then "shall the righteous shine forth as the sun." There will be no stopping the light then. There won't be any need of candlesticks, for the darkness will have disappeared, and the members of the kingdom class, who shall constitute the sun of righteousness, shall be high in the heavens, and the whole earth shall be filled with the light, filled with the light of the knowledge of the Lord. That will be the millennial day, in comparison to the great darkness of the world, which covers the people at present time.

Our text declares: "Seek first the kingdom." The connecting speak of some who are seeking first and foremost the favor, the and sanctions of favor, and the Lord says to those who have respect to Him and the promises of the Father, "Your Father knoweth of these things before ye ask Him." We are not to be like the Gentiles, seeking continually what we shall eat and drink and clothe with for the Father knows better than we what we have need of, but we are to seek chiefly the kingdom of God and its righteousness, and these things shall be added. The Lord did not here promise to add to us all the wealth and honors of the present time, for the general promise is that those who would live godly in this present time must suffer persecution, and that the great trouble is coming upon the world, but the little class called, but chiefly the poor of this world rich in faith, to be heirs of the kingdom, to which He has promised to give the things we have seen of the Spirit, to bless this from the standpoint of new creatures.

Leave the Matter to God.

The old creature, the natural man might say: "I need $10,000," but, from the standpoint of the new creature, the Lord might see that $10,000 would be the most injurious thing that could be given. What shall we have? The things that are mostly liable to be injurious, or shall we leave the matter to God's hands, who is able to give us what we need? This is the position that we should take, recognizing the fact that the offer that God is now making to you and to me, that which has been promulgated throughout the world for centuries, the offer of joint-heirship in the kingdom, has attached to it the opportunity to suffer in the present time and to attain the glory later, that we shall count all these things of trial and difficulty and self-denial as loss and dross, that we may win Christ and have a place with the special in the kingdom of which the Lord is the head.

If we shall win the kingdom we shall have won the greatest blessing that was ever heard of—that which eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man—the things which God hath for those that love Him. If we see that we are not making efforts to attain, even if we have to sell our fortune, and willingly sacrificing many things in order to attain them; willing to endure shame and reproaching and to pay the price of earnest seeking, that many money and power, everything they hold precious, and to neglect their families and other duties and privileges that they may win one of these prizes, then we present time evidence that we are not unfavorable conditions.

They consider us foolish who see the real value of the aspirations and who are hypocritical enough to pretend to be seeking during blessing and a marvelously greater height of attainment in the kingdom of the future. The apostle says, "Let no man judge us," because we were not with them to the same excess of riot." But the Lord knoweth them that are His; therefore let everyone who names the name of Christ depart from iniquity. Seek is the argument of this text: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His right ousness"—God's righteousness, that which God approves, not merely that righteousness which would be approved by the nominal church, the Scribes and Pharisees of our day, not some other standard of righteousness which we would set up of our own even, but the righteousness of God, exemplified in the Lord Jesus, that righteousness which, unless your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees ye shall in no wise enter the kingdom.

Mere Sham Righteousness.

Unless we have more than nominal church righteousness we have no part in the kingdom promised to them which love Him—not merely love Him in a little degree, so that we would not blaspheme or be cowards, but who would be willing to endure the loss of all of the earth and personal interests of time we might be of service in the Lord's cause.

It is to these that the kingdom is to be given, and through them that the blessings of the kingdom shall come to all the families of the earth, for this class is the seed of Abraham, of whom the Apostle Paul declared that he was the seed, and if we be Christ's seed and heirs according to the promise, then they could not be heirs if the promise had not failed, and the Apostle Paul has clearly shown us that the promise has not been annulled, for we are heirs of that great privilege of blessing all mankind.

The thought of the Lord's quiet, secret desire to see the blessing of the kingdom of the Lord all the whole earth, and of the saints in the kingdom with the Lord, and that great and wonderful work. Therefore the importance of the admonition: "Seek ye first (chiefly) the kingdom of heaven (the kingdom class) and its righteousness," that shall be the chief object of life, whatever else we may seek and make their chief object. This is to be the chief object with all those who would be heirs of the kingdom. Let us, then, as the apostle says, "Lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, the author of our faith, until He shall become the finisher of it."

BIBLE SCHOOL MEETINGS.

Allegheny County Association Will Hold District Conventions This Week.

The Allegheny County Sunday School association, which has held a number of district conventions so far this year, has arranged a number of meetings for this week. District No. 16 will hold a convention today in the Knoxville Christian church. There will be afternoon and evening sessions. The program will consist of brief speeches and a reading of reports. At this meeting the school having the largest number present will be awarded the district banner.

On Thursday night of this week District No. 15 will convene in the Sciota Side Presbyterian church. The Rev. Nathan Dushane Hyndon of the First Presbyterian church of Homestead will talk on "The Value of the Bible." On Friday night of this week District No. 22 will meet in the Emsworth United Presbyterian church and R. L. Thompson, the chairman, will preside. C. E. Smith will conduct a round table on "The Home Department."

The Last Words of Mrs. Baxter

WHEN Richard Baxter, noted in England in 1638, lost his wife he published a broadsheet headed: "The Last Words of Mrs. Baxter," which reached an immense sale. His printer seeing the profit in it brought out a broadsheet entitled: "More Last Words of Mrs. Baxter." To which Mr. Baxter replied that "Mrs. Baxter didn't say anything else."

FURTHER READJUSTMENTS TO MEET NEW CONDITIONS

Conflicting Influences Have Been at Work During the Week in Security Market—Sharp Decline in Conspicuous Stocks.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Conflicting influences in the industrial and financial world were reflected during the week in unsettled conditions in the security market and in sharp declines in conspicuous stocks. Forces working for the rectification of fundamental errors and past successes, and calculated to benefit the future, were brought into operation coincident with the development of certain points of weakness which will themselves in time call for corrective measures. The developments in two leading industries, that of iron and steel and that of cotton manufactures of New England, involving price readjustment to prevent overproduction and economy in manufactures through proposed reductions, is an acknowledgment of deceased business activity upon the one hand and a movement calculated to meet the changed situation on the other. These industries may be said to have taken up work of discounting the future and Wall street, without waiting to determine whether or not the prices have not discounted much of the now admitted contraction, began the work of rediscounting industrial exchanges, selecting for the purpose the shares of properties which will be most directly influenced by curtailment of commerce and manufacture.

That security prices should have declined during the week is not particularly strange, in view of the surface developments, the outwardly manifested features which marked the process of readjusting certain industries to curtailment, present or to come. Following the sharp decline in industrial shares in general and in United States Steel stocks in particular, it is not strange that Pennsylvania stock should have been selected as the object of attack. There are few if any buyers in the market, and no leader who now commands a following on the bull side. Not that buying power is exhausted, as some persons seem to believe, but it is certainly diminished through the enormous losses sustained by some of the great burdens of unsalable stocks and bonds carried by others.

Under such conditions, added to the technical position of Pennsylvania stock, multiplied until there is now outstanding some $300,000,000 of capitalization, or 6,000,000 half shares, it has not been difficult for bearish traders to beat the stock down. Their position was not illogical, for they have little fear of a corner in a stock with 6,000,000 shares outstanding, and which through directly or indirectly controlled lines has called for $150,000,000 or so of capital within 10 months. They naturally figure that some of the immense stocks are weakly held. Moreover, there is the industrial situation which applies with peculiar force to Pennsylvania. This property has by far the greatest iron and steel tonnage of any railway in the country. Serious reaction or demoralization there would affect traffic returns severely.

Naturally this argument of the traders who have been selling Pennsylvania stock presupposes the fact that business reaction is to be very severe. If it is not to be, then much of the argument loses force, for the situation which renders the stock vulnerable, under business contraction, the great coal and iron and fuel tonnage and ownership, and its vast merchandise traffic are the points in favor of this great property in prosperous times, and they will probably stand it in good stead if contraction does not go too far.

This is made clear enough in the six-point break to 110⅝ in the stock of the country's premier railroad and one paying 6 per cent dividends. Nor is this conclusion altered by the fact that the heavy selling originated in a bear raid. That movement was a manifestation of sentiment elsewhere and probably participated in by persons far more influential than bear traders. The attack was unresisted and showed the stock vulnerable, even though cheap.

WHEAT CLOSED HIGHER; CORN AND OATS LOWER

The Decreased Receipts and Strength in Outside Markets Caused Wheat Advance.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—There was a good commission house demand for wheat and the market ruled firm after a slightly easier opening. Continued favorable weather in the face of predictions to the contrary and rather disappointing cables from some selling at the start, and initial sales on December were unchanged to ⅛c lower at 76⅝@76¾c. Outside markets were all higher, however, and covering soon resulted in wrestling a better sentiment here. Minneapolis reported heavy sales of flour there yesterday and an excellent demand for cash wheat, and in consequence the December market declined decided strength. Cash demand here was also good, and this helped to give strength to the speculative trading. New York reported the December option on account of the extinction of contract stocks, and prices at St. Louis showed big gains. All these influences were factors in causing a better demand here, and there was a good demand throughout the day. Primary receipts were 1,336,800 bushels, against 1,-168,700 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 784 cars, which, with total receipts of 140 cars—none of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 924 cars, against 1,070 cars last week and 1,452 cars a year ago.

Corn had to contend with weather conditions which were most favorable for drying out and curing the new crop, and this feature produced more or less bearish feeling. Trading was only moderate, with a good deal of evening up going on. Local receipts were 205 cars, with nine of contract grade.

Oats ruled steady on a fair demand from commission houses and shorts. There was some selling by longs at the start, which caused a little easier feeling, but prices soon responded to the demand from locals, and closing prices were at about last night's figures. Local receipts were 139 cars.

Provisions were firm, with a good deal of covering by local shorts in evidence. Buying of lard credited to packers was the feature. Large shipments of hog products with firm prices at the yards were strengthening influences. January pork closed 5c higher at $11 67½. January lard was 2½c higher at $6 55, while ribs were up 5c at $6 20@6 22½.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 140 cars; corn, 290 cars; oats, 186 cars; hogs, 35,000 head.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Operators in the Lower Southwest fields made no startling discoveries during the past week. About the usual number of wells were drilled into the sand, except in the districts in which there is a scarcity of water. In the deep sand territory in Wetzel and Harrison counties, W. Va., and in some parts of Southeastern Ohio scores of wells have had to shut down on that account. The trouble is to be very much deplored at this time, since in other respects the weather has been most favorable all through the fall months for very active work in the fields. Operators have been exceedingly anxious to complete all the work possible before the cold weather set in or the bottom had fallen out of the West Virginia roads.

The present market price for crude, with the prospect of its going higher, is another incentive for operators to make an extra effort to increase their production at this time. The falling off in production of the old wells in the winter months is very marked, so that a slump in production all along the line can be expected as a certainty.

The market remained stationary during the week, and this caused some surprise and disappointment, for the reason that the statistical and field conditions have been more favorable for an additional advance than for some weeks. The predicted $2 market before the first of the year will scarcely materialize unless that upward movement begins soon. Each succeeding month emphasizes the inability of the fields producing this grade oil to meet the demand, and it is only natural that producers should expect a continued appreciation in value so long as these conditions prevail, and the price has not been advanced to a point that will make the use of the better grade prohibitive with the masses. That it has not yet reached the limit is evidenced by the continued demand.

In the entire region operators are trying to increase their production. This is not only true of the territory under development, but in all of the older fields. Trading was quiet, and closing prices were at about last night's figures. Local receipts were 139 cars.

In the Ohio side there is very great activity in the old Cambridge district, in the old Fairview district, in Marion county, the Fisher Oil Company completed its second test on the G. M. Toothman farm and secured a 100-barrel producer in the 3d sand. The well produced 90 barrels the first 12 hours after it was drilled in, so that the estimate of its calibre as a producer can be considered conservative. A producer in this development has more merit than in any other section in the Lower Southwest. In none of the deep or shallow sand districts are the wells possess equal lasting qualities of these in Sandusy.

In the Gordon sand districts ordinary wells were the rule during the week. Over in the Salem district, in Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company completed its second test on the W. A. Rogers farm and got a producer that had an initial production of 300 barrels. Recently the South Penn has been getting some very fair wells in this locality and some have fallen to the duster list or with the very light pumpers.

On Morris run, Wetzel county, in the vicinity of the Showalter gusher, operators have got a jolt that will be remembered for some time. After the Showalter farm well came in at gusher speed, it was thought the surrounding territory would certainly furnish many more good producers. Such has not been the case. Test wells have been completed in every direction from the initial producer and all, with one exception, have come in dusters or so small as to never be able to pay back the money invested. Up to the present time this pool has called for an investment, in bonus money and drilling expenses, of not less than $125,000. Had operators not taken the hint, when dusters began to come in, and abandoned wells that had been started, the loss would have reached twice the amount named.

In the Ohio shallow oil district there is the usual activity, but the wells are all small except in the new extension near Wick, Tyler county, where some Big Injun sand producers have been found recently. A few of the wells in this development have started at better than 100 barrels a day.

In the entire region operators are trying to increase their production. This is not only true of the territory under development, but in all of the older fields. Trading was quiet, and is still the most promising, but there is not a single operating company, large or small, that is now able to stay the decline in its production. So rapid is the decline in the production of the old wells that it is not possible to drill new wells fast enough to stay the slump.

The effort to open new producing territory is not meeting with success in any quarter. Operators have not abandoned the search, but there is nothing to indicate that they are any nearer the object of their desires than a year ago. Occasionally a spur has been found to some of the old fields, but as a rule the number of operators who make a profit out of such discoveries is small. In the end the dry hole list is increased.

As a last resort, shooting old and new wells is a feature in all fields. The practice is very general throughout the entire region. In the new fields it makes small producers out of what looked like dry holes when first drilled into the sand, and would have been abandoned under other conditions. Shooting is left undone to make a well produce if it has a showing of oil when completed. In the old fields, where there is no room for new wells, the shooters' services are in demand. Hundreds of old holes are being shot and cleaned out. In some localities, wells that have been abandoned are having the plugs drilled out and the old derricks patched up and are to be given another chance. Some of these were small producers when they were dismantled, but the market was such as to no longer make them profitable. It will be recalled that many wells in the McDonald field were pulled out and the holes plugged when they had declined to three or four, and in some instances more, barrels a day.

When the very general efforts in this direction are considered, it is quite probable that should the present production be increased it will be from rejuvenating the old wells rather than from the development of new territory. It is hardly probable that any new fields of any considerable dimensions can be discovered in West Virginia or Southeastern Ohio. All agree that there are no more Mannington, Sistersville or McDonald fields to pile up the stocks and tax the storage capacity to the fullest limit, with thousands of barrels of oil running on the ground, as in the days of the development of the Bradford and McDonald fields. When the last named field was at the zenith of its daily production it exceeded the combined daily average of all fields in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Southeastern Ohio for the month of October by more than 5,000 barrels a day.

Few discoveries were made in the Lower Southwest during the week that could be regarded as important. In Wetzel and Harrison counties many wells past dry in the sand have had to shut down for water. Probably the most important strike of the week was made by the Manufacturers Light & Heat Company when it drilled in its second test on the E. B. Hall farm, near St. Leo, Battello district, Monongalia county. The well produced 100 barrels the first 24 hours after it had been drilled into the top of the sand. In addition to this being a good producer, the location is such as to make it look probable that an extension to the old Campbells Run development, may follow. There is room for a considerable number of wells in that locality and there will be no delay in starting new work. The Manufacturers company has made the location for two more wells on the Hall farm and will start the work as soon as the material can be placed on the ground.

In the Ohio development, in the old Fairview district, in Marion county, the Fisher Oil Company completed its second test on the G. M. Toothman farm and secured a 100-barrel producer in the 3d sand. # PREVENTED ROBBERY IN SOUTH PACIFIC AVENUE

Policeman Edward Hirsch thought he had discovered two thieves, and the residents of South Pacific avenue were startled by five shots that resulted, when the policeman began to fire at two men on a porch in South Pacific avenue near Harriet street. Blowing his whistle Hirsch pursued the men some distance, firing as he went, but the bullets went wild and the men escaped. Hirsch later arrested John Flaherty as a suspicious person. At the hearing before Magistrate Kane yesterday morning he was held over, pending an investigation.

Wheat Crop of France.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The department of agriculture has been advised that the 1903 wheat crop of France, according to an estimate of the French ministry of agriculture, is 365,000,514 bushels, harvested from 16,151,067 acres. These figures represent the largest crop and the smallest area of any crop harvested in France within the last 10 years.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Flour Quotations Weak and Lower—Navy and Lima Beans Decline.

Hay prices have held their own for over a week, and receipts have not been as heavy for several days as they were prior to that time. There is some demand for clover and mixed hay, more than ruled prior to last week, and timothy has been in active request for quite a while. Shelled corn is steady, and full prices are realized for strictly good No. 2 yellow, of which there is but little arriving. Ear corn is easy, dealers preferring to handle shelled as far as possible, and quotations for ear are no more than steady. Oats are firmer than they were at the beginning of the week, and prices are maintained. Millfeed is quiet, but prices remain as they were, with receipts light. Rye is unchanged.

Easier conditions in the wheat market have brought about weaker flour prices, and selling figures are now 10 cents a barrels below those prevailing a week ago. Mills are catching up with their orders to some extent, although there is yet not as much flour here as is needed. Coffee remains firm as quoted, roasted selling freely, with demand strong and active. Refined sugar is unchanged, and sales are on the same basis as ruled last week. Raw sugar has been somewhat weaker, and refiners are only offering to buy at figures lower than those ruling which have been ruling.

Cereal foods show no change from quotations prevailing at the close of the week, and the demand is hardly up to the average for the season. Navy beans are steadily getting lower in price, quotations showing a decline on Saturday to $2 20 for fancy hand-picked, while imported beans sold as low as $2 10. Marrow beans are out of the market. Red kidneys are unchanged in price. California limas are weak, and quotations have gone off. Canned goods remain as they were, with corn strong, tomatoes weak and other lines steady. Dried fruits are unchanged.

It was a week devoid of features of importance in the produce market, and few changes were made in prices. Potatoes, both Irish and sweet, remain as they have been for several weeks, with the demand steady but not particularly active. Hothouse cucumbers are in better supply, and are lower. Celery is unchanged, with demand fair. Lettuce is in lively request, and prices for hothouse stock have moved forward. String beans hold a strong position, with but few arriving. Cauliflower is unchanged, fancy stock bringing $2 25 a dozen. Tomatoes are scarce, and $1 25 a chip can easily be obtained for any stock that is at all desirable. Brussels sprouts are more plentiful, and prices are easier. Squash sell moderately well, but there is not as much demand as usual at this season of the year. Egg plant has commenced to arrive from the south and sells at $4 50 a hamper.

The movement of apples can hardly be called satisfactory to dealers, for demand is only for immediate wants, the weather having been too warm to put retailers in the notion of laying in winter stores. Cranberries are selling fairly well, but not actively, and prices are slightly easier. Concord grapes are out of the market, and Catawbas are in light supply. California oranges have been coming forward freely, and prices are lower. Tokay grapes are in quick demand, and are much higher. Almeria grapes are coming forward in uncertain condition, and a wide range of prices is necessary to cover all grades.

Butter remained unchanged last Monday, and is just about steady. Eggs have been steadily advancing, and are firm. Cheese is steady, with quotations for New Yorks higher.

Spring chickens are a little firmer at advanced figures, and turkeys are higher.

BLOODED HORSES OUT FOR RIBBONS

Annual Show Opens at Madison Square Garden, New York, Today.

A PRELIMINARY LUNCHEON

Patrick F. Murphy Was the Speaker and Made a Great Hit—Pleasant Comments on Andrew Carnegie and His Philanthrophy Evoke Much Applause.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Nov. 15.

When the bugle blows in Madison Square garden a few minutes after 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and heralds the reign of King Horse, everything will be in spick and span order for the opening of the nineteenth annual show of the National Horse Show Association of America. The great amphitheater will be gorgeous in orange and black, Princeton's triumphant colors, but the colors of the association as well. The ring itself, heavily laid with fresh hemlock tanbark, will be redolent of the odors of the forest.

Many horse veterans of many shows, and the owners of many ribbons, while others have yet to have their mettle tested —they pamies, hunters full of fire, rotund carriage horses and great hackneys—they were as eager as their proud owners today, while they had their least wants looked after in the stables below stairs, to add new honors to their records or to place themselves in the banner class where blue ribbons are the only thing worth having.

But already there has been an unheralded feature of the horse show which will not soon be forgotten. In accord with the usual custom, a luncheon was given today in the garden at 1 o'clock. Only a few who had been taken into the secret knew who were to be the speakers. When Patrick F. Murphy, president of the Mark Cross Company, was introduced, he was unknown personally to almost all who heard his name. He had not been speaking two minutes before all present realized that a new after-dinner orator had come upon the scene, who would hereafter have difficulty in satisfying all the demands which would be made upon his time. So completely did Mr. Murphy arouse the enthusiasm of his hearers that when one man suggested that this would be known in horse show traditions as the year when Murphy spoke, the word was caught up from one to another and all agreed that it was a true expression of the sentiments of all who were at the luncheon.

"When a man can tell a story 6,000 years old and get a hearty laugh he is all right," said one of the many who rushed up to Mr. Murphy to congratulate him upon his address. Mr. Murphy, in fact, was the only person who was not laughing every minute of the speech. He apparently could not have smiled if his very life had been at stake. Even when he characterized Mr. Carnegie as the "star-spangled Scotchman," his face was as cold and severe as if he were pronouncing a funeral sermon.

"Mr. Carnegie," he continued, "is what you might call a humorist in money, giving away great sums to the confusion of all statistics and the despair of all readers of the 'Arabian Nights.' I do not know what we are going to do with the over-education that will result from his labors. He really should take a leaf out of the book of that Boston lady, who used to have separate bookcases for the male and female authors. An Irishman, a countryman of mine, could only explain by supposing that she did not wish to increase her library."

GOVERNMENT AGENTS AFTER STAMP SELLERS

Official Courtesy Traded Upon by Government Employes for Sake of Gain.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The postoffice department is pressing the investigation of published allegations that rare postage stamps have illegally found their way from the department to stamp speculators.

Postoffice Inspector Foanes, formerly director general of posts of Cuba and Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow's chief assistant in the postal investigation, and Inspector Williams are in charge of the stamp investigation. They have not only gone through the records of the department, but have examined a number of persons in the department and in the bureau of engraving and printing, which prints the stamps, and have examined philatelists, including a prominent dealer in this city, with a view to ascertaining the identity of persons who have sold stamps to the dealers in those articles.

It has been the practice of the office for a number of years to distribute among department officials and other prominent persons "specimen" stamps distinctly so marked to prevent their use as postage, as an official courtesy and it is known that a large number of these stamps have found their way into the hands of the dealers. The inspectors are endeavoring to find out who sold them to the dealers. The investigation may be concluded this week.

MANY WOMEN IN PULPITS.

W. C. T. U. Delegates Preach Sermons in Cincinnati and Suburban Churches.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—Over 100 pulpits in Cincinnati and Ohio and Kentucky suburbs were occupied today, morning and evening, by ladies who are delegates, lecturers, organizers and other attendants at the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union. At the same time 30 visiting clergymen of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league occupied other pulpits.

The platform meeting at St. Paul's Methodist church in the morning was addressed by Mrs. Viola D. Romans, Miss Mary C. Brashrd, Dr. Sarah G. Elliott and Mrs. Cornelia Dow, on the work of their respective departments in the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and by Miss Olive Christian Malvery, on temperance work in India. Mrs. Frances W. Graham of New York, national musical director, had charge of the music.

The leading event of the day was at the Ninth Street Baptist church in the afternoon, where the annual sermon was delivered by Mrs. Katherine Lente Stevenson, president of the Massachusetts Woman's Christian Temperance union.

Made an Example of a Drunk.

"This is about the 10th time you have been before me on the same charge, and I am going to make an example of you," said Magistrate Vichestain at yesterday morning's hearing at the South Side police station, as he gave James Crowley of Washington four months to the workhouse.

One Negro Fired Shots at Another.

Edward Gamble, a negro, was held over as a suspicious person by Magistrate James J. Kirby. Inspector S. H. Brooks arrested him early Sunday morning for firing five shots at Samuel Turner, also colored, of Sheffield street.

CARS IN CHICAGO RAN ON SCHEDULE

City Railway Company Scored at Least Temporary Victory Over Strikers.

FEW ARRESTS WERE MADE

With the Exception of Two Incipient Riots No Opposition Was Offered to the Movement of Cars on the Wentworth Avenue Line.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A victory, temporary at least, was scored today by the management of the Chicago city railway against its striking employes. From early in the morning until dark tonight the company succeeded in maintaining a regular service on its Wentworth avenue line which extends from Seventy-ninth street to the downtown district, a distance of eight miles. The first car manned by a newly-hired non-union crew left the car barns, guarded by a dozen policemen, at 8 o'clock and was followed four minutes later by another train.

This schedule was kept up all day and with the exception of two incipient riots at Thirty-first street, in which several arrests were made, no opposition was offered by the former employes of the company or strike sympathizers. Thousands of persons took advantage of it being Sunday, and gathered along the route, which was patrolled by two-thirds of Chicago's police force, but nearly everybody looked on good-naturedly as the cars, some of them half filled with passengers, sped along without meeting any interference. Part of today's success can be attributed to the absence of teams drawing heavy loads in the streets through which the cars had to pass and were used by the teamsters as a means of retarding the progress of the cars during the first three days of the strike.

According to the officials of the company, an attempt will be made tomorrow to operate some of the other lines of the system, if the police department can supply protection. Enough non-union men have been secured, it is said, to extend the service in all directions if police aid is forthcoming, but this, it is claimed, is impossible, as the city has been taxed to the limit to protect the Wentworth avenue line alone. If it is found impossible to open up any of the other lines tomorrow morning, all the efforts of the company will be confined to the Wentworth avenue line and the regular schedule will be inaugurated if possible.

As far as known no further attempt was made today by either the officials of the company, the striking employes or the state board of arbitration to bring about a conciliatory settlement of the trouble, and the indications tonight are for a protracted struggle.

GERMAN STUDENTS ARE PUNISHED FOR DUELING

Judge Decides That Foil as Used in Universities Is Deadly Weapon.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

DRESDEN, Nov. 15.—The students not only of the university of this city, but of all Germany are extensively agitated by the sentence rendered by the local court here whereby two students who had fought a duel with foils were sent to prison for three months. The public prosecutor in his speech to the court insisted that the foil as used by the different students' societies of Germany was a deadly weapon and that the contestants in the duel should be punished accordingly.

This is the first time that an ordinary student's foil has been called a deadly weapon. The lawyer of the defense stated that it was ridiculous to call the weapon deadly, as statistics proved that out of 60,000 duels among students which had taken place in Germany during the last year only two had resulted in death and that for this reason the accused should be acquitted. The judge decided that the foil used was of the same nature as a sword and accordingly should be classified as deadly.

The two students signified their intention of appealing the case and it is not thought that the higher courts will uphold the local court. Should it do so, however, it would probably put an end to the duels between students which have taken place at all German universities for centuries.

MONEY FROM LONDON.

Great American Corporations Paying as High as Seven Per Cent for It.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Many a sovereign and many a "fiver" as well, have been changing hands in the stock exchange the last few days, despite the hard times. The failure of the Bank of England to raise its rate in consequence of the big demand from the United States for gold has been the most interesting feature of the week, and numerous wagers were placed on the probability of the increase, for your city man, whether broker or clerk, not to speak of that embryonic financier, the telephone boy on 'change, seldom misses the chance for a bet, especially when the chances are so even as they were regarded in this case. Some financial authorities say a rise is not averted, but only postponed.

It is asserted that the example of the Great Northern is going to be followed by other American railways. The fact that a loan of £1,500,000 to this leading American railway has been secured by a deposit of scrip of £3,500,000 nominal, caused a bad impression in the market on Friday.

But it is said that several loans of the kind are being negotiated by companies of high standing and rates of interest are being offered ranging as high as 7 per cent.

Will Try to Effect Settlement.

About 500 members of the Iron Molders' union met in Old City hall yesterday and decided that a committee see the executive board this afternoon and endeavor to effect a settlement with the Mesta Machine Company regarding the differences over the alleged discharge and reemployment at lower wages of employes.

WOMEN BEGGARS AMASS FORTUNES

New York Has Barred Them and Their Hand Organs from the Streets.

MANY HAVE SPLENDID HOMES

Well-to-Do Sons and Daughters Unable to Prevent Them from Plying Their Old Trade—Metropolis Has 3,079 Professional Beggars on Its List.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Old women mendicants who sit in dark places and grind out wheezing tunes on hand organs, are no longer permitted to ply their trade in New York. The Charity Organization society took the matter in hand and scores of dilapidated organs were appropriated. It was found that there were many Genoese women, many of whom had amassed small fortunes by long lives of patient street begging, both in this country and in Italy. Without exception, they all had relatives in good circumstances in New York.

One old woman, who for years sat through cold nights within three blocks of Herald square, shivering under a ragged shawl and laboriously turning the crank of a groaning machine box, has a son who is a wealthy importer in New York and lives in a fine house in a fashionable part of the city. The son of another is a captain of a North river ferry boat and has a salary of $150 a month. Another one has two sons who are well-to-do fruit dealers and importers, and still another has sons and a son-in-law who are engaged in business and own their own horses and carriages.

These old women were not denied the comforts of the family home. They preferred to endure stinging hardship up to the very hour of death that they might leave a few thousands of hidden wealth for their Americanized sons and daughters to go hunting for before the undertaker arrived. But they are gone from the streets of New York now and will not return so long as the department of mendicancy continues its vigilance.

Today there are 3,079 professional beggars in New York. The mendicancy department has a detailed record of them and its officers know where each of them is located and what he is doing. There are other classes of migratory outcasts which are regarded as a constant menace to society. Perhaps the worst of these are what is known as the "lone wolves." They are men with all the criminal traits of a "yegg," but of more aristocratic caste, who associate with other beggars only so far as is necessary to save themselves from danger of being put out of the way. They usually operate in smaller cities and frequently have luxurious homes in the larger cities. One of the most troublesome of this class to the New York authorities is a graduate of Ann Arbor university who has been driven out of New York and is now making his headquarters in Boston.

THE PEOPLES CAMPBELL'S STORE

Pattern Sheets For December

Are now ready for FREE distribution.

"Decimate The Dress Goods!"

THAT'S the order issued from the main office. What does "DECIMATE" mean? "Decrease ten per cent." So we have just six days in which to sell one-tenth of nearly $100,000 worth of dress fabrics—almost $2,000 worth a day. These special prices, good for the week, or until the lines designated are closed out, will easily carry out the command.

TOO MANY BLACK GOODS. Lot of room will be needed in the front of the store in December for Christmas goods. So the stock of such goods must be brought down to the lowest limit this month. We find an excess of a few kinds—too many Prunellas, Panamas, Canvas Weaves, Granites, Striped Cheviots, Plain Cheviots, Hopsackings and Zibelines. These $1.25 Black Goods range in width from 46 to 52 inches. They are all pure wool $1.25 goods—Shelf-Clearing price 95c

"YOURS FOR DURABILITY." Lots and lots of wear and a long, long term of service in our 44-inch heavy All-wool Black Cheviots that are 44 inches wide, firmly woven and worth 59c—You can get them for 42c

SATISFACTION IN THESE SUITINGS. Bannockburn and Scotch Suitings in grays, tans and browns, 56 inches wide and pure wool, will be lively leaders this week at our suiting counter. Stylish fabrics as any one could desire and well worth $1.25. We offer them for 98c

WE'RE GLAD TO SHOW YOU THESE GOODS. A magnificent line of satin-finished Broadcloths and Venetians that are very fine in quality and 52 inches wide. The correct shades this season, and well worth $1.25 yard—Our price 95c

$1.00 CHEVIOTS FOR 69c YARD. These heavy All-wool Cheviots measure full 52 inches wide. The colors are navy, royal, seal, golden brown, garnet, red and black. Note the value. Note the price—Only 69c

A Happy Chance

—TO—

Seize Some Silks

IF your brother were a customs official, and a chance were to come your way to get some imported silks by simply paying the duty on them, the advantage would not be much greater than the chance we place within your reach this week. These are AMERICAN SILKS, the remainder of the wholesale stock that came tumbling downstairs a few days ago, evicted by the Christmas stocks—and placed on sale at figures that come very close to the duty on imported fabrics:

COLORED TAFFETAS AT MILL-MAKING COST. With the holidays at hand and the dressmaking season half over an Eastern wholesale house was glad to sell us last week a line of Colored Taffetas for less than the cost of the raw material and the expert labor it took to convert them into finished silks. They are very firm and finely finished 75c silks in good staple colors. We offer them for 59c

HANDSOME SILKS FOR RICH WAISTS. Corded Taffetas, Plaids, Cannele effects predominate in the three lines of $1 and $1.25 fancy Silks in beautiful new styles that become a feature this week at 68c

VELVET CORDS OR CORDUROYS. 27-inch fabrics in a handsome silk finish, much in vogue this season for waists and suits—not the narrowest widths, but full 27 inch textiles. Prevailing prices all over town 75c a yard—Our price 59c

SOFT-FINISHED BLACK TAFFETAS. Lustrous pure black silks that will neither crack nor break in the wearing—splendid 75c quality available this week at 49c

GUARANTEED TAFFETAS OF THE $1 GRADE. 27-inch pure black silks, soft and lustrous, that are superb for linings and waists. The regular $1.00 grade all over town—Our price 69c

LIKE THE CARNEGIE ART EXHIBITION

WHAT a splendid array of charming pictures adorn the west wall of our store! Don't you want to transfer some of them from our walls to your own? Easy to do. Not costly to do.

Pastels, Colortypes, Prints, Photos, Etchings, Posters, Carbons, Water Colors—everything except works in oils.

Landscapes, Hunting Scenes, Groups, Heads, Animals, Game Pieces, Marines—everything that's pleasing and picturesque.

Frames in Gold, Oak, Forest Green and all the combinations, with or without mats. Every imaginable size and shape.

Prices 25c to $12.50.

BIRTH OF A NEW IDEA

We will refill your cough syrup bottle for eight cents. If we furnish the bottle the cost will be two cents more.

WHY should a preparation as simple as a cough syrup—a medicine used in such quantities—a family necessity—be sold in a fancy bottle under a fancy name at a fancy price?

No mystery about a cough syrup—remove the label from the bottles and nine-tenths of them are interchangeable. Almost every druggist puts up his own.

A Baltimore house furnishes the ingredients ready compounded in accord with a famous prescription, and the rest of the process is about as simple as the directions for making Hires' Root Beer—"add water and sugar and stir briskly."

We have arranged with a skillful druggist to make up a standard cough syrup for us in ten-gallon lots. It is agreeable to the taste (almost good enough to eat on pancakes), soothing to an inflamed throat, will do everything that the typical White Pine preparations sold under various names are guaranteed to do, and used in the early stages of a cold, a sore throat or a cough, will effect a speedy cure.

Bring us any Cough Syrup bottle which cost you filled 25c or 21c and we will refill it for you for 8 cents. If we furnish the bottle the price will be 10 cents.

BRIGHTEN YOUR FLOORS FOR THANKSGIVING

Make your home as cheerful as you can for your guests next week—Thursday.

ALL-WOOL INGRAINS ARE WORTH 75 CENTS. You cannot buy the best quality for less money, unless something unusual has happened. Something has occurred—hence we are going to sell some All-wool Ingrains for 60c

SMITH & SANFORD MADE THESE CARPETS. 95c ten-wire Brussels Carpets from the famous mill whose name is a guarantee of their goodness are cut by us this week to 68c

1,000 YARDS OF LOWELL AXMINSTERS.

The pride of the Massachusetts mills are the $1.50 Axminsters whose very name commends them to well posted carpet buyers. 'Tis an event of no ordinary significance when we offer 1,000 yards of these floor-coverings for 98c

1,800 YARDS OF VELVET CARPETS. Every woman is familiar with the richness of the Velvet Carpets and knows that the worsted face velvets are the most serviceable. $1 a yard is a good fair price for these floor-coverings. There's cause for excitement when CAMPBELL'S offers them at 75c

AXMINSTER RUGS IN CARPET SIZES. A few Smith-Axminster Rugs whose dimensions are 8¼x10½—drop the $20 price-mark this week and take a new one which says 12.50

ROYAL WILTON HEARTH RUGS. Measure them — size 36x63 inches. Count them—50 in the pile. Look at the regular price marks—they say $5. Select one this week and pay for at 3.98

INEXPENSIVE WINDOW DRAPERY

DRAPE YOUR WINDOWS FOR LESS THAN A DOLLAR. Take the elevator to the drapery floor and you will find in the lace section a special lot of Fine Lace Curtains in five different patterns. All of them are grades for which stores get in the regular way $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 a pair. We are going to close them out this week, so we make the price 95c

BEDROOM CURTAINS FOR SIDE WINDOWS. For the side and back of the house Ruffled Swiss Curtains answer very well. A special feature that many families will appreciate will be a line of 75c Ruffled Swiss Curtains in three patterns which we offer at, per pair 39c

BOBBINET CURTAINS FOR CHAMBER WINDOWS. For a Lady's boudoir or a front bedroom on the second floor or third floor, Ruffled Bobbinet Curtains with lace edges and lace insertion look very pretty from the outside. We have two patterns which the curtain mills schedule as $1.50 Curtains. These we will let go for, per pair 1.10
